THE COCK CAN TEACH US A LESSON

When a new day dawns the cock announces it with a lusty crow. No lagging, slothful bird, the cock. He calls his mates to awaken and enjoy each new day. The human family can take a lesson from him. We can, if we will, meet each day with a song or shout in our hearts and defy the things which seem a drudgery.

There are aids which give the kind of spirit needed to meet each dawn with a lilt. Attendance at the church of one's liking is such an aid. It assists in putting most people in the right frame of mind and spirit for meeting each day. For one thing, church attendance helps dispel resentments—great drawbacks to meeting the day in the proper spirit. Learn to use the Church as a source for joyful living. It is well worth your trial.

Probe Break-In at Ellsworth Plant

State Police are continuing their investigation of a break-in at the Ellsworth Steel Products Plant in Ellsworth over the weekend in which several hundred dollars worth of tools were stolen.

Plant spokesman Jack Van Loo said police found finger prints around the door to a tool crib which had been broken open. Footprints were found in dust on the floor.

HE SAID it has not been determined how the building itself was entered, but the crib was definitely broken into.

In addition to micrometers and heavy-duty socket wrenches, two complete tool boxes owned by Bernie Ross, an employee, were taken.

Van Loo says the plant has been broken into before, "but this is the first time we've been cleaned out."

On previous entries, losses were insignificant, he said.

PTA Officers to Be Nominated

The slates are to be presented for a vote at the April 6 meeting of the organization. Dr. John H. Young, psychiatrist and director of the Northwestern Michigan Child Guidance Clinic in Traverse City, will be guest speaker at the April 6 meeting in the high school cafeteria.

His topic will be "The Child in a World of Reality" in which he will discuss the emotional problems of children of all ages.

Johnson, a member of the City of Charlevoix, had the tree removed from his property because it was a hazard to the public.

When the tree was removed, it was found that the tree was a hazard to the public because it was leaning over the road.

The senior class of Ellsworth is planning an alumni banquet April 9, to be held in the Ellsworth gym at 7 p.m. Letters of invitation are being sent to graduates of the last eleven years, but other alumni also are invited, for tickets, contact senior class members by calling the school, 10-8-2514, or drop a card to The Alumni Banquet Committee, in care of the Ellsworth Community School.

The past week the girls of Ellsworth Community School have been participating in class tournaments. Wednesday the freshmen played the sophomores, with the sophomores winning by a score of 19 to 14. The sophomores gave the junior girls quite a struggle on Thursday before the junior girls won 18 to 13. In the final game Friday, seniors beat the sophomores, 19 to 9. Gordon Barthson was home.

Ellsworth High School Library is now receiving paperback books. Anyone wishing to donate books suitable for high school reading is welcome to do so.

Bank Remains in Good Hands

The Charlevoix Courier extends a hearty "welcome aboard" to the newest members of our downtown business community--those summer citizens who have purchased controlling interest in the Charlevoix County State Bank.

The Courier announced last week that an offer by Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Walker, Dayton H. Mudd, Woodbury Ransom and Paul Bakewell III to buy Mrs. Marian Bridge's interest in the bank had been accepted.

WITH THE EXCEPTION of Mr. Bakewell, all are well-known members of Charlevoix's summer colony, with the Walkers making their home here the better part of the year.

In announcing the transaction, Mrs. Bridge said she felt the bank ownership should better be vested in persons more actively engaged in banking and community affairs. For sentimental reasons (The Bridge family was active in Charlevoix banking circles for almost 60 years), she is retaining a small stock interest.

MR. WALKER, as spokesman for the new controlling interest, says he and his associates are investing in Charlevoix because of their long interest in the city and their "confidence in its economic future"---words which should be heartening to every Charlevoixian.

Charlevoix will miss the firm but friendly Bridge family leadership at "the bank on the corner."

At the same time we are confident that the new owners are taking over at the dawning of a new era of prosperity for the bank and the people it serves. Never before have the portents been so bright for Charlevoix.

That no changes in operating personnel are contemplated augurs well for an orderly transition in the ownership of this important Charlevoix concern.

Go-Go Dancing Goes to Church

It is only 280 miles from Charlevoix to Detroit over super-highways and well-kept county roads. Yet in the realm of ideas, the two cities apparently are a world apart.

An article in the March 26 Detroit Free Press by Religious Writer Hilley H. Ward reveals that at least one Detroit Church -- The Redeemer United Church of Christ -- is incorporating go-go dancing into its youth program.

UNLESS you are a rank new-comer to Charlevoix, you are well aware by now that the City Council recently refused to recommend an entertainment license for the Hare's Lair, the only local night spot which has featured go-go dancing to date.

The reason given by the Council was that the Lair's physical accommodations are not up to par. Yet it would be folly to assume the Council was not influenced by the Charlevoix Ministerial Association which had vigorously protested approval of such a license -- both by representatives and by letter -- at two Council meetings. The pastors -- none of whom had seen the go-go dancing in person -- complained that such devilment was sure to undermine the morals of the community.

THE GO-GO dancing at Redeemer,

Litterbug War Is Under Way

That time of year is fast approaching when droves of the most noxious pest since the Japanese beetle will swarm over the American countryside -- namely the litterbug.

Justice of the Peace John C. Connolly already has heard his first littering case of the season. The charge was dismissed when complainant Sims Baker was unable to offer proof that beer bottles had been thrown from the car ahead of him on the Ironton Road. The court would have had something to go on had Baker stopped and picked up the bottles as evidence. But that's only one case. There will be others.

BAKER is to be complimented for his community mindedness. It takes a pretty big man to sign a littering complaint, but there are times when all of us are so fed up with the way careless people defile our landscapes that we'd do anything to collar the culprits. We understand exactly how Baker must have felt and hope he continues to have such high regard for the appearance of Charlevoix County and the rest of Michigan.

The State Highway Department, which is presently getting its rights-of-way cleaned up for spring, is painfully aware of the cost of littering.

EACH BOTTLE and can will cost the Highway Department an estimated 34 cents to pick up this spring, compared with 32 cents in 1963. In 1963 the maintenance division of the Highway Department was allotted $446,000 but had to spend $505,562 to police the roads. This year it has been allotted $600,000.

Assistant maintenance operations engineer Sam Cryderman called the winter accumulation of trash appalling.

Heavy snows hide the litter during the winter, making policing impossible. In the spring, extra crews are needed to clean up the accumulation along state highways and 104 roadside parks, 34 freeway rest areas, and 1,800 picnic table sites.

APPROXIMATELY 90 trucks and 300 men will be involved in the beautifying process this year. In 60 counties the work is contracted to county road commissions; in the other 20, state crews do the policing directly.

In any event, it's a heap of money to pay for carelessness.

Photos Stir Warm Memories

Judging from our mailbag, one of the most popular features in the Courier is the series of old pictures which appears regularly on the Editorial Page.

There seems to be an irresistible fascination about the people who settled this area, what they wore, where they shopped, the streets they traveled and what they did for amusement.

Each new set of pictures we run seems to begot more. Ancient photos and tin-types are resurrected from attics and family albums, pictures that can carry the mind back over the years more quickly than the speed of light. That little girl with pigtales looking out from a classroom picture might be the old, gray-haired matron next door.

If you have any pictures at home that tell about the olden days in Charlevoix and the people who lived here, we'd like to see them.

odds n ends

Watch out...March will be departing shortly and, since a good part of the month has been like a lamb, it's regrettable. Watch out! That last storm everyone's been wondering about may be just around the next shift in the wind...

The poor Kiwanians...One day they're beaming because we've had a below-freezing night and the sun has come out bright and beautiful and the saps running like mad... You can just see the figures rolling around in their eyes as they figure up the number of gallons they'll be gal-loring today...And then it rains, and around their appointed appointed rounds they go, this time to empty the rain-filled buckets...All that hard work for naught...It's disheartening to say the least because there's a lot of hard work that goes into this project...

But from news accounts I understand that this has been a bad year every place for this particular project...what with the unseasonable weather and the early spring things just haven't been normal, you admit...

I KNOW THAT most of you have read the accounts of the accident at White Shoals light station, but I wonder if you realized, as you read them, just how serious it might have been...As was mentioned, the water was only a couple degrees above freezing and no one can last long in water that cold...This was one of the first serious accidents the Sundew has had...but in Lake Michigan, which can be mighty treacherous at any time, the potential is always there...It has only been the training these men have had and their conscientiousness that has prevented other serious accidents...There are those who think that life in the Coast Guard is a breeze... Perhaps this will prove that it isn't...

This is just one of their many operations that carries with it dangerous missions... Next time you see one of the small boats from the station or the Sundew, take another look and make an appraisal of the men who fill the ranks in the nation's oldest service... They've been doing this sort of thing since 1790...

Perhaps you've been one of those people who have noticed that something was wrong with the black squirrels down in the park and valley area... The poor things have been losing their fur in chunks, would scratch their heads on anything available, would stop and scratch like mad with their paws... In fact, some people had the idea that they might have a fungus or mange... These same squirrels have been robbing bird feeders put out by Miss Milner's second grade so all the youngsters have seen how "scrammy" they looked... Their teacher, being a conservationist and having great compassion for all animals, decided to do something about it so sent out an S.O.S. to the Conservation Department... Harley Burris of Boyne City answered the call... and very soon diagnosed the difficulty... the squirrels are lousy... He told Miss Milner and her interested charges that there is little that can be done for the animals for their nests are infested with lice... However, he quickly added that the forth coming warm weather would take care of the situation... He didn't seem unduly alarmed about the whole thing and seemed confident that it would soon better itself so apparently he's run into this before... But you can bet that a certain group of second graders know a lot more about wild life than they did before...

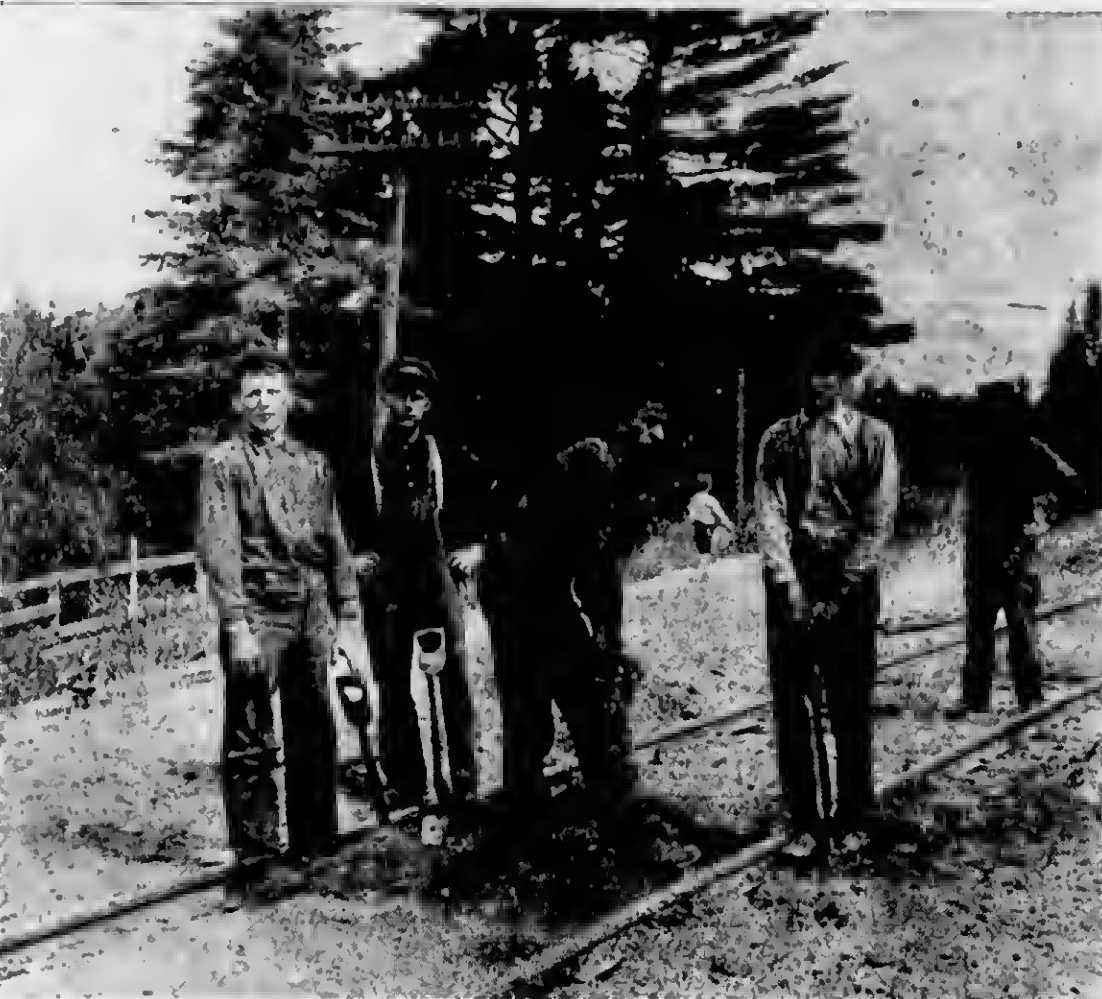

And speaking of Mr. Burris, I'll bet that he gets more calls from Charlevoix than any other place in the county regarding wild life problems... like the whole family of raccoons that moved in out of the cold and took up residence in a local store... The family was captured but a relative who'd apparently missed out on the news came to join them and he ended up being trapped, too...

Before long there'll no doubt be calls about deer, porcupines, and a few other forms of wild life before we get into summer... I didn't mention the smelly ones... they've already been mentioned and smelled around the town...

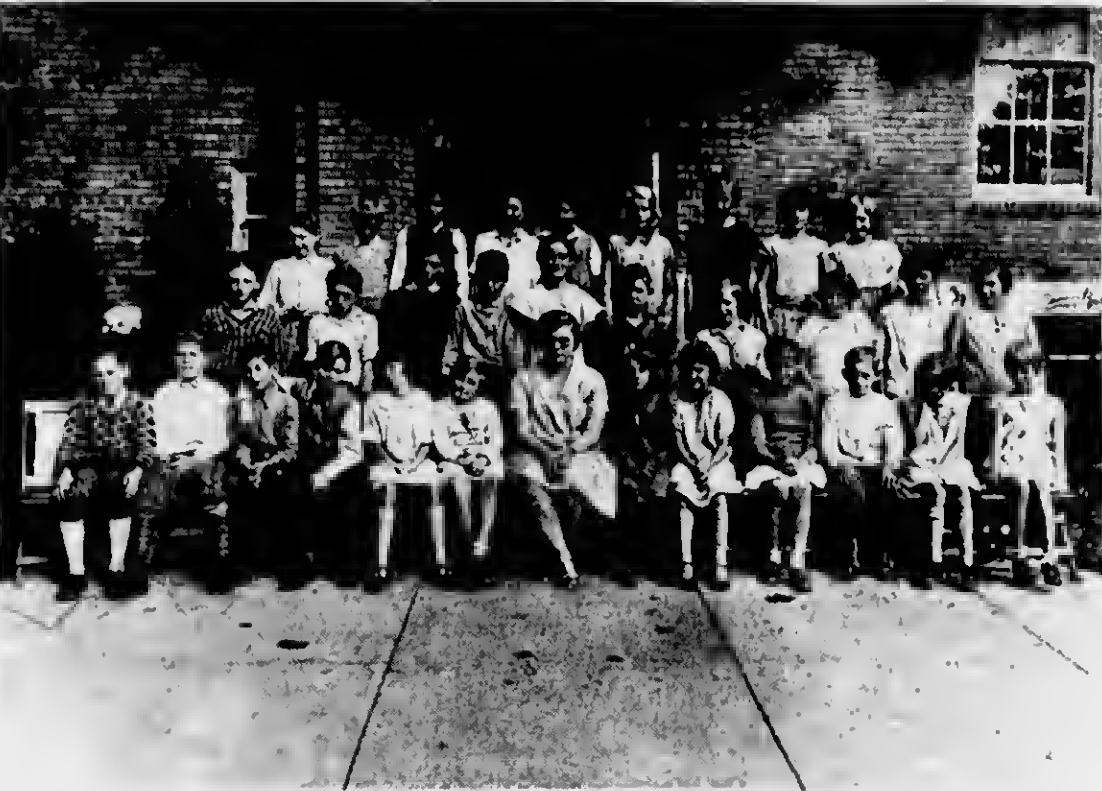

THE QUESTIONS about the streets of Charlevoix and where they got their names brought all kinds of responses... and some mighty interesting stories about the community's early history... Fred Tyler called to say that Upright ave was named for an early resident and that Alice and May for his daughters... and that on the street signs on the corners of Alice and May you see their full names... Ah! Is, if you walk around the street sign...

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor?

It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you... write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone... free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "boil down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous... even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you... taxes, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business... scores of things to write about!

submit to the State Reorganization Committee the plan which they previously rejected, calling for the reorganization of non-high school districts with existing high school districts.

The board also requested that its formal protest be forwarded to the State Reorganization Committee.

THE FIRST plan submitted by the district Reorganization Committee was turned down by the state because it simply assigned non-high school districts to high school districts. The state committee asked instead for a broader reorganization plan which would combine high school districts into larger units capable of offering more comprehensive programs.

The committee has come up with a plan which would consider Emmet County as one high school district, Boyne City, Boyne Falls and the surrounding area as another, Central Lake, Ellsworth and East Jordan as a third and Charlevoix and Ironton as a fourth.

Easter Bunny, Bonnets Rob Holiday of Meaning

By Rev. William H. Harmon, pastor,
Ironton Congregational Church

Easter is at hand. Another religious observance comes before our modern society. Our time is the day of the perverted holiday, the day of the commercialized religious observance. We wonder whether the Easter bunny or the Easter bonnet are more a part of modern Easter than the Risen Lord. Just as Christ has been driven out of Christmas, so the money changers have driven Christ out of Easter.

There are many filled churches on Easter, and the minister looks over the usual group of once-a-year attenders and tries to tell himself that they are sincere in their attendance, that they really believe the Easter message, that they really have a feeling of worship and of personal awe at the miracle of the first Easter morning. He usually convinces himself that they are really there for religious purpose and that they are sincere in that purpose.

But then ministers are usually idealists, inclined to give the worshipper the benefit of the doubt. He looks over the filled church, sees all of the new spring outfits, and tries to compete for the attention of the once-a-year attenders who are looking to see if all of last year's attendance is present this year, and how they are dressed.

How different from the first Easter. A few dedicated people gathered around the opened Sepulchre, carried to transports of joy by news that Christ has risen. A few disciples scorned punishment and death for a chance to be near Him. A handful of friends and followers seeking to be of further service. No flowers. No new spring clothes. No question as to what Jane is wearing. Only: "Come, see where the Lord lay."

No big Easter dinner, complete with ham and all of the things that were laid aside for Lent. Only the realization that he is risen. This was enough to still any pangs of hunger, enough to make a disciple forget food or raiment. He is risen! This is the message that Easter was meant to bring.

Today we are proud of our nominal participation in such things as Good Friday services, Easter services, Christmas Eve services. We get a great deal of vicarious satisfaction from the religious efforts of the regular church attenders. Most people have a favorite church to mention when people are talking about churches. Most people have a favorite church to which they attribute income tax contributions. They can be virtuously interested in having all places of business close from 1 until 3 p.m., Good Friday, especially if they will get paid for working those hours, and if their employer gives them the entire afternoon free, with pay. We suspect that if all of them were to attend Good Friday services in the allotted time, there would not be enough room in all of the churches in the community to accommodate them.

None of these things enhance the true meaning of Easter. He is risen! This is the true meaning and the only true reason for the Easter observance. The test of the Christian is not whether he attended Easter services, but whether he put his own comfort and pleasure aside to attend all of the services of his church during the year. He is not tested by seeming to participate, but by truly believing.

We need to look inward at this season. Are we believers or imitators? Is Jesus more important than new clothes? He said to his followers: Take no thought of what you will eat or wear—all of the great beauties of creation are beautiful without artificial adornment. The bird's bright plumage, the color of the flower or of the sky. Man can imitate these, but he can never have naturally for his own adornment.

Jesus had a way of refuting personal vanity among those to whom He preached. He told of a publican, ridiculed by a Pharisee, who humbly acknowledged that he was unworthy, and of God's searching insight into the souls of those to whom material things were more important than God. He told of those who seemed to worship and who observed all of the complex diet laws, but were filthy inside. He compared them to a dish that had been washed on the outside, but was still inwardly dirty. Does a new suit, a new dress, an appearance at the neglected church of your choice on Easter make a Christian life? He is risen—from death at the hands of those who might answer "Yes" to this question.

Shall we make Good Friday and Easter holy days instead of mere holidays? Your answer may abide throughout Eternity.

Suicide Is Ruled in Death of Medusa Worker's Wife

Charlevoix County Coroner James Stuckus at Boyne City has ruled that Mrs. Leona C. Hayes died by self-inflicted strangulation at the home she and her husband occupied at 209½ West Upright in Charlevoix sometime Sunday morning.

Mrs. Hayes was found dead in the bedroom of the home shortly after 4 a.m. Her husband, Alfred J., who works for H. K. Ferguson at the Medusa site, told police he found his wife some hours earlier on the bathroom floor with a clothesline wound loosely about her neck.

HE SAID he removed the rope and put her to bed, thinking she had suffered an epileptic fit. Later, when she hadn't moved, he applied hot compresses and tried to administer medicine for epilepsy.

Finally he notified the Peter Gallaghers, from whom he rents the house, who called Dr. Robert Martin. Martin said the woman appeared to have been dead about two hours and the police and coroner were contacted.

A four-year-old grandson of the Hayes was staying with the couple at the time. Hayes took the boy to the Gallaghers when he went to telephone for help, according to Police Chief Joe Smith.

Hayes told police he had been drinking most of the afternoon and his wife had made a couple of visits to a downtown tavern to ask him to come home. He finally returned to the house about 9 p.m., and she fixed dinner for him.

Hayes apparently fell asleep at the kitchen table and said he was awakened some time later by his wife calling for help. He said he looked for her in the bedroom and outside before he found her slumped face down on the bathroom floor of the tiny dwelling.

THE ROPE was tangled around her neck and attached to a hook in the door frame. The hook had been bent downward.

Mrs. Hayes had been under a doctor's care for epilepsy since moving to Charlevoix.

Snow Storm Grooms April

Charlevoixans were surprised by more than three inches of snow the morning of April Fool's Day. The moist ground cover melted rapidly as the day warmed up.

Weatherman Harry Ladd says total precipitation for the week ending Monday amounted to 3.6 inches, included in .21 of an inch precipitation.

Low temperature for the week was 16 degrees, with a high for the week of 41 recorded the same day.

March precipitation measured 2.56 inches, including 7.2 inches of snow, Ladd said.

Lunch Tickets Higher

Hot lunch meal tickets at Charlevoix Elementary School and High School will cost 10 cents a week more beginning April 13, according to Superintendent Rex Milligan.

St. Marys Catholic School also will increase daily lunch prices 5 cents, effective April 12.

At the Elementary School, hot lunch tickets will cost $1.30 instead of $1.20 and lunch tickets at the high school will cost $1.55 instead of $1.45. The cost of individual lunches remains 30 cents at the elementary school and 35 cents at the high school.

AT ST. MARYS, lunch tickets will cost $1.75 for first through sixth graders and $1.80 for seventh and eighth graders. Single lunch tickets for the lower grades will cost 35 cents and upper grade tickets 40 cents.

Milligan says the increases are necessitated by a decrease in the amount of federal surplus food available, and reduced reimbursement from the federal government for the lunch program.

He added that the school lunch program lost $300 a month in February and March.

Hotel Site Is Sought

A teenage night club, similar to the Pony Tail at Harbor Springs, has been proposed for the basement of the former Holiday Beach Hotel at the foot of W. Dixon Avenue.

Alderman William Fochman said he had received a request from Edward F. Andrews of Grosse Pointe and David A. Leone of St. Clair Shores for permission to reopen the former Hare's Lair as a night spot for the younger set.

Andrews and Leone say they presently have two similar clubs, called The Hide Out, operating in the Detroit area. They presumably have permission from developer Henry Hogan to lease the property.

THEY PROPOSE to charge $1 admission and limit patronage to the 16 to 19 age group. The youngsters would dance to live music and sip soft drinks from 8 p.m. until midnight. Patrons would have to show a driver's license or a birth certificate to get in, and order would be maintained by three police deputies paid by the club.

SOME DOUBT was expressed by aldermen over having the club located in the same building as "The Deck," which Hogan has said he plans to open this summer. The Deck would serve beer and other alcoholic beverages.

The ill-starred Hare's Lair has been closed for two months, ever since the state informed management that the club would need an entertainment license to feature go-go girls. The City Council, however, failed to endorse such a license.

In asking permission for the teenage establishment, Andrews and Leone expressly stated that there would be no go-go type dancing. Council lobbied the petition until more information is available.

In other business, the Council agreed to build lavatories at Depot Beach and the Ball

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

I finally have met someone who doesn't like Charlevoix. It happened quite unexpectedly at one of the local distros the other night. All of a sudden there was this woman standing at my elbow.

"So you're Bob Clock," she said.
"Clock?" I corrected her.
"Well, whoever you are, I just wanted to tell you that I hate Charlevoix."

Well, there it was. I shook my head and cleaned out my ears with my little finger, hoping I hadn't heard what I thought I heard.

"Right? Not again?" I said, swinging around and facing my interlocutor.
"You heard me, I hate Charlevoix," she repeated.

I hadn't been mistaken. Here was someone who not only didn't like Charlevoix but also didn't like me.

"And I'm not the only one. There are lots of us," she continued. And every time we turn around we see those silly signs, "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

"Well, it is sort of pretty," I said lamely, gathering my defenses.
"Why did you move to Charlevoix?" she challenged.

"Well, there's the fresh air and water," I started. "And who can live on fresh air and water. I'd like to know," she persisted. "Now let me tell you what I like. I come from Detroit and I like shopping centers, and super markets and lots of people around me."

"Everybody has a right to his own," she interrupted. "I don't like paying twice as much for everything just because I live in Charlevoix."

I tried to protest that our off-season prices are no higher than elsewhere in the state, allowing for transportation costs, but she would have none of it. She was thoroughly down on Charlevoix, and that was that.

IN A SENSE, we're lucky to have people like my new friend in town. It sort of helps keep our feet on the ground. I think most Charlevoixians myself included, are sort of smug about our city. We know we've got a good thing and tend to pity everyone who doesn't live here.

I myself have quite a flirtation going with Round Lake. I give her the eye a dozen times a day, she never yet has failed to wink back. I also have a warm spot for the high hills around the lake, the picturesque houses on Huron Street and the marinas and fish houses down below. I'm even learning to like seagulls.

It never ceases to amaze how sharply defined and sparkling the boats and buildings on Round Lake appear early in the morning. I wonder how many lakes in the world can compare? Lake Placid? Lake Geneva? Lake Como? Lake Tahoe? Possibly. But there aren't many.

THEN THERE'S Pine River Channel and the draw-bridge and the high turreted Weather-vane Inn on the bank. From the deck of an inbound boat, it's probably the most inviting scene on the Great Lakes.

But fortunately we all aren't cut from the same bolt. There are still some among us who recognize there are more exciting surroundings than wooded hills, blue waters, attractive buildings and heart-stopping vistas of open water and seagulls in flight. We're just lucky to have them around to keep us in touch with elbowing humanity.

All Rover will want in the future is a bone to chew... but Junior will want much more: a car, education, a family of his own. But all these things cost money! The sooner he knows the value of a Savings Account, the closer he will be to achieving those goals.

Right now is the time for him to establish the savings habit! Start him off a step ahead in life... open his account with us to help him towards the financial security needed later in life. Regular savings is the surest way... Come on in and talk about it!

The contest took place up in Frank O'Donnell field and the object was to fly their kites the highest and longest. Leonard Ken-wabakisee won first prize with his homemade kite. The first prize was a giant piazza donated and made by Jack Martin. Second prize went to Jimmy Wojan, third prize to Mary Gillespie and fourth prize to Kevin McDonough. Ernie Martin and Billy Gillespie the Senior class for '66 attended Government Day

How much hot water did you use today?

25 gallons
10 gallons
10 gallons

Now you can see why it pays you to have a Gas water heater.

The average family of four uses up to 100 gallons of hot water daily. And it costs far less to heat it with gas. You only need a heater half as big, because gas heats water faster, replaces the hot water you use quicker. How come? The heat is a direct flame. An electric unit takes longer. The heat must go through a coil.

And remember, when you already have gas in your home, a gas water heater costs less to install than an electric one. See the newest, money-saving gas water heaters at dealers, plumber or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms.

Merger Vote Slated

The Norfolk and Western and Chesapeake and Ohio railroads, proposed merger partners, have put in the mail to their shareholders notices of separate annual meetings to be held May 12 at which the merger plan will be voted on.

Charlevoix is served by the C&O railroad.

The N&W shareholders will meet at 10 a.m. at the Hotel Roanoke in the N&W headquarters city of Roanoke, Va. The C&O shareholders will gather at 1:30 p.m. in Cleveland at the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel.

THE MERGER, which would create a railroad system of 26,400 miles, must be approved by holders of more than two-thirds of the common stock of each railroad. The N&W has 63,000 shareholders and the C&O has 107,000. Approval must also be obtained from the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the N&W and C&O on October 11 asked the ICC for authority to merge.

THE C&O letter, signed by Chief Executive Officer after J. T. Lundy and President Gregory S. DeVine, notes that the merger "has already been recommended to you by your board of directors."

In addition to voting on the merger, N&W shareholders will elect four directors for a term of three years. C&O shareholders will elect ten directors.

Jerry Hensley Takes Part in Viet Landing

Season Apprentice Jerry P. Hensley, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hensley of 118 Belvedere Ave., Charlevoix, participated in Operation "Double Eagle", the largest amphibious landing to date in Vietnam.

The assault landing of a large U.S. Marine force near Thanh Tri, 30 miles south of Chu Lai, began when a 13-ship Naval Task Force steamed into the objective area in the pre-dawn hours of Jan. 28.

EIGHT WAVES of assault troops were landed on the beaches, while warships patrolled offshore to provide naval gunfire support. The Marines were virtually unopposed, and received only light small arms fire.

Late in the afternoon of Jan. 29, more Marines were landed by helicopter four miles inland from the beachhead. These forces reported seeing about 200 enemy fleeing the area on foot.

Lorelei Gigg Wins Top FHA Degree

Miss Lorelei Gigg, local Charlevoix High School senior, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jock Gigg, has been notified that she will be awarded the State Homemakers Degree, the highest award given by the American Association of the Future Homemakers of America, at the State Convention of the FHA to be held in the Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids, April 22, 1966.

Lorelei has spent the past 12 months, fulfilling the requirements and her work was adjudged "the top" out of thirty-five entries, as judged by the State Degrees Committee.

TO WIN THE AWARD Lorelei planned, purchased and prepared her family's meals for six months, completely remodelled her room, undertook a strenuous physical fitness program, planned and directed her family's Christmas activities, had complete charge of an infant for the summer months, was Regional FHA Chairman, and directed and planned the Regional meeting in Petoskey, did thorough research on possible college choices for her future college education, wrote a newspaper article about FHA for the Charlevoix Courier and spoke to the Kiwanis on the local homemaking program. Lorelei has been active in the local FHA Chapter since her freshman year. She has been Chairman, Vice-Chairman, and is presently Reporter.

Lorelei will be accompanied to the State Convention by Miss Ellen Cunningham, local FHA Chairman, and by Mrs. C. A. Odmark, local advisor. Her parents plan to attend the presentation of the State Degree.

Hawley Plays in Ferris Fete

Tom Hawley, son of Mayor and Mrs. E. D. Hawley of Charlevoix, was one of 221 Ferris State College students from 129 Michigan communities who participated in the Eighth Annual Festival of Arts held at Ferris State College recently.

Hawley played cornet as a member of the Ferris State College Concert Band.

$2 Fee Sought at State Parks

A proposal to raise the $1.50 daily camping fee at state parks in Michigan will come up for consideration during the Conservation Commission's April 7-8 meeting in Lansing.

The Conservation Department's recommendation, pegged to meeting higher operating costs, calls for charging a flat $2 daily fee at all modern - equipped campgrounds which are completely serviced with electricity.

Included in this suggested fee is the standard 25-cent charge for electricity which would be made regardless of whether this additional service were used.

At campgrounds having modern facilities but lacking 100 percent electrical service, the new recommended camping fee is $1.75 per day. The daily charge of 25 cents for electricity would be added at these campgrounds only if the service were used.

The current $1.50 daily camping fee and 25-cent electrical charge would remain unchanged for campgrounds having no modern facilities such as toilet - shower buildings and improved lots.

Boat Fees Due

Pleasure boat owners are reminded by Charlevoix County Sheriff Glenn Rose that they must re-register their crafts before using them this season.

Rose said marine deputies of the Sheriff's Water Patrol will strictly enforce the registration throughout the state this year.

Michigan law requires that all motor - powered pleasure boats must be registered every three years for a $3 fee. Prior registrations expired Dec. 31.

Rose said in cases of ownership transfer, a $1 fee is required with 15 days of the time of purchase of the boat. In addition, boats 16 feet or longer used on the Great Lakes or connecting waters require special plates at an additional fee dependent upon the size of the boat.

"The boat registration law is something many of our boaters procrastinate on until the last minute when they're ready to put their boats in the water," Rose said. He urged boaters not to wait until the first balmy weather brings on an epidemic of "boating fever."

Secretary of State branch offices are handling the registration. Owners will be issued yellow decals which are to be affixed to the bow of their boats. Serial numbers or tag inally assigned to their boats remain valid.

New Michigan registrations are required of non-residents who do not have their boats registered in other states under federally approved numbering systems. They are also needed by non-residents who use motorboats on Michigan waters for more than 90 consecutive days.

Lock Size Told

The Corps of Engineers has announced that the maximum dimensions of vessels permitted to use the new second lock at Sault Ste. Marie are 1,000 feet in length, including steering poles or other projections, and 100 feet amidships, including fendering.

The Flowers Of Good Will Blossom Abundantly About The Altar And Household

The inspiration of the Easter season is always ennobling, stirring us to good deeds and truly brotherly relationships with our fellow men. There is a pervading joy that accompanies its observance, found in no other such anniversary celebration, for Easter is a victory day such as no other. The first represented Christ's triumph over mankind's two worst enemies—sin and fear of death.

Easter Sunday, and in fact each succeeding Sunday of the year, commemorates that great victory which each of us may share as our own. By joining with our families, neighbors and friends in church this Easter to express the prayer in our hearts, and by regular attendance throughout the year, we can make of this anniversary a present day triumph for ourselves.

WHETHER or not he owns a genuine Stradivarius violin doesn't pose much of a problem for Patrick Bonner. His main concern is keeping his fiddle in tune for country dances on Beaver Island.

City of Charlevoix --NOTICE-- BUDGET HEARING

The City of Charlevoix will hold a public hearing previous to the adoption of their 66-67 Budget, on May 2, 1966 at 8:00 p.m., E.S.T., in the Council Chambers, in the City Hall, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan. Copies of same may be obtained at the City Superintendent's Office, City Hall.

Do Islanders Step to Genuine Strad?

Patrick Bonner of Beaver Island isn't sure whether he has a genuine Stradivarius violin or not. He does know that his fiddle sounds pretty good when he picks up his bow and starts an old time dance tune.

The Latin label inside the instrument includes the word "Stradivarius" and the year "1713." And the worn wood casing certainly indicates the violin has been around a long while. Bonner, 83, has owned it more than 40 years himself.

THE MASTER Italian violin maker, Antonio Stradivari, lived from 1644 to 1737. The date on Bonner's violin places it well within Stradivari's lifetime.

A pupil of Nicholas Amati, Stradivari began making violins on his own in 1666. The years 1700 to about 1725 are generally regarded as his "grand period," when he turned out instruments of unrivaled form and beauty of workmanship.

Only violins made later by Giuseppe Guarneri rival

Stradivari's in tone-producing quality.

WHETHER or not it's a Stradivarius, few violins have received the tender, loving care Bonner's fiddle has received over the years.

Old timers on the island will tell you that no party really starts until Bonner arrives with his violin and the dancing gets under way.

The Bonners, who have been spending the winter in Charlevoix, plan to spend Easter in Kalamazoo before returning to their island home for the summer.

CHARLES Powers Payton, 17, of Central Lake received a ticket for improperly parking a car from city police when his car, parked facing the Kingburger stand at Oleson's (1) Rolled away from the curb; (2) Turned around in the parking lot; (3) Continued forward knocking down two signs; (4) Crossed Antrim Street and jumped the curb; (5) Narrowly missed a fire hydrant and utility pole; and (6) Smashed the plate glass window of the Liquor Control Commission outlet.

Parents Make the Band

Of all the civic groups in town, the Band Parents is one of the most unusual. Membership does not depend on any community of interests with other members. Participants come from all walks of life, represent both sexes, follow a variety of professions and subscribe to any number of different religious faiths.

Their one common bond is that they have a child in either the Charlevoix High School Band or the Reserve Band.

IN THE PAST this mutual interest has proved strong enough to provide a broad base of support for our bands. This is important because the school budget alone cannot provide the funds which would allow our bands to participate in distant music festivals, keep uniforms in good repair and repair worn out instruments.

A spiffy high school band can do just as much for the morale of a town than just about anything we can think of. And our band is a good advertisement for Charlevoix when it travels to Midland, Flint, or even Boyne City to take part in band activities.

Getting down to specifics, this year alone the Band Parents have raised funds to:

1. Replace worn out band uniforms.
2. Provide lodging for the band at the State Festival in Flint.
3. Provide transportation for the solo ensemble to Midland.

4. Provide two scholarships --- one in the Reserve Band and one in the Senior Band -- at Interlochen National Music Camp.

5. Buy majorette uniforms.

6. Buy new instruments as needed and provide funds to repair others.

All of these activities are financed through only three fund raising projects: two band dinners, one in the fall and another at mid-year, and an annual spring candy sale.

UNFORTUNATELY, interest in this important community activity seems to be flagging. At the last meeting March 30 only five members showed up, along with President George Hutchinson -- hardly a quorum considering the dozens of students in each band. Yet the burden of organizing the candy sale and arranging for housing for the state festival fell on these six people alone.

If you are a Band Parent -- and simply having a child in either band makes you one -- look closely at your schedule and see if there's not time to give band activities the attention they deserve. Charlevoix's bands are among the best in northern Michigan, judging from the high ratings both individuals and groups have received in competition this year. But continued support and leadership from parents is imperative if our bandsmen are to continue to come home with blue ribbons. With your help, Charlevoix can have a pair of bands that even Harold Hill would be proud to claim.

Congratulations to The Winners

The Courier extends best wishes to those candidates for city and county offices who were elected in Monday's balloting.

By and large, the election was anticlimactic, since most of the candidates were running without opposition. We knew several weeks ago that William Foehman was to be our next mayor, Jack Mol would represent the First Ward and Jerry Whitley the Third Ward.

Likewise it was no secret that Kit Carson, Harold Totten and Lee Moerland would be re-elected supervisors, or that Annabelle Cunningham and Hugh Mayne would be returned to office as city treasurer and clerk respectively.

THE ONLY CONTEST was in the Second Ward where Republican Nathan Boss defeated Democrat John Martin for the Council seat vacated by Dr. Walter Hoffmann.

As alderman, Boss will bring a variety of talents and interests to the Council table. A native of Charlevoix, he was graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1952 and presently is a lineman for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

A devout churchman, he is a deacon in the Community Reformed Church. He also is active in the labor movement, not only belonging to the Communication Workers of America but also serving as its local steward.

Before the election, Boss vowed to do his best "to see the city progresses in every way possible."

It is a good pledge. We hope it will be shared by all the candidates throughout their terms of office.

"I caught one this big but he got away!"

odds ends

You know, I wouldn't be a bit surprised to find that one of these days horses will be found only in zoos...much like other rare animals are...Now horses are something we pretty much take for granted...but how many do you see these days? I was amazed to read the other day that when the 2nd Cavalry Division was reactivated at Fort Riley, Kans., at the beginning of World War II there were as many as 6,000 at the post...Today there's only one government cavalry horse remaining, Chief, who, at 34, wanders alone at Fort Riley...And the number of other horses now serving the military has dwindled to 40...27 of these all blacks and grays, are "stationed" at Fort Myers, Va., and are used only for pulling caissons for military funerals at Arlington cemetery...and occasionally elsewhere...such as when they were taken via van to New York for the funeral of General MacArthur....

Twelve others are near Olney, Md., where they are used to provide serum for vaccine and studies at the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research....

Two mules are kept for "school spirit" at the Military Academy at West Point, N.Y....

Another example of these changing times....

So when you see a work horse in a field, take another look...What with automation, you're not going to be seeing many around...except on a bridge path, and those can hardly be classified as "working" horses....

Though there's still a few snow flakes in the air, baseball fans are counting the days before you hear the cry "Play ball!" from the man in blue behind the plate...you know, the guy who needs glasses, the one you roar at all season....

And baseball has been getting more than its share of space on the sports pages recently...What with the battle the Braves are having in Milwaukee, and a few hold-outs and the stars of last year deserting the playing field for the Klieg lights...Baseball sure ain't what it used to be...when all you had to do was wait for the season to open....

Wanna make a little wager on the outcome of the '66 season?....

How many of you who've joined with the gang in singing the ever popular and lovely "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" know that one of the composers of the song that was written some 55 years ago spends his summer at Bay View...where you often see his name listed on the program as one of the artists....He's F. Dudley Vernor of Detroit...who was a student at Albion College when he and Byron D. Stokes pooled their talents to give us this memorable song....

And what was the song that was written at the pier in Harbor Springs?...Seems to me it was "Three O'Clock in the Morning", though I'm not sure...and the composer was named Angelo something or other....

I've just recently become interested in coin collecting...for years I've watched these people look over every coin they got in change and I've had kids by the dozen go through my piggy bank looking for a certain coin to fill out a collection...Now I've joined the mob...though I'm not a rabid collector...yet....

Because of this new interest, I took a second look at a story about Australia's new coins...As you know they've always had the penny, the shilling, the pound...But they've only recently changed over to the decimal system...only instead of pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and fifty cent pieces they have one penny, two penny, five, 10, 20 and 50 cent coins...But the thing that amazed me most is the fact that they have placed on the face of the coins the pictures of animals peculiar to Australia...How is that for a switch?...Know any place where one can get a set...I can't remember what they're called...someone asked me but I'm not hepped to these things....

May I return to the names of Charlevoix's streets?...Mrs. Florence Zabel called to say that Green street was named for I think she said her grandfather, Major Edward H. Green, a veteran of the Civil War...and one of the community's early attorneys who had an office on Bridge st., where the Palace theatre now stands...and he lived next door (the site of the Cashmere store) in a house that had a picket fence around it...Mason st. was named for another early family that once operated a general store...where you could buy dry goods, shoes, groceries...just about anything....

Grant Furgeson

TIME WAS when Grant Furgeson cut quite a figure on Bridge Street, wearing a bowler hat and spiffy necktie, with a pretty girl at his elbow. That's him in the rig above. The pony, Billie, lived 28 years. The girl? Furgeson can't rightly remember who she was. This picture was taken Labor Day, 1911, looking north on Bridge Street from about where Olson's Shopping Center is today. At the left is 80-year-old Grant Furgeson today. Furgeson has been taking the Courier 60 years, making him our oldest subscriber.

Our Readers Write

Go-Go Dancing Out of Place in Church

Dear Sir,

In reply to your editorial "Go Go Dancing out of Place in Church," may I say, "Church" indeed! Any Christian will realize when they read of this, that the primary purpose in this "Church" is not the goal of Christ's true church, to preach His word, and serve Him with your life.

Now, may we regress to the article which you wrote in a past Clockwise column, regarding your ideas, a married man's by the way, of the "enjoyment" you received from watching the scantily clad Go Go girls in the nightspot downtown. It speaks for itself, rather clearly. Now, you know as well as anyone else, that what these "Church going children" in Detroit are doing, is certainly not the work of the true Church. Perhaps you think this proves a point you are trying to stress, that our ministers in Charlevoix are straight laced men who don't know the world for what it really is. Let me inform you that these dedicated men of God are not as naive as you would lead everyone to believe in the conditions of the world today. As far as this "minister" in Detroit encouraging his youth to rebel, if you have ever been in a true evangelical church, you would know that such a thing is as out of place in teaching God's Word, as a policeman in town telling the youth to go ahead and break the law, it's good for your psyche.

Now, as for Detroit being such an example, we know they have a high crime rate, and that dope pushing and its use is highly prevalent. Perhaps in your mind we should also import some up here for our youth. To may way of thinking, this type of evil would poison their bodies, as the other type will poison their souls. I realize that many will not agree with my point of view, for today, the go thing seems to be to flaunt all rules, and live as you please, regardless of the harm to yourself or anyone else, but please let's not berate the outstanding ministers we have in Charlevoix. Thanks be to God for their loyalty to what is right, and their faithfulness to Him in keeping our churches in Charlevoix true to His Word.

Sincerely,
Marilyn Boss

Suggests Ski Areas Use Snowmobiles

March 31, 1966

To the Editor:

"Unlike most sports, skiing depends upon an unusual combination of terrain, climate and weather--not to mention a host of such man-made appurtenances as tows, lifts--and, in some cases, snow making equipment. Because of its unique geographic advantage, Michigan attracts thousands of thousands of skiers each winter from throughout the Midwest."

This excerpt from the Courier editorial concisely describes the characteristics of the hundreds of profitable ski resorts in America that are based upon the fixed mechanical lifts that enable the skier to travel up hill without effort.

WHILE the requirements of terrain, climate, and weather remain, the development of the snowmobile eliminates the need for fixed mechanical lifts, and has made possible the development of year around resorts consisting of a series scenic trails. Snowmobile operation is so simple that there are many times more potential snowmobile users than skiers. At the same time an adequate snowmobile can pull several skiers across country at a brisk pace and expose people to skiing who would otherwise remain uninterested.

The weight, bulk, and expense of the snowmobile would indicate that their most practical application would be as rental units in resort areas designed for their use. The large number of snowmobile manufacturers in relation to the limited number of units sold should make these units a buyers market. This should enable a pioneer snowmobile resort developer to choose the best of the snowmobiles made and arrange a mutually profitable rental sharing agreement with the manufacturer, thereby eliminating the considerable expense of purchasing the snowmobile units outright.

THE RESORT area to be developed should be large, hilly, scenic, varied, with water frontage, unsuitable for farming, and capable of expansion as needed. The trails should be laid out to take best advantage of the terrain available. It would be used for snowmobiles in the winter and for horse or bicycle riding in warm weather. Local people with riding horses could earn money with the same rental sharing plan that is adopted for the snowmobiles.

A Winter Festival in such a resort setting, including events involving snowmobile rental participants and awarding locally produced products as prizes, such as apple cider or Van Haver's arts and crafts, should be attractive to tourists.

IF LOCAL teenagers and older people are bored and lack projects to challenge their interests and energies, involvement with the development of such a community resort area would be a worthwhile enterprise. One major reason for the school dropout problem is that some students feel that academic life is divorced from community life. If academic interests were increasingly integrated with community projects from the ninth grade through high school graduation the dropout problem would probably be greatly reduced. Waiting until a scholar is a University postgraduate before using his talents, or assuming that only good scholars are useful citizens is nonsense, and a waste of human resources.

While publicity for such a project is necessary, premature disclosure of plans could result in undesirable competition from similar projects in other communities, if the idea has merit.

Dean Davenport New Cage Coach

Iowa Wesleyan cage-coaches will have a new Coach when Dean Davenport, 31, from San Fernando Valley State College in Northridge, Calif., takes over the college's head basketball coaching position this fall.

A native of Charlevoix, Davenport has spent the last eleven summers as recreation director for the city of Charlevoix, developing one of the largest boys' baseball programs in Michigan.

DAVENPORT, whose appointment was announced today by IWC acting president Dr. Howard W. Johnston, has coached top-notch squads for three years at San Fernando—molding one freshman team to its best season in the school's history. Having served as both head coach and assistant varsity basketball coach, Davenport is well-suited to fill the shoes of outgoing Wesleyan cage coach Mike Sarkesian. Sarkesian has guided the IWC Tigers to two consecutive winning seasons, taking second in the Iowa Conference and the NAIA District 15 in 1965 and leading this year's independent squad to the NAIA District playoffs once more.

A 1957 GRADUATE of Central Michigan University, Davenport lettered on the school's varsity basketball squad three years as a guard. He played on the baseball team and served as intramural sports director one

THE PROJECT will involve running city water out to the ball park on Carpenter Street, at an estimated cost of about $5,000.

City Superintendent James Taylor feels that having water along Carpenter will encourage development in that direction.

The council also agreed to turn over development of cable television in Charlevoix to the Lake Charlevoix Cable TV Co., a new company owned by Gilbert Clark and George Baldwin, formerly of Escanaba.

The work formerly had been let to Great Lakes Cable TV Co. which was owned exclusively by Clark.

Clark said the new company was being set up to investigate bringing cable TV to all communities around Lake Charlevoix.

Bids for a street sweeper were turned over to the street department committee for study, with the power to act.

The Council agreed to spend $2,622 to install a new sprinkling system on the south half of the municipal golf course.

Aldermen also received for study a copy of the proposed 1966-67 budget.

The general fund segment predicts revenues and expenses $262,629.00. The electrical budget is $391,105.00 the water budget $54,700.00 and the sewage budget $21,050.00.

RETIRING Charlevoix County Sheriff Glenn Rose strikes informal pose in the office he will be vacating May 31.

Rose to Step Down as Sheriff May 31

Charlevoix County Sheriff Glenn Rose has tendered his resignation to the County Board of Supervisors, effective May 31.

Rose's wife, Ida, plans to retire as prison matron at the same time.

IN A LETTER of resignation, which was read to the Board of Supervisors Tuesday, Rose cited poor health their reason for stepping down.

"It's nothing serious," he told the Courier, "We just have our share of aches and pains."

A successor for Rose will be selected by Judge of Probate John Maki, Prosecutor Harvey Varnum and County Clerk Pete Bulow. Rose's term expires in 1968.

ROSE WAS born May 6, 1901, at Ora, Ind., moving to East Jordan with his father when 13 years old.

"My father and I both worked for the East Jordan Lumber Co.," he recalls. "Dad was a sawyer and I worked in the cook shack peeling potatoes, and washing dishes."

"We cooked for 60 or 70 men, and sometimes it used to make me almost sick to look at a bushel of potatoes and know I had to peel every one of them," he says.

Later Rose followed lumbering into the Upper Peninsula, driving a team and skid-

"We cannot drift along," Governor Romney told nearly 500 representatives from Michigan gathered in Lansing April 2 to discuss recommendations for strengthening family life in Michigan.

"We must adhere to the forces of truth, law and order," and "halt the deterioration of family life," he said.

This final all day conference, sponsored by the Human Resources Commission, was the climax to several regional meetings held this winter throughout the State.

Replying to recommendations of educators and administrators of many public and private social agencies that more and more education is the answer to our rising crime, divorce and school drop-out rate, Governor Romney called attention to an observation by the late Rabbi Adler of Detroit when he visited the ashes of Hiroshima. "The happy future does not lie in education. Somehow it lies in brotherhood."

During the general discussion period, Mrs. Romney, looking very spring-like in a pale green dress, spoke briefly and forcefully. "People today are lost!" "We must set up standards and goals and give rewards for good family living."

If the goal of the conference was to find ways of giving public recognition and setting ideal standards for wholesome family life the conference failed.

For Governor Romney noted at the conclusion of a half dozen reports, that although

Band Candy Sale Starts at Concert

The two Charlevoix High School Bands will be presented in concert next Friday, April 15, at 8:00 P.M. in the High School gymnasium. An intermission feature of the concert will be the formal kick-off of this year's Band Candy Sale, by George Hutchinson, president of the Charlevoix Band Parent Association, which sponsors the sale.

The bands, whose membership totals 172 student musicians, will present a concert in two parts. The Reserve Band (8th and 9th graders) will open the concert, playing a group of number that will be used in the Massed Band Festival, to be held early in May. Among them will be the marches "Brasserie Triumphant" and "Storm King".

"Mountain Echoes", and overture by Frankliser will be followed by the beautiful "Tres Jolie" waltzes by Waldteufel and a samba with latin rhythms, "Copa Cabana", by Walters.

AFTER THE candy sale kick-off during intermission, the 84 piece Senior Band will present its portion of the concert. Featured will be some of the numbers to be played by the band at the State Band and Orchestra Festival in Flint next week, including "The Foundation" a concert march by Richard Franko Goldman, and the number chosen by the band for performance before the judges panel at the festival, "American Folk Rhapsody" by Grundaman.

A first performance in Charlevoix will be the "American Civil War Fantasy" by Billk, and the march "Pride of the Wolverines" by Sousa. Both of these numbers were played by the MSBOA Honors Band in Flint last May, which Charlevoix Band Director Clarence Odmak conducted as Michigan Band Director of the Year for 1965.

A NOVELTY feature of the concert will be a salute to the Charlevoix chapter of Future Homemakers of America (FHA) by the playing of Don Gillis' "Variations on a Kitchen Sink", using kitchen utensils as solo instruments, played by FHA members in the band.

Also to be performed will be a tuncful Tango, by Percy Faith, having the improbable title "Brazilian Sleigh Bells". Tickets for the 90 minute concert can be obtained from any band member, or may be purchased at the door. Grade school children will again be admitted free if accompanied by an adult.

HUNDREDS of parents and guests turned out to honor Charlevoix High School athletes at the All-Sports Banquet Monday night.

Athletes Honored at Sports Banquet

Charlevoix High School athletes were asked to stand up and be recognized at the All-Sports Banquet at the V.F.W. Hall Monday night.

The banquet was sponsored jointly by the Kiwanis Club and the Lions Club.

Along with more than 200 parents and guests, the athletes heard John Bennington, head Michigan State University basketball coach, tell what makes a winning team.

Bennington's Spartans went from 10th place to 2nd place in Big Ten competition this season. Bennington's first year as coach.

HE TOLD the athletes that when he was a boy he used to think that people who were successful in any field were just "born that way."

The lanky cage mentor said it took him years to find out that hard work is the key to success in business as well as sports.

BEFORE Bennington spoke, Coach Don Carey rattled off the names of this year's athletes, telling anecdotes about each, summing up their past performances and what can be expected in the future.

Turning to the football season last year, Carey said Charlevoix lost two games it should have won—the opener against Rogers City and the last game with Harbor Springs.

He praised the squad, saying they were "good football players, but smart ball players."

Bike Fund Nears $300

The fund to buy a motorbike for Bernard "Beane" Russell has risen to $297.55, according to the Charlevoix County State Bank.

The drive was started by the Courier in recognition of Beane's swift action last winter in saving six-year-old Bobby Warner from suffocation in a snowbank.

Janitor at the Elementary School, Beane is badly in need of a new motorbike, since his old one—a 1948 model—has just about had it.

Contributions to the fund may be made either at the Courier office or at the bank.

Community Chest to Meet April 19

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Community Chest will be April 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the City Hall. The public is invited to attend.

The secretary will report on the past year's activities, and the treasurer will report on the fiscal year ending March 31, including results of the last campaign.

Three new board members will be elected to serve three years. The board has nine members, three elected every year.

Completing their terms this year are Annabel Cunningham, Frank Oleksy and Ralph Doan. Doan has been serving a partial term and is eligible for re-election.

Other members are Don Anders, Mrs. Robert Anderson, John Lachman, whose terms expire next year, and Mrs. Tom Wieland, Mrs. Phil Martin and Mr. William Peck who will serve until April, 1968.

A nominating committee will submit a slate of candidates, and other nominations may be made from the floor by members.

To Open Friday Nights

Charlevoix's two banks have announced they will be closed Saturdays beginning April 30.

E. D. Hawley, President of the Charlevoix County State Bank, said the move was being made to give employees a full weekend off.

For the convenience of customers, the County Bank and the State Savings Bank will be open Fridays from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. and from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m.

MONDAY through Thursday, the hours will continue to be 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The only exceptions to the Saturday closing policy will be when a legal holiday falls either on a Friday or a Monday. In that event, the banks will be open from 9 a.m. until noon Saturday.

Many banks elsewhere in Michigan have made it a practice to close Saturdays for some time.

Assembly of God Has New Pastor

The Rev. Don Schorsch began his ministry at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church on Easter Sunday.

He replaces the Rev. E. Herberger who has moved to Flint to continue his education.

Rev. Schorsch, his wife, Christine, and daughters Lori, 5, and Shelly, 3, moved into the Assembly of God parsonage at 219 W. Huribut St. last Wednesday.

The pastor has spent the past six years in Grafton, N.D., where he not only served the Grafton Assembly of God Church but also was president of the State Christ's Ambassadors, a youth organization of the Assembly of God.

Family Talks Fall Short of Goal

By Edith Gilbert

"We cannot drift along," Governor Romney told nearly 500 representatives from Michigan gathered in Lansing April 2 to discuss recommendations for strengthening family life in Michigan.

"We must adhere to the forces of truth, law and order," and "halt the deterioration of family life," he said.

numerous recommendations for strengthening family life through existing services (public and private agencies, schools, courts, churches) had been offered, there were no recommendations to guide parents and children...the very people who make up the family.

One point of accord was reached after the showing of a film "To Touch A Child" sponsored by the Mott Foundation on Community School Programs. Frank Manley, Flint athletic director and athletic director and originator of the program, pointed out that "using public schools as community centers brings us together on a non-controversial basis," and that although the national crime rate has increased steadily, the rate in Flint has consistently gone down.

In answer to the question, "Is the community school idea a good co-ordinating force for public and private agencies?" Governor Romney asked for and got a good show of hands.

Pre-marital counseling and sex education were stressed by all groups throughout the conference. To this Mrs. Romney remarked, "Sex education can be very good or very bad -- it's the quality that's most important." She continued by saying we must strive for new quality in all our programs; that too many meetings are boring.

At the end of the conference Governor Romney suggested calling two further conferences for parents and children to draft specific recommendations for parents and teenagers to be used as guidelines for behavior.

IN THE MEANTIME, the Human Resources Commission will co-ordinate these recommendations presented to the Governor at all-day conference.

Here are some of the recommendations presented by the following groups:

SCHOOLS: Marital education from birth to death including such subjects as sex education, child-care, finance, budgeting and teaching domestic skills.

CHURCH AND SYNAGOGUE: Promote pre-marital counseling. Opinion was divided regarding compulsory legislation to enforce this service.

LAW ENFORCEMENT: 1) Child neglect law should include emotional neglect of children. 2) More courts should invite clergy to visit

Marion to Remain in Planning Group

The Marion Township Board of Supervisors has notified the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission that it intends to remain a member of the commission.

In March, the Township notified Commission Chairman Ken Staley that it is no longer interested in belonging to the group, because of Marion's largely rural population.

THE COMMISSION promptly asked for a meeting with the Township Board to explain the function of the planning group. Everett Thompson, representing the Grand Rapids planning firm of Williams and Works, also attended.

Immediately after the meeting last Wednesday, the board voted to stay with the Commission and appointed Burr Blanchard and Russ Dohn to sit in on meetings, according to Staley.

Do you have $300.00 to burn?

Heard all the claims about conversion to gas heat? Let's look at the facts. Fact one: you can "burn up" up to $300 and more when you install a gas furnace, and get no advantage in return. Fact 2: you get no guarantee that you'll save fuel costs for the life of the furnace. Fact 3: if invested or banked, your $300 could be earning from $10 to $25 yearly. Need better heating? You're better off to remodel your present oil heat system. For example, our Amoco, Sta-Warm Oil Burner costs less than $100, yet can increase heating efficiency as much as 40%. Before you "burn up" $300 or more, call us for the facts and a free estimate.

AN UMPIRE MUST BE QUICK OF PERCEPTION AND TELL THE TRUTH WITH THE FIRST WORD SPOKEN

We cannot all hope to be as quick and accurate in our decisions as a professional umpire, but we can hope to attain the habit of fairness and honesty in all dealings with our associates.

In life and the world of business one cannot always employ the impersonal attitude of an umpire. One must often practice discretion and use consideration for our fellow men. In other words never forgetting the application of the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you wish to be done by"

The next time you are presented with an ethical problem, that troubles your conscience, go to your church and let your God be your UMPIRE.

Stuart Ver Wys Takes Part in Army Exercise

Army Pfc Stuart E. Ver Wys, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Ver Wys, 108 W. Huribut st., was among 1,700 101st Airborne Division paratroopers from Fort Campbell, Ky., who participated in Exercise CLOVE HITCH, a four-day amphibious-airborne maneuver, ending April 11 in the Camp Lejeune-Osaw Beach area.

Ver Wys' unit, Company A of the division's 1st Battalion, 501st Infantry, is one of the Army elements taking part in the 11,000-man exercise, designed to increase proficiency in amphibious and airborne operations and to perfect coordination between Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine forces.

Ver Wys, a mortar gunner, entered the Army last June and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

He was graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1963 and worked for the A & P in Rogers City, before entering the Army.

WORKERS are dwarfed by towering walls of Medusa slip which are being poured under direction of the H. K. Ferguson Co. When walls are completed, water will be siphoned over coffer dam. Lake-side dredges will remove dam when slip is full.

North Central Gets Half Million Grant

The federal government has approved a half-million dollar grant for construction of a general classroom building at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey.

The $517,362 grant was made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare under the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963. THE MONEY will cover about 40 percent of the proposed 50,000 square-foot building.

The college already has sold bonds totaling $840,000 to cover the balance of the cost of the structure.

Word of approval was received by Dean A. D. Shankland from the Michigan High Education Facilities Commission.

Dean C. Burns, M.D., chairman of the Board of Trustees for North Central, said the grant means that the college will be able to proceed with plans for development of its new campus and provide for increased enrollment in September of next year.

THE NEW building will contain 15 general classrooms, plus a learning laboratory and a three-room business laboratory including electronic equipment for teaching of all business subjects. This is a part of the expanded vocational education offerings at North Central Michigan College.

Some 6,000 additional square feet of floor space will be developed into other occupational education laboratories. Administrative and faculty offices also will be located in the new building.

DEAN SHANKLAND said construction of the classroom building is the first step in the stepped up building program which eventually will include a dormitory, student center and a new library, providing for an estimated enrollment of 1,400 by 1975.

by unpaid bills?
borrow from us

One loan repays all those bills. Budget payments repay us! Come in and get a loan fast, here.

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

BEER-A big boost to the economy!

The brewing industry each year contributes over 1.4 billion dollars in federal, state and local excise taxes. Wages and salaries in the brewing industry account for almost 500 million dollars, and the purchase of packaging materials from other industries runs over 550 million. So next time you enjoy a cool, refreshing brew after hard work or play, remember-BEER is good in more ways than one!

UNITED STATES BREWERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book.

(Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until October 1, 1966!)

So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

Left, Loder compares new filter (bottom) with one exposed to Charlevoix air atop the Coast Guard Station for 23 hours. Four check points are maintained for two weeks at a time throughout the area. Reader Offers Easter Song

Dear Editor: I wonder if you could use this song or poem at Easter time. I like it. If not, no loss. It sings easily to the tune of "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

The Easter Victory by Jane Fiedler

Carry me back to Easter morning, When Jesus rose to set all captives free, wrapped and perfumed in the spices so costly, After he suffered on Calvary's rugged tree, Carry me back to Easter's Garden, Where Jesus spoke to Mary, weeping there, "Fear not, but tell the disciples and Peter, 'I have arisen. These tidings, go declare.'"

Carry me back to Easter's triumph, Lifting the gloom, death brought on Calvary, No stony tomb could hold Life Eternal, Jesus came forth and brought the victory.

Lost Angler Found

The voice was strange, and some of the things he said didn't make sense.
Charlevoix Police Chief Joe Smith asked New York State Police to enter the case March 19 when a ski instructor at Boyne Mountain Lodge--where Mayer used to work--reported that Mayer had been seen at Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl the second and third weeks in December.

NEW YORK police checked with ski instructor Karl Plotner and resort owner Orville Stutzky who said Mayer told them he had injured his leg in a construction accident in New Jersey and had just his memory following a boating accident in Michigan. He told them he was going to Toledo, Ohio, his wife's hometown, to have an operation on his injured leg.

SMITH said no charges have been filed against Mayer, and the case has been dropped. Mayer, who once owned the Countryside restaurant in Boyne City, is believed staying with his wife in Toledo.

He disappeared from Charlevoix last Aug. 25. His car was abandoned at Ward's Boat Livery and the boat he rented was found beached north of the city on the Lake Michigan shore.

LexaLite Globes Selected County 'Product of Year'

Lexalite Corporation's polycarbonate unbreakable globes for street lighting have been designated Charlevoix County's "product of the year", according to Wally Loder, Michigan Week chairman for the county.

In announcing the award, Loder said that the indestructible globes now will be entered in six-county regional competition.

LexaLite, which went into business in Charlevoix County last fall, is located in U. S. 31, just east of the Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant. Total sales of the Model 100 alone have gone from 1,200 units in 1964 to over 20,000 in 1965. Last year's total output of globes and refractors came to 120,000 units.

Vice President Josh Barnes says the company is continuing to grow, and that sales in 1966 are expected to exceed one million dollars.

Barnes estimates it would take the company 120 years to replace all the street light globes in America—even if no new areas were lighted.

The new LexaLite plant has added $350,000 to the county's tax base. The company now employs 30 workers and has a monthly payroll in excess of $9 million. Both figures are expected to double in the next year, Barnes said.

Regional winners will be announced next week, with top entries competing as "Michigan Product of the Year."

City Schedules Clean-up Party 1st Week in May

The City Council has declared the week of May 2 to 10 "clean up, paint up, fix up week" in the city of Charlevoix.

City superintendent James Taylor says city trucks will keep busy all week hauling away trash left at the curbs.

He suggests rubbish be left in disposable containers to speed up collections.

The first day of the clean-up, trucks will concentrate on pick-ups in the First Ward, north of Pine River Channel. May 2, trucks will cover the valley and May 3 they will range over South Hill.

The remainder of the drive trucks will cover the entire city, picking up whatever trash is left.

County Budget Higher

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors approved a tentative budget of $400,078 for 1967 at their final spring session Saturday.

The figure is some $31,000 over the final budget for 1966, but $345 under the anticipated 1966 budget.

With $49,015 on hand and revenues of $21,061 expected from miscellaneous fees and licenses, the budget leaves $330,002 to be raised by taxes.

The county's state equalized valuation this year is $57,952,340, meaning a tax rate of 5.70 mills will be required to pay for county services in 1967.

In the last budget, valuation was $55,763,300, requiring a levy of 5.375 mills.

Many appropriations remained the same, while others dropped. There were increases for such county activities as the Board of Supervisors, child care, civil defense, coroners, county agricultural agent, county clerk, county treasurer, county general fund, courthouse and grounds, the district health department, Friend-of-the-court, Ironport ferry, jail, justice court, judge of probate, planning commission, prosecuting attorney and tax bureau.

For tax purposes, the city of Charlevoix's total equalized tax valuation this year is $8,991,171, compared to $6,475,040 for Boyne City and $5,289,050 for East Jordan.

Among townships, Hayes has the greatest valuation—$9,951,550—with the Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant and LexaLite Corp. Eveline Township is second with a valuation of $6,030,650. The Northern Michigan REA plant is located in Eveline Township.

The supervisors also recommended a motion of last October replacing Helen Thurston. Continued on page 14.

Coroner Question Goes on Fall Ballot

Board Asks Voters to Abolish Office

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors Saturday agreed to put on the November ballot the question of whether the county should abolish the office of coroner and hire a medical examiner instead.

The medical examiner would be a qualified physician or surgeon, preferably one with specialized investigative training. Deputies also would be licensed physicians and surgeons.

CHARLEVOIX'S Third Ward Supervisor Lee Moerland made the recommendation at the supervisors' final session Saturday.

The move is generally considered in keeping with good law enforcement and crime detection.

The coroner's office has come in for criticism recently particularly in regard to the investigation of two deaths in the city of Charlevoix.

Charlevoix County's present coroner is James Stackus, a Boyne City undertaker.

THE BOARD of Supervisors voted at the meeting to raise the coroner's pay—per call from $5 to $35, plus 10 cents a mile travel expense, during the interim.

IN OTHER action Saturday, the Board asked the Agriculture Committee to meet with the Planning Commission to come up with future sites for sanitary landfill in the county.

It was suggested that every municipality in the county send a representative to the meeting.

LAWRENCE M. LaGrow has joined the staff of the Charlevoix County State Bank. LaGrow has worked for the Grayling State Bank several years.

Family Spots UFO In Norwood Skies

Eight members of the Arch-Himebauch family at Norwood report seeing an unidentified flying object in the sky over Grand Traverse Bay for more than two hours last Thursday.

Himebauch, said the object, which was "bigger and brighter than a star", appeared about 8:30 p.m. and disappeared about 11 p.m.

It was not stationary, but moved north over Charlevoix and then back over Grand Traverse Bay. Shortly before 11 o'clock it began traveling west and then disappeared over Lake Michigan.

HIMEBAUCH says he has no idea how big it was or how high. He said it resembled a huge beacon flashing red, green and white lights at regular intervals.

The sighting is one of many in the area in the past few days, with most of the sightings near Pellston and Alanson.

One of the most interesting developments in the nationwide UFO story is a report

Two sticky zoning problems on the North Side were sent to committee Monday night by Charlevoix's new mayor William Fochtman.

One was a petition by Detroit auto dealer Jack Davis to rezone a parcel of land at the foot of Prospect Street from R-1 to R-2, permitting him to construct a 20-unit apartment building.

The other was a request by county welfare supervisor George R. Hutchinson that the city sanction rest homes caring for three or less elderly persons operating in R-1 neighborhoods.

MANY NORTH Side residents were on hand to protest the proposed re-zoning of the Prospect Street tract. Many summer residents had written letters protesting the move to Mayor Fochtman and aldermen.

Most of the protests were to the effect that the project would bring an unwanted increase in auto traffic to the Residential-1 neighborhood.

Mrs. Ruth Curtis, representing the Chicago Club, said members were objecting to heavy traffic so close to their bathhouse.

N. Side Zoning Issues Studied by City Council

He represented several clients who were all opposed to establishing an R-2 Island in an all R-1 neighborhood. He reminded the Council that it is traditional in Charlevoix to rezone a parcel of land at the foot of Prospect Street from R-1 to R-2, permitting him to construct a 20-unit apartment building.

DAVIS presented drawings of his proposed apartment units to the council. He said they would be designed for upper income families, who would lease them on a yearly basis. He said many Medusa executives might find them attractive and he plans to live there himself.

"I have holdings all over Lake Charlevoix, but I want to live on Round Lake. I don't want to cut my own grass, or worry about the plumbing or whether the furnace is going to work," he told the Council.

He said his proposed apartment house would be "prettier than the metal bathhouse now in front of the property, and prettier than most of the boat houses on Round Lake."

"But if I'm going to live here, I don't want people stewing at me," he said in reference to the gallery of visitors. He said it would be helpful if the Courier would run a picture of his plans.

IN TABLING the request, Fochtman said the Council would be willing to help Davis locate another site, if the rezoning petition is denied.

"I have other holdings," Davis said.

The auto dealer says he is liquidating his business interests in Detroit and plans to settle somewhere in the Charlevoix area.

The rest home request by Hutchinson was the result of a zoning infraction charge against Mrs. Rose Daugherty of 401 E. Dixon. Mrs. Daugherty, who cares for two elderly people in her home, found herself in violation of R-1 zoning when she applied for a convalescent home permit required by state law for the first time this year.

Hutchinson said homes such as the one Mrs. Daugherty is running are badly needed to take care of the community's elderly people, but unfortunately most of them are located in exclusively R-1 neighborhoods.

He asked that homes caring for three or elderly fewer patients be included in rezoning. The problem was sent to committee.

Smelt Dipping in Wood's Creek

THE SMELT run is on in streams emptying into Lake Charlevoix. Among the successful dippers at Wood's Creek on the north side of the lake Saturday night was Ron Grunch of Charlevoix.

SMELT DIPPER peers deeply into net for sign of wriggling, silver fish. Smelt this year are longer than other years, with many measuring 10 or 11 inches. By midnight, the crowd dipping in Wood's Creek was almost elbow to elbow.

Mrs. Henry Burns

Reporter Is Proud of Friesland Ties

One of the courier's most active correspondents is Mrs. Henry Burns of Atwood.

The former Flora Veenstra was born in Ureterp, Friesland, The Netherlands, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Veenstra. She came to America in 1913 when she was 11 years old and the family settled in Michigan.

Mrs. Burns is quick to point out that she did not come from Holland.

May 12, 1925, she became the bride of Henry Burns at the Atwood Christian Reformed Church where both are still active members today.

In addition to her work with the Ladies Aid and the Courier, Mrs. Burns knits, cro-chets and raises African violets.

THE BURNS' only grandson, Roy DeVries, 17, lives in Ellsworth. Their son, John, was killed in an auto accident at age 25 in the 1950's.

Mr. Burns operates the Marathon gas station on U.S. 31 adjacent to their home in Atwood.

Mrs. Burns has nine brothers, many of whom live in the Atwood-Ellsworth area.

Mrs. Paul Decker, Mrs. Martha Elzinga and Mrs. Marion Sitzema planned the dinner. Mrs. Albert Fielstra and Mrs. Harvey Drenth members of the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Ladies Aid and their husbands were delegates.

After the dinner a short program was planned. Rev. Van der Griend led in devotions and a film was shown on missionary work in Nigeria, Africa.

O Beautiful For Spacious Skies

America, The Beautiful, is deeply stirring within a refrain that makes every American's spine tingle and makes him swell with just pride when he sings it. For it sings of the dreams in America that are grand and finer, the fruited plain, fruited farms and cities, spacious skies and, above all, freedom. Freedom, that has made possible the appreciation of all that is fine and beautiful here.

The freedom that has built America, The Beautiful, was not gained in a day. Men and women have died and many people, and many groups have contributed to bring this precious gift. The Church has played no small part in the establishment of freedom. It was the desire to worship in a fashion of their own choosing that brought freedom-loving people to America. Let us not forget the Church, lest in so doing we forsake freedom.

Stresses Role of Family

Dr. John Young, psychiatrist and director of the Northwest Michigan Child Guidance Clinic in Traverse City, spoke on the subject of "The Child in the World of Reality" at the regular meeting of the P. T. A. held last Wednesday evening at the high school cafeteria.

He discussed Governor Romney's conference relating to mental health and in his talk stressed the strengthening of the family in order to furnish a healthy atmosphere. He also said that no one should hide an emotional upset; that everyone is responsible for his actions and that if fears are developed they tend to increase.

Dr. Young was introduced by Donald Fuller of the Special Education Division of the Charlevoix - Emmet Intermediate School District.

The Rev. George L. Majors, president of the P. T. A., Supt. Rex E. Milligan and Mrs. Clarie C. Martin, secretary of the P. T. A., reported on the Problems Clinic they attended recently in East Lansing.

The nominating committee was unable to present a full slate of officers so it was decided that this should be done at the May meeting.

The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $1,380.50. Rev. Majors discussed the various items to be purchased for the schools by the P. T. A.

The Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen gave the invocation. Refreshments were served by fourth grade parents.

Farms Total 405

A total of 405 farms was counted in Charlevoix county during the 1964 Census of Agriculture, the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census reports.

In the last previous Census of Agriculture (1959), the total counted in the county was 537 farms.

The 1964 total is published in a preliminary report on the county just issued. The report also shows that average farm size in the county was 177.3 acres and that the average value of the county's farms (land and buildings) in 1964 was $21,001.

Other important county statistics in the report are:
1. Value of all farm products sold by farms in the county in 1964, $1,620,213; in 1959, $1,812,665.

2. Value of all crops sold by county farms in 1964, $493,380; in 1959, $368,388.
3. Value of all livestock and livestock products sold by county farms in 1964, $1,116,602; in 1959, $1,444,277.

Information obtained for the first time in an agricultural census included the amount of income received by the county's farmers ($10,231) from recreational services, as well as data on the use of pest control chemicals in the county in 1964.

Spring Means Boats in Charlevoix

WARM WEATHER has increased the tempo of boating activity on Round Lake and Pine River Channel. Above, the Jackie II slips under the bridge with a cargo of Lake Michigan whitefish.

DICK LYONS is readying the Mackinaw Islander for her log hauling chores this summer. Tied up near the Belvedere Club all winter, the ship is now berthed at the foot of Antrim Street while the crew makes her ready for the season.

Cross Village Port Needs Local Cash

Cross Village will have to come up with $440,000 from "local interests" before the federal government goes ahead with plans to build a breakwater and dredge a harbor at the village.

The harbor has been proposed as a port of refuge by the Army Corps of Engineers for craft plying northern Lake Michigan, particularly the Beaver Island which normally berths at Charlevoix. Hard surfacing on the breakwaters would make them suitable for recreational fishing.

THE GOVERNMENT has asked Cross Village to contribute, in cash, 38 percent of the first cost of construction of the general navigation facilities ($430,000) and 50 percent of the first cost of facilities for recreational fishing on the main breakwater ($13,000).

Cross Village may be eligible for state matching funds to get the project started.

The federal government also would expect Cross Village to maintain access, parking and sanitation facilities, adopt a pollution ordinance protecting harbor waters and maintain the recreational fishing facilities at a cost of about $1,000 a year.

The federal government's share of the project will be $723,000, plus $2,500 a year for maintenance.

Some habits are hard to break.

Like drying clothes outdoors. But most of the things you hear about fresh air drying are myth. Because a gas dryer dries your clothes softer, cleaner—and just as sweet smelling. Without exposing them to harsh winds or the dust that's in the air.

A gas dryer does the job when fresh air can't. At midnight. Or in a rainstorm. We can't claim that gas, like air, is free. But you can do five loads in a gas dryer for the cost of doing one in the other kind.

See the latest gas dryer models now on display at your dealer or Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showroom. Or call us at 347-8701 in Petoskey, and we'll have a Gas Company representative come out to your home and talk with you about the advantages of gas dryers. One of them is free installation. Inside.

Clockwise Want Excitement? Try Smelting

Saturday night marked sort of a milestone for me. After shuffling around in this mortal coil for almost four decades, I finally have been initiated into the mysteries of smelt dipping.

All my life I have heard of the wonderful camaraderie the smelt run: the roaring beach fire, robust male voices raised in song while the party waited for the first smelt to appear, hefty jugs of potables passed from mouth to mouth.

All last week, Tom McDaniels kept saying, "When they start running I'll take you dipping." Everything was fine Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. No smelt. Thursday morning Tom came to work with sort of a faraway look in his eye. He didn't say much, but spent quite a bit of time looking out at the lake.

Friday morning a long-handled net appeared in the back of the station wagon.

"Are they running?" I asked.

"A few."

"Shall we go tonight?"

"We'll see."

SATURDAY morning Tom announced the run was on, and we made plans to meet at 9 o'clock that night. I hurried down to Staley's, and plunked down $1.69 for a smelt net, $2 for fishing license and another $2 for a trout stamp.

I wanted to be on the safe side if I ever came face to face with a trout. I didn't realize then how close I was to come.

That night I dug a pair of five-buckle arctics out of the cellar and made sure all my personal effects were in order. At the rendezvous hour, brother-in-law Jon Seull and I honked for Tom and followed him out the Boyne City Road to Quarter-Line Road, then right toward Lake Charlevoix.

Shortly we swung left down a narrow road through the woods, cedar bows slapping the sides of the car.

JUST WHEN I was thinking there probably wasn't another living soul all the way to Boyne City, Tom suddenly swung off the road and stopped in a tiny clearing. Ahead I could see a half-dozen parked cars and several people milling about in the flicker of cold oil lamps and flashlights.

No where was there a roar of fire, nor the happy sound of robust male voices raised in song that I had expected. We unpacked our nets and palls and moved over to a small bridge where the road crossed Wood's Creek. The voices stopped as we approached, and although nothing was said, I had a distinct feeling we weren't exactly welcome.

Tom flashed a light into the water, revealing nothing more than clear water rushing over a bed of pebbles.

"It'll be a while yet," he said, evenly. "Want to walk down to the lake?"

NOT HAVING any other immediate plans, Jon and I followed as Tom began slogging through the heavy grass along the bank. We had gone no more than 40 to 50 feet when the men back on the road started calling: "Come back! Stop!" "Don't go near the river!" We stopped and noticed that several lamps and flashlights were approaching horribly from the rear.

"What's the trouble?" Tom asked, with ill-disguisted annoyance in his voice.

"We don't want anyone in the creek until the smelt are well started," said a faceless voice. They've started down by the lake now, but they're frightened even if you walk on the bank. They feel vibrations."

Well, there was considerable talk about who owned this blankety-blank land in the first place and who was going to throw whom in the creek. Finally, one of the faceless antagonists spoke up: "It's the law of the creek," he said.

FROM HERE on, the story is anti-climatic. I did catch a few smelt which looked quite surprised finding me at the other end of a net, having met me so recently as a denizen of their own environment. Counting what Tom and Jon caught, we had 14 fish before calling it quits—a far cry from the traditional wash tub full.

I can't really say I have smelt fever, but I certainly plan to go dipping again. I now have $5.69 invested in smelt fishing, not counting cleaners bills. This means, each smelt has cost roughly 41 cents—scarcely a bargain even at today's prices. Looks like I'm going to have to net a few trout in the bargain just to break even.

RATHER THAN argue against such solid logic and such a reasonable peace settlement, the three of us returned to the station wagon and spent the next hour and a half discussing Dick Edwards' pricing policy relative to Paisano wine. Tom had a sample of the product there for research and reference.

FINALLY, about 11 p.m., there seemed to be considerable commotion over near the stream. We grabbed our nets and hurried over on the double. The crowd at the bridge had grown alarmingly and a dozen or more people already were in the creek, stirring the now roily water with their nets.

Determined to catch my share of smelt, I jumped down a steep bank into the creek. Unfortunately, instead of landing on the pe-bly bottom, I hit a clay sink hole and kept right on going, toppling over in the water.

"There's a big one," said an extremely unkind woman standing on the bank laughing at me. She took several jabs at me with her net as I struggled to get back on my feet. I never knew water got so cold without freezing. My boots were filled and my pants and my $9 wool jacket from Penney's were soaked.

A black and white portrait of a young man with dark, wavy hair, looking slightly to his left. He is wearing a dark suit jacket over a light-colored shirt. The background is dark and out of focus.

Delbert Terrill Jr.

Delbert (Chip) Terrill, 18, is the first Charlevoixite, to be appointed to the U.S. Air Force Academy, according to Congressman Raymond F. Cleveland (D-11th Dist.).

Terrill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert R. Terrill Sr. of Eaton St., Charlevoix, participated in football, basketball, track and band at Charlevoix High School, where he graduated in 1965. He also belonged to the National Honor Society.

His father began attending the U.S. Air Force Academy school, which has been named after the late Commander's Merit List for the spring term. He was cited for exemplary school performance, in a letter the Terrills received from the school.

A house-to-house collection to raise funds to fight cancer will be made this week throughout the Charlevoix area, according to Mrs. Jack Rader and Mrs. E. D. Mason, co-chairmen of the Charlevoix Cancer Crusade.

An attempt will be made to raise $3,087 in the county-wide Crusade, Mrs. Rader said. Charlevoix's share of the total of $1,253, clety also has announced two $150 nursing scholarships, renewable each year.

On the national level, some of the money will be used to publicize the importance of early cancer detection.

Mrs. Rader said officials estimate 190,000 lives will be saved this year because of early detection. Another 95,000 lives will be lost because the disease was not discovered in time.

THE AREA to be covered locally includes Ironton, Antrim County south to Norwood and Charlevoix County northeast to Bay Shore. One hundred volunteers will canvass the area.

Mrs. Russell Green will be in charge of the Beaver Island drive.

Half of the money raised in the county drive will remain in the area to provide drugs, dressings and transportation for cancer patients.

THE LOCAL cancer society has purchased a sound projector and has films available on what is being done to fight cancer.

Groups interested in seeing the films should contact Mrs. Rader at 547-6605. The movies already have been seen by the Order of the Eastern Star and Phelps Extension. They also were shown at the Cancer Crusade kick-off at the City Hall last Tuesday.

More unidentified flying objects have been sighted near Charlevoix. One of the observers is a veteran of four years in the Air Force.

About 9 o'clock April 20, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Drost and Steve Smith, son of Frank Smith, were driving west on Bells Bay road when they saw six grayish objects flying toward them in perfect formation about 50 feet above the road.

Thursday evening, members of the Ray Whitley family of 507 W. Garfield spotted a flashing red object over Lake Michigan about 9:30 p.m.

Later Mrs. Whitley said she saw an UFO skimming over Charlevoix rooftops. The object was oblong and had red, green and white lights. She said there was no sound, even though the object was so close it appeared ready to land.

Similar UFO sightings have been reported up and down the

THEY STOPPED the car and got out as the objects passed overhead. They suddenly made a sharp turn to the right, separated slightly, began climbing and took off at a high rate of speed toward Ironton.

Drost, who spent four years in the Air Force, says he never before has seen any kind of conventional aircraft maneuver so strangely.

SMITH said at first he thought it was an allusion caused by raindrops on the windshield, but the objects were visible even after they left the car. He said the six UFO's were a light grey, "about the color of grey." The sighting was the second in the Charleston area in the past two weeks. April 14, eight members of the Archie Himebaugh family at Nnrwood saw a mysterious flashing light in the sky for more than two hours.

Charlevoix City Council is expected to come with an answer Monday night to the knotty question of re-zoning a 300-foot section of Round Lake frontage to permit construction of an apartment house.

A change from R-1 to R-2 has been requested by auto dealer Jim Davis of Wayne, Mich., who plans to liquidate his holdings in southern Michigan and move to Charlevoix.

HE PROPOSES building an apartment complex at the foot of Prospect Street. Separate apartment buildings each containing six units would be built up the terraced hillside, giving each apartment a view of Round Lake.

At the initial re-zoning hearing last week, several property owners shoed up to oppose the project, saying it would bring too much traffic to the neighborhood.

Davis, wants his project to blend with existing structures in the area, such as the Weathervane Inn, and the Terrace and Lodge motels.

Airman Mays Cited by Unit For Job Skill

A/C George R. Mays of Richmond, Va., has been selected "Pride" airman for April and May at the 10th Radar Bomb Scoring Detachment in Day Shore.

The award is made every other month on the basis of contributions to the unit, job performance, personal appearance, supervisory ability, military courtesy and other qualities.

A citation signed by Maj. Alvin J. Aronovsky, Mays' commanding officer, singled out Mays for his superior knowledge of RBS equipment and his dedication to duty.

DURING A RECENT equipment failure, the citation said, "he rushed to the van roof, disconnected the APC cable and manually tuned the magnetron using the signal crystal current meter as a guide. His concise diagnosis of the trouble and the expeditious manner in which he solved it was instrumental in saving five runs which would have otherwise been absorbed."

The citation added that Mays' "efficiency and job knowledge make the most difficult tasks seem routine."

THE LARGEST ANIMAL THAT EVER TROD THE EARTH'S SURFACE

This mechanical reproduction of a Brontosaurus stands in Dinosaur Park, South Dakota. It is exact in detail to the animals that once inhabited some of our Western States. Scientists have been able to study fossil remains and reconstruct these mammoth, hundred foot long, reptiles in detail. The people who did this are true scientists. They have proved many truths of the Holy Bible by their research. True science takes nothing for granted and its final discoveries are always right. The Bible also is right. It points to the right way to live.

The Church is an aid and an interpreter of the right way of life. Instead of being a hindrance to modern science it cooperates. Science discovers and gives us the laws of the Universe and the Church gives us the rules and guides by which we may live in harmony with those laws. There is a church that will prove a valuable aid to everyone. If you have not already done so find the church best suited to serve you.

Scouts Attend Confab

Seven Charlevoix Girl Scouts from Senior Troop 256 attended a four-state art conference in Traverse City last weekend sponsored by Crooked Tree Council.

The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Carolyn Rader, troop leader, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, troop committee woman.

Attending from Charlevoix were Rona Henley, Nancy Rader, Laurie Wilson, Betty Brown, Sharril Darby, Angela Espich and Joey Phelps.

THE CHARLEVOIX girls were in charge of a get-acquainted style show and talent show Friday night. Miliken's Dept. Store in Traverse City is assisting with the style show and a modeling demonstration.

Approximately 250 Scouts from Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan will attend.

Curbing OK'd

The City Council has approved a bid of $2.44 per foot for curb and gutter on Clinton Street between State and Bridge Streets and on Crouter and Burns Streets. The bid was by Tri-City Concrete Co.

Three Hired by Schools

Only two more teachers--one in the elementary school and one in the high school--are needed to complete next year's teacher roster, according to Charlevoix Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan.

Three new teachers already have been hired.

Miss Jud Walt, who will be graduated by Central Michigan

University in June, will teach first grade.

MRS. LOUISE Hartnell, who has taught 10 years at Coldwater and five years in rural schools, and one year at Petoskey, will teach 5th grade. She is a graduate of Western Michigan University.

Vane Smith, a native of Charlevoix, will return as shop teacher, succeeding Bob Cook who will handle a new Industrial arts co-program and teach math.

Smith, who has been principal at Potterville for three years, was graduated from Central Michigan University in 1958 with a degree in industrial arts. He received his masters degree in school administration from Michigan State University.

Smith taught driving at Charlevoix High School last summer.

State to Survey Deer Population

The Conservation Department is ready for the annual deer search and pellet counts in an effort to size up northern Michigan's deer population.

The two-in-one survey will get under way when and where snow leaves the ground. It is expected to continue until late in May.

Under the deer field check, aimed at gauging losses during the mild winter, some 480 plots covering about 19,000 acres will be surveyed in the Upper and northern Lower peninsulas.

THE DEPARTMENT'S annual deer pellet group counts will take in the same sections of whitetail country as the deer searches. However, most of them will be made in different plots, totaling almost 4,400 small areas in eight northern districts.

An extra 480 plots will again be surveyed in the Pigeon River area of northern Lower Michigan to get an up-to-date picture of elk and deer numbers.

Talk of the Town

Mrs. Walter Henley is a patient at Borgess Hospital in Kalamazoo. She is in room 247 where friends may write to her.

Mrs. Fred Gill returned home Friday from a two months visit in Milwaukee with her daughter, Mrs. Vernon Snyder, who, with her son, Vernon Jr., brought her home and remained for a weekend visit. Earlier this month Mrs. Gill and Mrs. Snyder flew to Phoenix, Ariz., to visit their son and brother, Glenn, and his family.

Progress at Medusa

NOT ALL the work at the Medusa cement plant site is done by machine, as this picture indicates. These workmen are using shovels and wheelbarrows to clear a section of the silo foundation of debris.

LAST CONCRETE for the slip was poured last week. A coffer dam now will be dredged out by land and sea-going equipment and the huge South Point indentation will be ready to receive lake boats.

Skunk Traps Gone

Conservation Officer Harley Burris has suspended skunk-trapping operations in Charlevoix until fall. Burris said he has picked up all his traps because the females are starting to bear young, and he doesn't want to leave nests of young skunks to die of starvation in inaccessible areas.

Since late winter, Burris has trapped a total of 33 skunks in Charlevoix and he expects the problem is just about licked.

"The few that are left will be moving out into the fields where there are crickets to eat," he said.

The Barnard Home extension club has taken the cancer drive in this area as a project. Those members working on this are Mrs. Herbert Boss, Mrs. Lawrence Boss, Mrs. Joseph Stutzman, Mrs. Robert Curtis and Mrs. Jasper Warner. They will be calling on you this week.

Mrs. Bertha Roberts returned home Saturday after spending the winter at Grand Rapids with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jolliffe. She also visited other relatives in southern Michigan and spent two weeks in Arkansas with the James Roberts.

Mrs. Chas. Themms and family of Inlay City visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Mick Cunningham Wednesday and Thursday of last week while Mr. Themms attended the bankers convention in Harbor Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Best have received word that their son, Michael, in the Air Force, is

Cyclists Asked to Co-operate

Motorcyclists are asked not to race their vehicles on the hill at the Girl Scout Camp, according to campsite chairman Don Brown.

Brown says the cycles destroy the turf, leading to erosion problems.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN HONORED

Onaway came into its own this week, by having one of its own delightful ladies proclaimed, Michigan's "Mother of the Year". Mrs. Grace Proctor, an 80 year old mother of nine, stood graciously and beautifully while Mrs. Romney, Mrs. Kresge, fifteen Merit Mothers, family and friends paid homage to her honor.

Mrs. Proctor was televised, interviewed, corsaged, dined and loved at an illustrious luncheon given at the Northern Michigan Center, in Detroit on Monday April 18th.

Northern Michigan can be real proud of the representation she has given all of us—a clear, northern peach and cream complexion; snow white hair; an easy smile; quiet manner; extreme good taste in speech and dress; and a history of devotion to family, community, and the Northern Area.

Who could possibly doubt that she will be the "American Mother of the Year"—come May 8th? Not I!

Sundew Placing Buoys

The Coast Guard Cutter Sundew returned to Charlevoix Tuesday morning after five days positioning buoys in Northern Lake Huron. The rest of the buoys in northern Lake Michigan will be taken out Friday, according to Public Information Officer Chrislimer.

The Coast Guard Cutter Sundew escorted 67 ships through the ice-choked St. Marys River from April 1 to 9, according to skipper Dale Foster.

The ice-breaking operation was necessitated by a westerly wind which drove huge ice floes from Lake Superior into Whitefish Bay and the river channel.

Assisting in the operation were the Coast Guard Cutter Mackinaw, stationed at Cheboygan, and the ice-breaker Naugatuck.

THE SUNDEW would break a channel up-bound through the thick ice with several commercial vessels in her wake. She would lead them to open water and then pick up several other vessels for the down-bound trip.

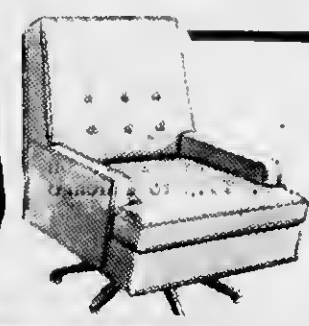

TWO NEW JETIES at Fairport Marina were completed last week. Here owner Phil Lawrence (left) and Dave Patrie place planking on freshly driven spiles.

Medusa Profits at Peak

Aided by favorable weather, Medusa Portland Cement Company profits for the first quarter of 1966 were the highest on record, according to the quarterly statement.

Discontinued billings to customers during the three-month period amounted to $6,236,000 compared to $4,566,000 for the same period in 1965.

Income before taxes this year amounted to $545,000, with net income $310,000, or 19 cents a share.

LAST YEAR the company lost $80,000 in the first quarter after taxes, for a net loss of $46,000, or three cents a share.

Medusa called first quarter business an "encouraging start," but pointed out that no such rate of gain could possibly be maintained for a full year.

THE QUARTERLY folder drew attention to the fact that work on the Charlevoix plant is progressing within budget and that construction of the slip, harbor and plant footings are under way. Construction of a storage and distribution plant in Detroit also is well advanced.

Barbara Wood Makes All-A's at North Central

One Charlevoix student made all-A's at North Central Michigan College during the first semester, and three others are on the Dean's List, according to Dean A. D. Shankland. One East Jordan student also is on the honor roster.

Listed with the five all-A students is Barbara M. Wood, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Wood of 101 Prospect Street.

Students with A- averages are Verena McClanaghan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel McClanaghan of Loeb Farm; Sherrel K. Pearsall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearsall of 1214 State St.; and Janice D. Vandenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Klooster, 1024 May St.

Planting Corn? Bulletin May Help

Growing corn profitably in Michigan depends on doing many things, precisely at the best time. Failure at any point in the time schedule can result in lower yields and frequently in lower quality grain.

Ed Hebban, Charlevoix County Natural Resource Agent, says every farmer should set a goal on the amount of corn he wants to produce. This goal should be based on (1) past experience, (2) characteristics of the soil, and (3) the ability to use modern production practices. In setting a high yield goal, consider the high odds that a lack of rain-fall might limit yields.

The county extension agricultural agent has a supply of Extension Bulletin 430 on selecting the right hybrid and making the right decisions on cultural practices. This publication, available without charge, would be helpful to any corn grower. It may be obtained by calling, writing or coming into the county extension office at Boyne City.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Withers of Traverse City were in Charlevoix over the weekend getting the A. & W. stand ready for summer business.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Olney have arrived home from Palm Harbor, Fla.

The publication points to the advantages of early plantings, use of minimum soil preparation, planting at the right depth, planting seed, row spacing, the planting rate, and the planting of cover crops in corn to protect the soil from fall, winter and early spring erosion.

To Plant Shrubs In Potter's Field

The planting of shrubs and flowers in Potter's Field--the final resting place of Charlevoix's unknown dead--is among the projects planned this spring by the Charlevoix Garden Club.

Also discussed at the April 12 meeting were construction of a nature trail and the marking of different species of trees in Brookside Cemetery.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Freedman, with Mrs. Robert Neff assisting.

MRS. MAX Hosmer, club president, Mrs. Roy Hayner, vice president, and Mrs. David Fowler, secretary-treasurer, were asked to represent the club as delegates to the annual convention of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan. The convention is scheduled June 14 at Boyne Highlands near Harbor Springs.

The program, "Friendship and Flowers," was given by Mrs. Freedman and Mrs. Harry Ladd.

The next meeting will be a breakfast at 9:30 a.m. May 10 at the home of Mrs. David Fowler. She will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Hamlin.

Apartment Would Benefit City

Changes never are easy to make. Something pretty deep-seated in man makes him cling to the things of the past. Every move to a new neighborhood, every new job, every new social contact brings with it an element of discomfort. The security afforded by familiar faces and familiar surroundings is not to be denied.

That's why it's only natural for there to be some vigorous protest when someone proposes altering the appearance of something so important to all Charlevoix-ans as Round Lake.

THIS IS basically what Wayne (Mich.) Auto Dealer Jim Davis has suggested and why he has run into a hornet's nest of opposition.

Davis has acquired 300 feet of frontage on Round Lake west of Prospect Street. He would like to build three, six-unit, year-round apartment buildings on the site, one behind the other up the terraced hillside. Each apartment would have a view of Round Lake and its own slip in the boat dock. Parking space for three cars per apartment would be provided.

Davis estimates the project will cost in excess of $600,000 --- one of the handsomest investments in Round Lake in many a year.

SUCH A PROJECT would do very little toward easing Charlevoix's critical shortage of medium priced housing. The apartments would be strictly luxury units to be leased by the year. Davis believes there are many people living in private homes in Charlevoix today who would be far happier in one of his apartment, paying one sum for heat, utilities and such maintenance services as snow removal and grass cutting.

The only hitch in Davis' plans is that the property is presently zoned Residential-1, and apartment buildings require Residential-2.

AT THE ZONING hearing last week, Davis ran into a solid block of opposition from North Siders. Most of the protests had to do with the belief that such a project would bring an unwanted and unmanageable amount of traffic to the area.

Mrs. Ruth Curtis, representing the Chicago Club, said members object to having so many cars parked so close to their boathouse.

Letters from adjoining summer property owners were read and Attorney Norman D. Anee pointed out to the city Council---which doubles as the zoning board --- that it has been traditional in Charlevoix to deny zoning change requests if the adjoining property owners object.

THE SITE in question presently is unoccupied except for weeds, poison ivy, drift wood and a boathouse Hal Forbrig built at the southeast corner. Davis told the Council that the apartment he proposes will be considerably more attractive than any of the boathouses on the lake, and judging from his preliminary drawings this would be the case.

The property does contain a nice stand of evergreen trees, most of which Davis hopes to save.

MANY OF the frame buildings on Round Lake are in a pretty bad state of repair and many of them will soon be coming down. Such a project as Davis has in mind could well set the pace for future construction on the lake. Furthermore, an apartment house would be a welcome addition to the city's tax base.

The city Council has taken Davis' request for a zoning change under advisement and should come up with an answer at the next Council meeting Monday night.

The objectors are sure to be on hand again to make sure that not a stick is touched on the North Shore. Certainly there are just as many people in town who think Davis' apartment would be a welcome addition to the community. Unfortunately, people who approve of things aren't nearly so vocal as those who oppose them.

Monday's Council meeting might be a good time for the positive thinkers to turn out and make their wishes known. Traditions aside, the Courier strongly recommends giving Davis the go-ahead with his apartment plans.

In the meantime we can be grateful we live in a city independent enough even to consider turning down a developer with a half-million dollars to invest.

Legislative Pay Hike Too High

Twenty senators in the Michigan Legislature --- 18 Democrats and two Republicans --- have struck a telling blow in the war on poverty.

The best paid state legislators in the country have voted themselves a 50 percent pay hike, the fifth raise in as many legislative terms. Charlevoix's senator --- Thomas F. Schweigert --- did not vote in favor of the raise.

THE MEASURE would hike lawmakers' salaries from $10,000 to $15,000 a year. With a $2,500 yearly expense account, this would make a two-year term in either the Senate or House worth $35,000, plus 10 cents a mile for two round trips a month from their homes to the capitol.

The bill now requires approval by 56 members of the House of Representatives and approval by Gov. George Romney before it becomes law. The increases would become effective Jan. 1, 1967.

MICHIGAN lawmakers have managed to legislate themselves into the upper income bracket in less than two decades. In 1949, the going remuneration for a seat in the Michigan legislature was $2,400. Four increases have brought the lawmakers to the top of the salary heap nationwide. At present Michigan pays the same salary as New York state, but Michigan has a far more liberal expense budget --- $2,500 a year compared to $1,000.

The "Top Ten" states insofar as salary are concerned are Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Massachusetts, Ohio, California, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Missouri. Missouri pays only $4,800 a year plus two round-trips a month at 10 cents a month, and $10 a day operations expense.

THE OTHER 40 STATES PAY LESS.

THE MAIN ARGUMENT used by the lawmakers is that if salaries are high enough, better qualified people will be attracted to government. In the main, they probably are right, but it hardly seems reasonable that a job that pays $10,000 a year this year should suddenly be worth half that much again next year.

In asking for the increase, lawmakers cited the growing length of annual sessions, more interim committee meetings, increased travel, the high cost of maintaining a home in Lansing and an office at home, and the rising costs of campaigning.

They also noted that unless action is taken now, no pay increase will be permissible under the new Constitution until the 1971-74 session. (Legislators are permitted to increase only the salaries of legislators who are elected after them, not their own.)

We grant that prices are going up, but we wish the 20 lawmakers who pushed this particular bill through the Senate had shown a little more civic responsibility. A time when the entire nation is fighting to hold down rising costs is no time for a big raise in government spending.

Furthermore, what has become of old fashioned modesty? A $500 raise might be in order. But who has ever heard of anyone earning $10,000 a year getting a $5,000 raise? Except in Lansing.

odds by FRAN MARTIN ends

Charlevoix's Grey Gables Inn received wide distribution recently, via the Ford Times, the March issue, in case you're interested...across the page from an attractive, splash painting of the Inn are two of Mrs. Daudas' favorite recipes...for Old-fashioned Apple Sauce cake and Stuffed Pork Chops, and I'll vouch for the goodness of both because I've tasted them...But then, everything she prepares is good, even if it doesn't happen to your favorite food. The pictures and recipes were among four places featured including one each from California, Oregon and Massachusetts...Good publicity for not only the Inn but Charlevoix, too...

AND SPEAKING of recipes, I'm looking for one...Back in the late 1940's when the Townes had the Courier, Mrs. T. used, in a column she did, a recipe for the most scrumptious fresh cranberry and apple relish...I remember the cranberries and apples were ground in a food chopper...but I don't know what went with it...I know it wasn't oranges. Anyway, after you let it set in the refrigerator for a few days it took on the best flavor...If any of you wonderful cooks still have it around, I'd love to have it...

CARDS this week from Charlevoix-ans-on-the-go... From the Harley Ochs a note from Glendale, Calif., where they'd been seeing the sights with the Charlie Emreys, former residents who've lived in the west for years...Mrs. O. concludes with "Great country but wouldn't trade it for Charlevoix"...And from Montego Bay, Jamaica, a card from Betty and Greg Shadko who flew over to the islands from Miami...While there she ran into one of our summer residents, Mrs. Bent of the Chicago Club...She said the beaches were wonderful but they decided Charlevoix beaches were better...certainly less crowded...From Polson, Mont., a note from the Pete Nelson who is spending some time at his ranch before returning to their Cherry St. address early next month...They spent the winter in the Southwest and when she wrote this, they'd traveled 6,800 miles since leaving here after the holidays...

TELL ME, are cow birds usually found in this area? I've read about them but don't remember having seen one...If they don't usually come here, they're here now, according to Art Osborn who said he and Mrs. O. were at the Curt Burlins one night last week when a flock of about 100 descended on the Burlins' yard...They're the birds that lay their eggs in the nests of other birds and when the cow bird egg hatches out, the young monster, larger than the other birds, destroy the rightful occupants or boot them out of the nest leaving the mother robin or whatever it happens to be with a single cow bird to rear...I hate to think what that will do to our bird population...

I THINK everyone was saddened last week by the death of Dr. Joseph Madgy, founder of the National Music Camp at Interlochen...There aren't words to relate what he did for youth and music...Unless you've been there and watched and heard these youngsters in action you can't believe what that camp has done...One can only say that he was a man with a dream...who had the courage and the tenacity to make it come true...I am sure the National Music Camp and what it represents will long stand as a memorial to this great American...

AND HOW ABOUT that beautiful, gentle rain we had last week?...What with everything under-dry, we need even more...I hear one person saying "rain, rain, go away...Come again another day" I'm going to put a hex on 'em...Now if it would only stay warm, it would mean spring flowers, more smelt and mushrooms...So keep your fingers crossed...

WEREN'T you excited about LexaLite winning the Product of the Year award for the county...I really never knew too much about the place and never got very excited about it till I had an opportunity recently to get the background on the plant and to find out what LexaLite is all about...They really have a product there...and it sounds as tho' the company will be growing like mad...

THOUGH the weather hasn't been very spring-like, I understand it's been more than a bit of a trial for making maple syrup...which means cold nights and warm days to make the sap run...A total count isn't available yet, but it will far surpass last year which was an especially poor year for the golden goodness...The Kivans have worked hard...they always do, on this project...so I hope it proves to be a lucrative year for them.

Charlevoix of Yesteryear

SPRING in Charlevoix used to mean muddy streets and wagon ruts. The Bridge Street photo above was taken in 1898, looking north from Antrim Street. Note that the stores are mostly on the east side of the street. Today, business has shifted to the west side, leaving the lake front for recreation.

THIS PICTURE taken in 1901 shows one of the early swivel bridges across Pine River Channel. The steel structure was located at the same spot as the present draw bridge.

Few books have caused more consternation among America's school marm's than Bel Kaufman's delightful "Up the Down Staircase." The main trouble with the book so far as teachers are concerned is that it comes too darn close to the truth to be comfortable.

California's Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty ripped education up one side and down the other with his "Suffer the Little Children," winning friends or making enemies, depending on the reader's particular brand of educational philosophy. Miss Kaufman, on the other hand, strikes so dangerously close to home that at least one teacher I know couldn't read past page 44.

ESSENTIALLY, "Up the Down Staircase" is a random sampling of notes, letters, memos, and other communications that a teacher collects in the pursuit of her trade in a large consolidated school district. This particular school is in New York City. But it could have been anywhere.

The central thesis of the book is that teachers today simply do not have time to teach---a condition so prevalent in the nation's schools that the phrase is beginning to sound hackneyed. Large schools have destroyed the intimacy which once existed between the mentor and her charges. Instead of being responsible for teaching Johnny something, today's teachers are responsible only for living in accordance with official directives from everybody from the President on down to the school janitor.

THE SITUATION has been complicated by employment, building, throughout the educational hierarchy. Every department has a research project going on with forms to be filled out; the school psychiatrist and the school nurse vie with teachers for a share of the students' time; complicated attendance rolls must be completed periodically to make the school eligible for state assistance; time once spent on academic subjects has been eroded by a growing field of non-academic classes and extra-curricular activities.

Students---bless 'em---are quick to sense the cross purpose of teachers and administration and use the conflict as an excuse for not doing anything. The social aspects of acquiring an education have come crowding to the fore, while the teacher, if she still gives a damn, can do little more than wring her hands and fill out another report. Needless to say, respect for teachers and education generally has deteriorated grievously.

tion generally has deteriorated grievously.

MISS KAUFMAN has done a fine job of marshaling together a wealth of unrelated material and arranging it into a meaningful whole. The critics are unanimous in applauding Miss Kaufman's work as some kind of funny book. "I loved it!" I chuckled, I roared, I wept. It became a part of me. It's a must," cried the front cover blurb. "So rich in humor that you can open it anywhere and smile," John Barkham of the Saturday Review Syndicate is quoted as saying on the back. Apparently they have missed the point. The book is funny, to be sure, but the humor is only incidental to Miss Kaufman's important criticism of our public schools.

For confirmation, why not check with your favorite teacher (not during school hours, please) and find out if she really has time to teach between collecting money for lunch lunches keeping a file of CA-39's up to date.

IT'S TIME for the manufacturers of pressurized spray cans to come up with distinctive shapes for each of the various kinds of products they squeeze into them. I read not long ago about a woman in Florida who was bothered by a mosquito one night as she tried to sleep. Without turning on the light, she grabbed what she thought was a spray can of insecticide and gave her bedroom a good going-over. In the morning she was aghast to see she had used a can of red paint instead.

My mother once had a similar experience. She was bothered by bugs buzzing at the window screen and grabbed the closest pressurized can handy. In the morning she discovered she had done the bugs in with spray starch. They weren't exactly dead, but they certainly had rigor mortis.

THE OTHER night, Ted Ager at the Argonne had some trouble with the plumbing in the men's john. Before the plumber arrived he ran in with what he thought was a can of disinfectant to give the area a better bouquet. Instead he used Fly-Ded and almost eradicated the next few callers.

One morning last week a Charlevoix newspaper advertising salesman had a pretty sad experience with a spray can. Half awake and operating pretty much by touch, he raised his arm to apply a whiff of deodorant. You can imagine his surprise when he found he had deposited a dollop of shaving cream in his armpit.

Editor,
Charlevoix Courier

Dear Sir:

In Wednesday's issue April 13 your editorial "Help Wanted: Medical Examiner" was timely. It would appear the Michigan Bar Association is lacking in its usual public service in not promoting this needed state-wide remedial legislation as they have in other phases of law enforcement in the state. May your editorial stimulate interest and result in needed action this session of the State Legislature.

The Scottish verdict "Not proven" was never satisfactory.

all parts of a school district be contiguous. This would mean that Charlevoix would have to bring Banks Township into the district too.
2. State law further limits the amount of one school district that may be annexed to another to 10 percent of assessed valuation. Since a large percentage of Central Lake valuation lies in the East Port area, only a small parcel could join Charlevoix at one time.

THE CHARLEVOIX Board, which has officially protested the proposed merger of Central Lake, Ellsworth and East Jordan, would like to find some way to increase enrollment in Charlevoix.
"We've got to have more students if we're going to do the job we're supposed to do," Board President Burr Blanchard told the East Port delegation.
Superintendent Rex Milligan suggested that the East Port people ask for permission to meet with Intermediate School District Superintendent Charles A. Robinson to see what can be worked out.

Mental Health Week Slated

May 1 through 7 has been declared Mental Health Week throughout the state.
Mrs. Max Hosmer, a member of the Petoskey Child Guidance Clinic Corporation, says a special display of books relating to mental health will be shown at the Charlevoix Library all week.

"AN IDEAL setting for good mental health is a community that is alert to social, moral and physical dangers," Mrs. Hosmer said.
"We in Charlevoix are extremely fortunate to have the physical attributes conducive to good mental health, but we must not be content with physical aspects alone. We all have a responsibility to contribute to the prevailing emotional atmosphere."
The books on display will play up the positive side of good mental health, rather than mental illness, she added.

Smith said he woke his wife up to corroborate the sighting.

A similar object was sighted at South Haven traveling north over the Lake about midnight Sunday.
Gordon Neff of Norwood also reported seeing UFO's Sunday night.

Monday, a party of saucer watchers camped at the foot of Bells Bay Road, but the night was overcast and no sightings were reported.

A group of Coast Guard wives returning from Mackinaw Monday night, however, reported seeing a large, red object just west of the Peninsula.

Mrs. Lanny McLaughlin, Mrs. John Schumacher and Mrs. Tim Watts said they saw the glowing red UFO approach from the north over Little Traverse Bay, circle over Boyne City and return to the lake over Charlevoix.

The sighting was made between 12:30 and 1 a.m. They were unable to determine the altitude of the object.

Apartment Plan Killed

Council Rejects Zoning Change

Charlevoix City Council Monday night turned down a zoning change request which would have permitted construction of a $600,000 apartment building on Round Lake.

Approximately 40 people attended the meeting from as far away as Cincinnati, Ohio, to protest the change or speak in favor of it.

Jim Davis, the Detroit area auto dealer who planned to build the apartment, was unable to attend the meeting because of the illness of his 16-month-old son who was hospitalized with a respiratory infection in Detroit.

CHARLEVOIX Attorney Robert Hoffman and David Miller asked to have the matter postponed until Davis could present his side of the story, but the motion was denied because so many of the visitors had traveled so far to attend the meeting.

Spokesman for the opposition was Charlevoix Attorney Norman D. Ance, who said he represented many Chicago Club clients who object to having an apartment built near their grounds.

He said the property has only 137 feet frontage instead of the 300 feet stated in last week's Council action and that the site could hardly accommodate an apartment building without crowding.

"IT IS BIG enough for two fine residences, but not an apartment," he said.

After establishing that Davis had not contacted any of the adjoining property owners about his plans, Ance reiterated the idea expressed two weeks ago that no zoning changes have ever been made in Charlevoix without the approval of the next door neighbors.

"This isn't something the Council has latched onto because they like to stay with the old ways," he said. He added Continued on page 12

THE ZONING was changed from R-2 to R-3 during World War II to permit construction of wooden boats and fabrication of canvas products.

The property is presently leased to Fredman Aircraft Engineering Corp.

Owner Gordon Fredman says that his customers have miscellaneous equipment stored in the building but that no manufacturing or painting is being done, "unless you call nailing a few pieces of wood together manufacturing."

MAYOR William Fochtman asked City Attorney John Michael to look into the company's operations at the site to determine if a zoning infraction exists.

McDaniels said he believes the plant is serving to discourage further residential construction in the neighborhood. He said heavy trucks visit the plant regularly and seven or eight cars are parked outside every day.

The scholarships pay $100 toward the $125 tuition at the music camp.

These scholarships are provided annually by the Band Parent Organization with money raised by band dinners and a candy sale.

Chamber Chat

By ARCHIE DAYTON
Chamber of Commerce Manager

Some time ago the Chamber of Commerce had a report in the Charlevoix Courier concerning the possible number of construction workers to be employed on the Medusa project and the approximate period of time they would be employed.

Following is a report on the number of Medusa employees who will move into this area. Any data at this time is of course of necessity theoretical and approximate, but should be helpful despite the limitations.

THE WORK-FORCE at the Charlevoix plant will consist of 60 hourly rated and 15 salaried employees, all male, with the possible exception of a clerk-typist in the office. Manpower will start to build up at the job site Feb. 15, 1967 and will be complete by June 1, 1967. This is according to schedule.

Based on a representative sample of the present work force, these 75 employees will average 3.6 dependents each or a total of 270 dependents. The range covered is from five employees with no dependents to one employee with 12 dependents.

Summer School Slated

A summer school program will be held at the elementary school the month of July, according to Principal Glenn Snider.

In addition to reading and arithmetic, which were offered last year, the school also will have a course in science and two art classes.

A LANGUAGE course may be offered if a teacher is available, he said.

Snider said classes will begin July 5 and continue through the end of the month. Hours are 8 a.m. until 11 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Tuition will be $20 for school district residents, $30 for non-residents.

Registration forms will be available shortly at the elementary schools.

THREE SESSIONS of driving classes will start at the High School June 13, according to Superintendent Rex Milligan. The instruction will probably continue two months.

Vane Smith, who taught driving in Charlevoix last summer, will return as one of the instructors, Milligan

A Castle In Our Dreams

There is a castle in our dreams where we take secrets and our most cherished hopes and ambitions. We may repair to it when the World of reality has misunderstood, has been cruel and unkind. Within the walls of this castle of ours, safe from prying eyes, we can map plans for the realization of our hopes and ambitions. To do this correctly we must have proper focus, proper directives and self disciplining. In other words our ambitions must be worthwhile, directed toward the right goal by a functioning conscience.

Here is where the Church comes in. It will point the way. It will furnish directives—rules and guides of faith. And it will help us discipline ourselves, if we attend regularly and call upon it for help and strength, to the end that we can always repair to our castle of dreams and live with ourselves.

Seaman Hensley Leaves Pacific

Seaman Apprentice Jerry P. Hensley, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hensley of 118 Betvedere Ave., has returned from duty in the Western Pacific off the coast of Vietnam aboard the dock landing ship USS Monticello.

While deployed, Monticello participated in numerous support actions against the ene-my, and took part in Opera-tion Double Eagle, the largest amphibious offensive since the Korean war.

During that operation, Ma-rines would again board the ship in groups for such lux-

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

Round Lake Remains Unchanged

The people of Charlevoix and members of her summer colony have made their wishes known.

There shall be no apartment house on the shores of Round Lake.

The decision was made at Monday's Council meeting attended by about 40 visitors. Many were members of the Chicago Club who traveled from as far away as Cincinnati to attend the meeting.

IN THE BEST American democratic tradition they spelled out the reasons why a $600,000 apartment project would be detrimental to the development of Charlevoix. They were answered by townspeople who feel the city could use the additional tax base.

Word was also brought to the meeting by Mayor William Fochtman that the planning firm Williams and Works did not endorse the move, on grounds that the site is too small for the size of project under consideration.

Even before it came to a vote, it was apparent which argument carried the most weight. The Council's four-to-two vote against the apartment merely confirmed what everyone knew already.

The Courier can only echo the sentiments expressed by one of the visitors at the close of the meeting:

"I hope someday we can get our city planning straightened out to the point where every issue of the Courier doesn't bring word of new zoning infractions.

The remark was met with applause throughout the Council Chamber, to which we would like to add a hearty, "Amen."

Clean-Up Time in Charlevoix

At noon today the city will be mid-way in its annual "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up" campaign and already the old town is taking on a snappier outlook.

Curbs along many streets have been lined with disposable cartons filled with everything from fractured Victrola records from the 1920's to last year's irreparable Christmas toys. If volume of refuse carted away is any indication, there are plenty of clean homes in Charlevoix this week.

FURTHERMORE, backyards that had acquired that "lived in" look over the winter are beginning to appear as though they might actually produce a few flowers in a month or so.

Although an annual clean-up week is beneficial to the community as a whole, it is doubly important to the householder who really takes it to heart. Refuse collected in basements, attics and porches is often a starting place for fire. And even if fire doesn't start there, it will certainly burn there.

Other advantages --- such as being able to navigate around the basement without skinning your shins on Aunt Hetty's clothes boiler --- are too numerous to mention. It is surprising how many relics of a by-gone age are stashed away in corners by persons who hope to keep them until they become antiques.

Fortunately, the City of Charlevoix has a warm spot for antiques, too. It's called the dump.

WHEN THE CURRENT drive is over, the City Fathers might find it worth their while to take a long look around town at some of the dilapidated, uncoccupied buildings which have been marring the landscape altogether too long. A little official nudge from City Hall might get the owners to pull them down.

CLEAN-UP week, of course, never ends in a city like Charlevoix that depends so heavily on putting up a good appearance for the tourist trade. We are just fortunate that Nature has given Charlevoix a head-start in the beauty department. Keeping it that way should be duck soup.

to cancer patients.

The drive is being co-ordinated locally by Mrs. Jack Rader and Mrs. E.D. Mason.

Both activities certainly are worthy of the interest and support of Charlevoixans. Off hand, it's difficult to think of two other maladies which cause more anguish to patients and their families than mental illness and cancer.

Your gifts and interest will be appreciated.

Two Worthwhile Activities

Two highly worthwhile activities are under way this week in the city.

One is the annual observance of Mental Health Week, which is being marked by a display of specially selected books in the library. Mrs. Max Hosmer is in charge.

The other is the Cancer Crusade which will attempt to raise $1,253 in the city. The money will be used not only in cancer research, but also for direct aid

Clockwise

Let's have a show of hands of everyone who has seen a flying saucer. There, that's fine. Now, everyone who hasn't seen a flying saucer, Hmmm. Not many of you left, are there?

It used to be pretty hard to admit that you had seen a UFO.

The first time I saw one was in 1954 and it took me two weeks before I had enough courage to tell anyone. Even then I got laughed right out of the county.

Lately, however, reports of UFO's are so common that you're something of an oddity if you haven't seen something you can't explain dancing around in our evening skies.

THE DESCRIPTIONS are pretty much the same. Objects at a distance appear to be beacons, flashing red, green and yellowish lights. Close up they are oblong with vertical light bands. Most people agree there is no sound connected with them, and that their movements are erratic; darting, dashing and dipping in no particular pattern. Those who have observed more than one at a time insist they fly in formation.

Some folks have seen the objects so close they appear ready to land. Others have been disturbed at night by brilliant lights shining in their bedroom windows. Some saucer fanatics have posted watches along the Lake Michigan shore at night to keep track of them.

FORTUNATELY Charlevoix is not the only community where saucers are frequent visitors. If it were, the sightings might be written off as a severe case of mass "cabin fever" after a long, cold winter.

Particularly heartening was a UFO report bannered in last week's Tecumseh Herald. A farmer near Tecumseh, Noble Gregg by name, saw a UFO about 6 p.m. April 12.

Mr. Gregg said that the glow from the so-called flying saucer was so brilliant that he could barely look at it for fear of harming his eyes.

MR. GREGG said, "They turned the light right down on me and I waved my hand at 'em."

I was glad to hear that Mr. Gregg was friendly enough to wave "Hello" after all the talk around Charlevoix about taking rifles along on the next viewing party.

Mr. Gregg said the strange visitor made three passes over his farm, appeared to settle in a nearby woodlot and finally moved off after about 20 minutes.

Several other Tecumseh residents have reported strange cigar-shaped objects with red and green lights hovering about in the night air. Their sightings are so similar to the UFO reports from Charlevoix that they scarcely bear repeating.

FURTHER corroboration of the saucer sightings comes this month from no less a source than the Reader's Digest. An article in the May edition, entitled "Outer Space Ghost Story", relates how saucers have terrorized the town of Exeter, N. H. There, huge, red, glowing, pulsating objects have made it a practice to follow pedestrians and motorists late at night, trailing within a few feet of some vehicles.

Animals near Exeter seem to have a sixth-sense where saucers are concerned. Dogs howl and horses whinny on nights when saucers are abroad. The objects usually fit traditional saucer descriptions --- multi-colored lights with red predominating. Most viewers say the machines are soundless, although one boy said he heard a humming, "like a cat purring." Many housewives have reported multiple sightings.

PROBABLY the most fantastic of the Exeter sightings was the report of Joseph Jalbert, 16, a high school junior. Jalbert, who lives near power lines, said he saw a saucer hovering high in the sky one evening. Suddenly, a smaller object broke away and descended slowly to earth, stopping within 200 feet of him, above the power line. "Then, very slowly, a silvery, pipe-like extension descended from the disk until it touched the wire. It remained in contact with the power line for several seconds, then was retracted into the disk. Finally, the disk took off toward the sky at a tremendous speed and disappeared inside the cigar-shaped object again," according to the Reader's Digest account.

No matter what the final explanation, the saucers are providing no end of spine-chilling reading.

AT THIS POINT, the conclusion seems to be that there definitely are unidentified flying objects in our midst. It is generally hoped they are a product of our defense efforts and when the time is right, we'll all be let in on the secret. I for one am going to keep right on believing this until the first little green man pulls a ray-gun on me.

All of northern Michigan received quite a jolt last week when a couple inches of snow greeted early risers. . . It had been cold and clear the night before and a crisp, frosty snow, which continued to fall until mid-morning, was this last thing anyone expected. . .

What with all sorts of spring flowers, from daffodils and hyacinths to the many wildflowers that dot the countryside in full bloom, everyone had the idea that spring had arrived. . . But I've discovered that in this northern climate, just about anything can happen, weather-wise, and usually does. . .

IF YOU'RE a resident of this community, you'll know that the latest outdoor sports are UFO watching. . . Me? I haven't sighted any yet but many people I know have. . . There are those who scoff at the idea that these people are actually seeing something in the sky. . . most scoffers say it's merely stars that are there all the time. . . but I'm convinced it's more than that because the people I've talked with are reliable persons who aren't given to seeing things that aren't there. . . However, I'm not saying that the UFO's are from outer space. . . I think that there's an explanation for them and that one of these days we're going to get it. . . Meanwhile, northern Michigan residents will have fun searching the sky for them and swapping stories with friends who've had the good fortune to sight one. . . And one of these days, you just wait and see, we'll find out what it's all about. . .

WHILE UFO spotters are looking up, there are those who find more fun in looking down as they roam the woods seeking the elusive morel. . . Haven't heard of anyone finding too many yet, but it takes some warm weather and that we haven't had for more than a day at a time. . . And there's the rub. . . I understand a few have been found but, like mushrooms, they're also hard to find. . .

A BIG "Well done" is due a small group of Girl Scouts from the Crooked Tree Council which takes in our own girls. . . Just recently the council hosted a regional meeting of Scouts and Scouters at Traverse City. . . and 45 Senior Girl Scouts from the council planned and executed the entire thing. . . and don't forget that these girls are scattered from Cadillac and Manistee in the South to the Straits. . . Girl Scouts from four states and their adult leaders had nothing but praise for the way the conference was handled.

And to top it all off, Charlevoix's own Sherri Darby captured the Pajama Queen title. . . quite an honor when you consider she was competing with some 199 other Girl Scouts. . . I might add that Mrs. Jack Rader is Senior Girl Scout leader here . . . and has been with this group of Scouts for several years. . .

CHARLEVOIX's going to be host tomorrow (Thursday) to one of my favorite events. . . the Massed Band Festival. . . There'll be a number of visiting bands and if the festival follows its regular format, there'll be the regular appearances of the band before a guest director, a parade through the business district during the afternoon, a rehearsal of the massed band and then a concert at the high school gym during the evening. . . It's one of the most pleasing of all area events. . . and a great thrill to see these kids putting the best foot forward as they appear in concert and later on in the parade massed concert. . . I hope you'll find it as enjoyable as I do. . . Speaking of the band, I'm told the going was really rough at Flint recently when they participated in state competition. . . and yet they came out of the festival with a first division rating. . . Thanks to a great director, "Odie" Odmark, who has what it takes to bring out the best in his young musicians. . .

I HOPE YOU won't mind if I mention him again but I've been given some more info on Ang Lorenzo and his song "Sleepy Time Gal" which was written at Harbor Springs. . . I wondered why I hadn't heard from Lewis Julleriet because I'm sure he had had something to do with the place where it was written in Harbor. . . He called when he returned from Florida and said that it was his father's place and that he had worked there at the time. . . Seems that the name of the band was the Tunesmiths and they came to Harbor in the first place to play at a hotel. . . However, that didn't go over and they were about to leave town when Mr. J's father engaged them. . . After all, they were among the musicians gathered at Julleriet's nightly for what's now called a jam session.

Charlevoix of Yesteryear

TIME WAS when the present hospital site was a "hospitable sight" to hundreds of weary travelers. The city campground was located where the hospital now stands. Campers could pitch a tent (above) and sleep at night within sound of the pounding surf. Groundskeeper (left) was Hugh "Dad" Brady who built most of the campground facilities himself, including several kitchen shelters. The camp recreation room below has had a long history. When the camp closed, it became the airport terminal. Now it is a Girl Scout cabin in Marion Township.

Governor Romney Reports

Michigan could be plunged into a major financial crisis if the legislature persists in its current reckless spending course.

Midway through the 1966 Legislative session, preliminary actions in both houses of the legislature would increase my budget recommendations for next year by approximately $75 million and would give Michigan its first billion dollar budget--at least $1,020,000,000. This proposed increase is in addition to my recommended increase of $126.6 million and would result in a total increase of over $200 million in a single year.

IF SUCH a budget were ever adopted, our entire surplus would be wiped out. Michigan would be millions in the red (which is unconstitutional), and we would be put in a position of deficit spending by as much as $142 million for the 1966-67 budget year. This would further set the stage for a deficit of close to a quarter of a billion dollars for 1967-68.

For a legislature which has consistently refused to face squarely the issue of state revenue inequities and future needs even to consider spending actions now which would lead to deficit and crisis is the height of irresponsibility.

NOR SHOULD the future financial needs of the people of Michigan be met by more "patchwork taxation." The state's entire tax structure needs reform. To date there has been no indication that the Democratic leaders of this legislature are any more ready to undertake tax reform now than they were last fall, when they refused even to consider a bipartisan program developed by representatives of both political parties.

It doesn't take ability to test anyone's capacity to spend a lot of money, particularly the public's. The real test of capacity is to spend wisely to spend within the limits of sound financial policy, and to make the most of what is spent. These are qualities that count both inside and outside the public arena.

THE BUDGET I presented reflects both fiscal responsibility and program responsibility. It is in the tradition of past budgets of this administration; it is both prudent and progressive. It would substantially improve the level of services in all important areas and would reasonably meet state needs.

Fortunately, budget totals in the house of origin can seldom be considered final action; generally they are reduced. Fortunately, there are legislators from both sides of the aisle who are concerned about the reckless size of these tentative budget totals. But to avoid financial difficulty, they will need strong public support in bringing the final budget back to a sound basis.

From The Pulpit

(This is the first in a series of reports on Charlevoix church sermons.)

How faith in God sustained Paul during a shipwreck in the Mediterranean Sea was the inspiration for Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen's sermon Sunday at the Congregational Church. Rev. Tenhopen said he is reading a book on Paul, and had to skip to the final chapters for information on the shipwreck which dramatically pointed out how faith in God helped Paul throughout the ordeal. He was also able to offer hope and encouragement to his fellow passengers. Rev. Tenhopen entitled his sermon "Possessed of God."

IT SEEMS PAUL was enroute to Rome to appear before Caesar when the ship was caught in high winds off Crete Paul warned the captain that cargo and lives were in danger, but the captain persisted on his course. When a gale erupted out of the northeast, the men were forced to throw the cargo overboard and finally jettisoned the ship's tackle.

Finally, at the crest of the storm, Paul allayed the fears of his fellow travelers by telling them that the Angel of the Lord appeared to him during the night and assured him that no lives would be lost, that he would live to appear in Rome, as destiny had decreed.

REV. TENHOPEN said the episode strengthened Paul's belief that he was protected and guided by the Christian God. The pastor contrasted Paul's belief in divine guidance with what he called the "mechanical concept" of life, a doctrine which claims that life exists without God, that living is a "biological accident to a purposeless world."

AS EXPONENTS of the mechanical concept, he cited a modernistic poet and a mother from De Kalb, Ill. The poet, he said, summed up existence by writing: "We splatter against the filthy windshield of speeding Time without a driver."

The mother expressed her mechanistic views when she protested to a simple grace which referred to God only indirectly which her child was asked to recite before eating crackers and milk at school. Rev. Tenhopen indicated that such people have divorced themselves from the kind of "relationship of intimacy" with God which sustained Paul during the shipwreck, a relationship which is so total that the believer is "possessed of God."

HE CITED Tolstoy's belief that "to know God and to love are one and the same thing." The Senior Choir, directed by Clarence Odmark, sang "My Father's World," "I Decline Thine Ear to Me," "Take My Life and Let It Be," and "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty."

Reject Apartment

that Davis is simply asking for special treatment under Charlevoix's zoning laws.

ANCE SAID the project would bring unwelcome traffic to the neighborhood and create a smoke nuisance with fireplace chimneys.

Furthermore, he said the city has no guarantee that the property won't be sold after the zoning change, pointing out that other things besides apartments are permitted in R-2, the zoning designation sought by Davis.

He charged the Council was not objective in its selection of a photo of the property last week which showed the shoreline cluttered with driftwood. He said the property has many line birch and pine trees.

W. R. DICKINSON, president of the Chicago Club, objected to what he called "spot zoning," and said that the Club is in the process of rejuvenation, with several year-round cottages in the planning stage.

Mrs. Virginia Olson introduced herself by saying she was no stranger to the Council, having appeared before to "protect R-1 zoning." She said there are plenty of R-2 areas in the city where an apartment might be built.

Robert Pugh, who lives at Mercer and Chicago, said he thought the apartment would spoil the aesthetics of Charlevoix, claiming it is one of the finest resorts in not only Michigan but the whole country.

"YOU'RE ONLY blackening the picture," he told supporters of the zoning change.

J. L. Elliott said he bought and built on property west of the contested site because the whole area was zoned R-1. He said it was not fair to the neighborhood to re-zone part of it R-2.

Bill Supernaw spoke out in favor of the apartment. He said people who live in apartments appreciate attractive scenery as much as those who live in private dwellings.

HE CLAIMED that both the Chicago Club and the Belvedere Club are past their prime, and that the city could use the additional housing as well as the larger tax base it would provide.

ANDY ESSENBERG reminded the Council that their only concern in the matter is "the betterment of Charlevoix."

Mayor William Fochtman said he had checked with the planning firm Williams and Works on the proposed zoning change. He was told that good locations are necessary for the construction of apartment buildings. However, the firm would not recommend a change in the Round Lake zoning because the site is not large enough for the proposed project.

WHEN THE motion came to a vote, Aldermen Bob Neff, Jack Mol, Del Terrill and Jerry Whitley voted against the change, and Aldermen Bob Gill and Nathan Boss voted in favor of it.

Earlier, Davis said that if the motion were defeated, he had no intention of appealing.
"I WANT to leave my ulcers with my other troubles in the city," he said.
Davis is liquidating his auto dealership in Wayne and plans to move to the Charlevoix area. He said there is a good possibility he'll build a home for his family on the contested site.

competition with his Palace Theater.

The Community Reformed Church recently presented a film, Vietnam Profile, at Charlevoix High School. The movie was free, but a collection was taken.

Taylor said city ordinance requires him to pay an entertainment tax of 30 cents a year for every seat in his theater, whereas churches are tax-exempt.

"If the Charlevoix churches are going into the 'Movie Business,' we are seriously considering a tax-in-withome religious organization to eliminate all our taxes," Taylor wrote the Council.
"In all seriousness, Gentlemen, we feel this type of competition is very unfair and unjust; on the other hand (we) have no desire to antagonize the fine Charlevoix people."

Mayor Fochtman asked City Attorney John Michael to draft an answer to Taylor's letter.

The Council also agreed to pay $200 in back salary to former assessor Larry Feindt.

USEFUL, NOT JUST ORNAMENTAL

The Church has a very definite function to perform. A function that is as definite as that of the weather vane in indicating the direction of the prevailing winds.

It is the function of the church to train and furnish growth for the soul. In performing this primary function it aids the human race in other ways, not the least of these being charity dispensation. It does this most effectively when well supported by attendance and financial aid. Thus, it is clear that the church needs you and that you need the church. If you are not already doing so, do something about that need immediately!

The low-priced high-price car.

Low-priced because it's a Catalina with a sticker that's within reach of a lot of low-priced car buyers. High-priced because it has the Pontiac name and everything that goes with it. Like a full 121 inches of road-leveling wheelbase. And 50 more standard horsepower than those low-priced cars offer. And steady Wide-Track ride and handling. With luxurious interiors you practically sink up to your knees in. (And, of course, standard safety items like a padded dashboard.) All backed up by Pontiac's legendary resale value that makes such exciting reading in the record books year after year. Makes you wonder why anybody would buy a low-priced car when you can get a Pontiac Catalina for the same money.

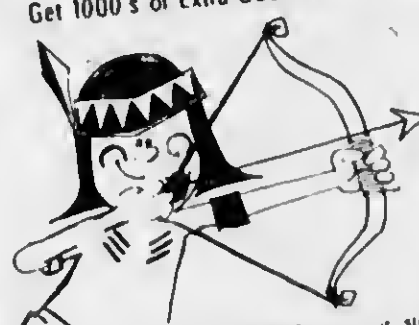

Wide-Track Pontiac Catalina
(A big, powerful Pontiac for less than $3000*)

*Manufacturer's suggested list price for Catalina 2-door 4-door hardtop and 4-door hardtop with air conditioning. Excludes taxes, license, title and destination charge. Transportation charge extra. See your authorized Pontiac dealer.

Parents Warned

Cases on Increase Child Molestation

Emphasizing that child molesting incidents increase in spring and summer when children are outdoors more, State Police Sgt. Jack Brouard, commander of the Petoskey post, advised parents to caution youngsters about possible danger from strangers.

In a seasonal reminder on this problem, Sergeant Brouard said the State Police last year received 547 complaints of sex offenses, which included incidents of child molesting with most occurring in warm weather months.

SIMILAR incidents are reported to other police departments and many, usually because of an unwarranted fear of publicity, are not reported at all.

Parents should know where their children are outdoors and children should make no important change of area without notifying parents.

Children should have companions at play, going to or from school, movies or other approved places or when running errands because a child alone may too easily become a molester's victim.

YOUNGSTERS should be told not to loiter at public rest rooms, isolated places or vacant buildings which can be high danger areas.

Parents should report any molesting incident to police because this can help check the menace. Names of young-

School Report: A Job Well Done

The Citizens Study Group investigating school needs is to be congratulated for the tremendous amount of work which has gone into the report submitted to the Board of Education Monday night.

The effort probably was the greatest single volunteer undertaking by a group of citizens in the history of Charlevoix.

EACH PAGE of the long report speaks eloquently of the long hours of committee meetings and research which have been poured into the task.

While it is doubtful that all the recomommendations of the Study Group will ever be incorporated into the school system, the report, in total, points in the direction we should be moving to keep our educational machinery abreast of the times.

Some of the recommendations can be put into effect simply by a change of policy. Others --- the vast majority --- are going to require an additional outlay of money.

The report deserves the attention of every Charlevoixan interested in the quality of education in his community.

A Cake for Lorelei Gigg

If we were in the bakery business we'd send a cake to Lorelei Gigg in recognition of the credit she has heaped upon her school, her community and herself as a member of the Future Homemakers of America.

Lorelei, a junior at Charlevoix High School, was singled out April 21 to receive the State Homemakers Degree, the highest award offered by the FHA. The presentation was made at the State Convention in Grand Rapids.

FOR OUR MONEY, homemaking courses and related FHA activities constitute the most important training many girls receive in high school.

Of course we are well aware that horizons for women have been broadening continually since the days of Susan B. Anthony. Today women play important roles in all avenues of business, industry and commerce.

Yet woman's major role in the United States and throughout the world is maintaining the home -- preparing the meals, doing the dishes, making sure the kids have clean clothes to wear, taking care of the sleek, selecting furniture, overseeing home decoration and pretty much determining the role her family plays socially in the community.

Hazards Stalk Youngsters

More children are hit by cars in May than in any other month in the year, according to the Detroit Traffic Safety Association.

One doesn't have to look too far for the reason why more young blood is spilled on streets and highways during this particular month.

Warm weather suddenly frees youngsters from the confines of home and the television set. Longer days mean more outdoor playtime.

KIDS HAVE had all winter to forget last year's good advice about not running from between parked cars or playing tag in the street.

Many little fellows who have never been on their own before suddenly have the freedom of the block. A few are going to cross the street to see what's on the other side.

BUT THAT'S only one side of the story. May is also a fine month for driving---putting the top down and tromping on the gas pedal to stir up a little breeze. Unfortunately, our residential streets are not immune from the heavy-footed show-off.

And more unfortunate, our residential streets are the very place you're going to find kids at play.

CHARLEVOIX City Police, State Police, and Sheriff's deputies are doing a splendid job in their crackdown on speeders.

But no police force on earth is capable of patrolling every street in the city every hour of every day. The job must be relegated largely to the individual driver's sense of responsibility in keeping in speed in check.

PARENTS can help by alerting their offspring to the danger that lies just over every curbstone. Very little ones should either be fenced in or kept under constant adult surveillance.

Ask anyone who has struck a child with his automobile about the nightmare that never dies. Better still, check with a parent whose child has become a traffic statistic. They both have pretty definite ideas about traffic safety---not only in May but every month of the year.

Clockwise

The trouble with me and fishing is that I'm old enough to remember the day when it used to be kid stuff.

When I was a boy our family spent the summers at one little inland lake or another in Oakland or Livingston counties. Usually we were a good, long way from the closest grocery store and my mother didn't drive. It wouldn't have done her any good if she had, because my father had the car in Detroit during the week.

This didn't bother us too much, because there was always a farmer down the road to supply us with milk and eggs and a lake out in front that was teeming with fat bass, sunfish, bluegills and perch. Needless to say, fish was a staple in our diet during the summer.

THERE REALLY wasn't much sport to it, as I recall. The cottage landlord usually had a brace of bamboo fishing poles leaning up against the eaves. Sometimes he even supplied hooks, line, sinkers and bobbers. Sometimes he didn't, but it really didn't matter because they could be picked up in town for a few pennies. Besides, it was always fun to experiment with different shaped bobbers, painted various colors. The cork ones always seemed to work best for me.

We were pretty matter of fact about our fishing, and there was no such thing as not catching any. Ma would tell us how many fish she would be needing the next day, and the job was as good as done. Sometimes, on weekends, she'd ask for as many as two dozen if there was going to be a crowd for breakfast.

WORMS WERE plentiful at the edge of the woods, and after a hot, dry afternoon you could pick up a handful of grasshoppers in any nearby hayfield just by stooping down. Finding bait was no more of a problem than catching fish.

The best fishing in the lake was usually right at the end of our dock. Just before sundown the lake would flatten out like a gridiron and thousands of fish would begin dimpling the surface as they leaped for insects.

IT WAS PEACEFUL sitting on the end of the dock, threading a reluctant worm on the hook. Our docks usually ended a few feet from the "drop off" and if you peered carefully over the edge you could see the big fish gliding in and out of the gently waving blue-black weeds.

Before we started fishing we always dangled our feet in the warm water for a few minutes, letting the minnows bite our toes. I don't know if it was the weeds or the fish, but those inland lakes had a characteristic aroma that made you feel like you were thousands of fish down there just waiting to be caught.

THE FISHING itself was pretty routine. Zing would go the line, followed by a pop as the bobber hit the water, and a plink as the startled worm and the sinker landed further out. Sometimes you had to wait a few minutes to get the fish interested, more often there'd be a tentative nibble before the line stopped falling. Once the big ones started biting, there wasn't much of an interlude between each catch. The only excitement was seeing which species would bite next. They were all beautiful, from the long, green-striped perch to the glowing, ornamental sunfish that looked like it had escaped from somebody's aquarium.

And they were all delicious.

THE BIG difference between fishing today and fishing in that by-gone age is that today fishing has become a sport. There apparently are far fewer fish than there used to be, and the survivors seem to be more sophisticated, going for all kinds of artificial lures instead of worms and grasshoppers.

But we doubt that fishermen today, with all their expensive gear and scientific bait, have any more fun than we did in the old days when we used to fish for breakfast.

It seems as though everything has its season in Charlevoix. . . from football to basketball and then track, sports-wise. . . and soon there'll be softball. . .

But in between, other things seem to have their own special season. . . and right now it happens to be devoted to music. . . On Thursday, Charlevoix had the good fortune to be host to the annual band festival. . . It doesn't seem too many years ago that the event was so small that all bands gathered in one place. . . This year the increased number of bands and the number of students involved made it necessary to hold four festivals. . . all of which speaks well for the music program in area schools. . .

It's a thrilling experience to see these youngsters on the stage and to hear them in concert. . . and when more than 300 kids give their all, watch out. . . Looking at these youngsters who take such pride in their accomplishments, it makes me sad that there are so many others who lack this. . . not only in music but in other fields of work. . . and end up in juvenile courts across the land. . . When everything is said and done, northern Michigan boasts a mighty fine group of youngsters who do themselves proud in many ways. . .

MUSIC WILL continue to rule supreme throughout the month for on Friday, Charlevoix will be host to the Wayne State University Concert Band. . . This will be music at its best and I hope you will take advantage of this opportunity. . . It will truly be something great. . . And added to that, there'll be Ron Odmark, who plays regularly with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, a brother of our own Mr. Odmark. . . I think we're mighty lucky to have such organizations visit our north country. . . You won't be sorry if you spend the time, I know. . . And to wrap up the month that seems to be dedicated to music, there'll be the band's last formal concert of the year later in the month. . . And before you know it, there'll be Memorial Day, baccalaureate and commencement. . . Where has the time gone? . . .

IT'S SPRING. . . Sure wish so much we could reform the weather man. . . The sun is shining over so brightly and one gets the idea that it's warm. . . Unless you take time to check the thermometer, you freeze to death. . . But I suppose one of these days, it will warm up and we'll all sweater till we adjust to the drastic change in the weather. . .

Congratulations to the LexaLite Corp. . . for having the Product of the Year in this region. . . A real fine performance for such a youngster in the business. . . This is the company's first plant of its own. . . I had occasion to find out a lot about their product. . . It seems to be it's one of those one-in-a-lifetime deals. . . Something waiting to be used. . . Like the polycarbonate. . . something that's apparently been around for a long time before LexaLite engineers found a most unusual use for it. . . And now that it's been perfected, everyone's yelling for the globes and refractors. . . Gee, to have a little imagination. . .

WHAT DO YOU think of the new styles. . . I mean for girls and dolls. . . Or aren't you interested? . . . Though I'm not interested in making the Best Dressed list, I always take a look-see at the fashion pages and certainly a second look at some of the latest styles. . . I have just one comment to make about them. . . If you've the figure for 'em, wear 'em. . . but look twice in a good mirror before you decide they're for you. . .

DESPITE the weather, it's beginning to look a lot like spring around the village. . . With lawns being raked, flower beds uncovered, sniffers coming down. . . and in some yards, hard working gardeners are defying the weather and planting helpless little seeds in the hopes that they'll do their job. . . We have two such people in our neighborhood. . . But I must admit that they come up with some mighty fine results of their hard work. . . Mighty tasty, too. . .

AND NOW COMES the time for the students who will be graduating from good old C.H.S. . . Congratulations are in order for the honor students as well as the remainder of the class. . . From now on there will be numerous events honoring the group. . . who, though they may not realize it, are about to say goodbye to some of their finest years. . .

I got quite an education recently when I worked on the school survey that was being made to determine the community's needs which are becoming more demanding by the day. . . I worked on only one small division, vocational education. . . there were numerous others, all of which will be reviewed at the P.T.A. meeting tonight.

Early Area Poet Drew Inspiration From Lake

Apparently spring in the Charlevoix area always has been a fascinating time of year.

Following are two poems written more than 50 years ago by the Rev. Warren W. Lamport, a Methodist minister at Mancelona, who was a frequent visitor to the area. The "Pine Lake" referred to is, of course, Lake Charlevoix.

The Rev. Lamport was an uncle of Mrs. Ruth Belding of Charlevoix. These two poems first appeared in the Charlevoix County Herald, now the East Jordan News-Herald.

The Waking of the Northland

The slowly northing sun again
Calls softly to the slumbering hills,
The arbutus, waking in the glen,
For joy her cup of fragrance spills.

The wanton wind a wand'ring goes
Along the Valley's rugged side,
If he may find the sweet wild-rose
And woo her for his blushing bride.

From out its antril cradle springs
The Jordan for its lakeward run,
And to the bending willow sings,
Of summer's joyous reign begun.

Adown the swiftly flowing stream
Dances again the light canoe;
And in the sunshine's golden gleam
The troutman whips the tide anew.

From yonder deadened hemlock tree
The sable crow sounds his alarm;
And on her snowy plonions free
Slowly the gull wheels o'er the Arm,

And sweetly thrills the warbler's note;
The robin sings his cheer-up song;
While bursts from many a swelling throat
The chorus of the feathered throng.

Hail, happy harbingers of spring!
Soft winds and flowers and warming streams.

All hail ye joyous birds that sing,
Responsive to the sun's bright beams.

Ye tell us of the nearing day,
That happy day so soon at hand,
When friends shall come from far away
To share anew our "summer-land."

Pine Lake

Wish I could put away
All the burden of the day;
Wish I could awhile forget
All the worry and the fret;
Wish that I could put away
All the burden of the day.

Wish I could an outing take
By some cool and pleasant lake,
Where the murmuring breezes blow,
And the lapping wavelets flow.
Wish I could an outing take
By some cool and pleasant lake.

Wish I could a-sailing go,
Sailing, sailing to and fro,
With the white foam scudding by
And the white clouds in the sky;
Wish I could a-sailing go,
Sailing, sailing to and fro.

Guess I will an outing take;
Guess I'll go up to Pine Lake;
Guess I'll spend a while up there
On the old South Arm somewhere.
Guess I will an outing take;
Guess I'll go up to Pine Lake.

Never been there, did you say?
Well then, come, let's hie away!
'Tis a most delightful spot
When the summer days are hot,
Come, and let's an outing take;
Let us go up to Pine Lake.

From The Pulpit

Whether to drink from the well of Christian faith or to slip from the shallow cistern of materialism was the question posed Sunday by Charlevoix's Methodist minister, the Rev. Leona Winegarden, to her 11 a.m. worshippers.

Rev. Winegarden chose her text from Jeremiah 2:13: "For my people have forsaken me the fountain of living waters, and hewed them out of broken cisterns that can hold no water."

REV. WINEGARDEN said the younger members of her congregation may not even know what a cistern is. She said she herself became intimately connected with cisterns when she was a child visiting her grandfather's farm in Canada.

She explained that her grandparents had a surface cistern which caught all the water from the farmhouse eaves. One of her first chores on her annual summer visits was to be lowered into the cistern by grandfather and to scrub down the walls.

She made it clear that the cistern water -- like a life devoted solely to materialism -- was shallow and unfit for drinking. She compared it to the cleaner well water which came from far down in the earth, like the deep faith of a true Christian life.

REV. WINEGARDEN retold a story by Dana Burnett which further illustrated her point. It was called "Mr. Onion."

John and Marion Thurston had a little boy named Jackie, a wealth of material blessings, a fine home -- and a strong penchant for night life. Church was not for them.

They loved their son, but it was not until he became gravely ill with pneumonia that they realized that the life they were leading left them nothing to fall back on, no God to pray to.

Yet Jackie, a boy brought up without religion, had "invented" his own "god" -- a rag doll he called Mr. Onion.

AT THE TIME of the crisis in Jackie's illness, Marion found her husband kneeling in front of the rag doll, asking that the boy's life be spared. His wish was granted.

From that time, Rev. Winegarden said, the Thurstons became new people because a new element had entered their lives -- the search for God.

She made three points: 1. Today we are living in a strongly secular culture, one that tends to wean individuals away from the spiritual life.

2. The shallow cisterns of life -- money, land, automobiles -- leave us helpless in time of spiritual need.

3. Prayer is a "well of power" through which we take up our struggles with another, "spelled with a capital 'A'."

"The great ship known as prayer has set its course on God," she concluded.

SOLOIST for the service was Mrs. Lee Moorland and Mrs. Mark White directed the Chancel Choir. The Junior Choir, directed by Mrs. Hal Hill, sang the anthem.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Sir:
I have just finished reading the Courier. I would like to thank you for your nice paper. I always find it very interesting and I enjoy every word of it. My doctor sent me up here for my health Oct. 22, 1965, and told me "No newspapers, no TV," nothing to upset me at all. In your wonderful little paper I find peace and comfort, so thank you again.

I like the name "Charlevoix the Beautiful," too, but I wish you would mention how peaceful it is. On this earth Charlevoix is the only place where it is peaceful and Charlevoix has not been ruined by man.

HERE YOU HAVE wonderful people who speak and smile on the street and friendly merchants who thank you for shopping with them.

I thank God that he guided me to Charlevoix, for here I've found peace and love from the town and its people. This is where I'll spend the rest of my life, overlooking the lake from my trailer.

May God bless you and the people of Charlevoix. I know he is.

Stanley F. Plough.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY urged Charlevoix County Republicans Monday night to welcome Democrats and Independents into their fold in order to advance GOP candidates and policies.

County Bank Adds More Directors

Charlevoix County State Bank directors have voted to increase the number of directors from eight to ten, according to President E. D. Hawley.

Hawley also has announced the resignation from the board of the senior E. J. Miller of the Charlevoix Lumber Co. and Mrs. Marian M. Bridge, widow of former bank President Robert Bridge.

THE FOUR new directors are D. D. Walker and Dayton H. Mudd of Charlevoix and St. Louis, Mo., Woodbury Ransom of Charlevoix and Kalamazoo, and E. James Miller of Charlevoix, son of the former director.

Other members of the board are Hawley, Darrell Dinwiddie, Karl Erber, Dr. G. B. Saltonstall, Maurice J. Foster, and Ralph V. Hess, all of Charlevoix.

DINWIDDIE was elected vice president, succeeding Mr. Miller.

In March, Hawley announced that Mrs. Bridge had agreed to sell controlling interest in the bank to Mr. and Mrs. Walked, Mudd, Ransom and Paul Bakewell III of St. Louis.

Democratic deficit for next year is estimated at from $75 to $90 over budget, he said.

Romney commented that he and party members in the legislature have managed to restrain attempted excesses of the legislature.

COMMENTING on the situation in Alabama where Gov. George Wallace's wife, Lurleen, has won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Romney quipped: "Bedfellows make strange politics."

Two Vacancies on School Board

Charlevoixans are reminded that two vacancies on the Charlevoix School Board will be filled in the June election. The terms of Dale Boss and Dr. Bob Tollas are expiring.

Persons interested in running for the board should submit petitions containing at least 20 valid signatures to School Board Secretary Francis Hooper before 4 p.m. May 14.

City Makes Plans for Next Festival

Preliminary plans for a Venetian Festival jam-packed with events were laid at meeting of the steering committee last Wednesday evening.

The festival this year will return to a Saturday and Sunday schedule, offering two full days of activities climaxing with the Venetian Boat Parade.

ONE OF THE biggest changes in this year's festival will be in the boat parade, according to Chamber of Commerce Manager Archie Dayton.

Instead of floats, the emphasis will be on lights, Dayton said. He hopes to have dozens of boats entered in the parade this year, compared to the handful which turned out for the last parade.

One of the interested citizens who attended the meeting was Mrs. Alina Swanson, who had several construction ideas to offer.

SHE SAID every effort should be made to line Bridge Street at East Park with booths, with the emphasis on "things to do."

She also suggested that a hootenanny be held in connection with the festival and that a "Citizen's Award" be made each year to someone behind the scenes, who has helped in the development of Charlevoix.

A change in the parade route also has been made, due to heavy traffic on U. S. 31 (Bridge Street). The parade will form at the junction of U.S. 31 and Carpenter, proceed north on State to Park Avenue, west on Park to Grant, south on Grant to Mason, east on Mason to State, where it will disperse.

A REVIEWING stand will be set up in front of the County Building.

Other Saturday afternoon activities will include a helicopter rescue, greased pole climb and greased pig chase and possibly a firemen's water fight.

In the evening, Dr. Walter Hoffman with M.C. a program of entertainment in East Park and introduce the Charlevoix

Family Income High Here

Almost 28 percent of the families in Charlevoix earn more than $10,000 a year, according to a survey completed recently by the Charlevoix Regional Planning Commission.

Twenty-one percent of the families are in the $8,000 to $10,000 category. Nineteen percent earn between $6,000 and $8,000 and 18 percent between $4,000 and $6,000.

Only 11 percent earn between $2,000 and $4,000 and 3.5 percent earned less than $2,000.

Questionnaires were distributed to Charlevoixans at the spring election. Marquette and Charlevoix Townships were sampled by mail.

A SIMILAR survey of "usiness establishments cannot be completed until more firms respond, according to Mrs. Bergmann. All business owners were contacted, she said, but too few have filled out questionnaires to give an accurate picture of retail and service concerns in the area.

Mrs. Bergmann urged businessmen who have not completed their questionnaires to do so as soon as possible. Additional forms are available from Commission members if needed. Answers will be kept confidential.

By the Way...

By Ruth Ann Miller

My name is Ruth Ann Miller and I am the Courier's representative in East Jordan. I am a native of this area and an avid fan of the north country. I am a graduate of North Central Michigan College in Petoskey and will be going to Western Michigan University in the fall. I hope over the next few months to get to know your city and you better.

I've visited your city many times and enjoy the scenic beauty surrounding it. East Jordaners have much to be proud of and appreciate.

NOT ONLY does your city have an interesting history but also an interesting and progressive present and future.

East Jordan has much to offer Northern Michigan people and tourists as well.

An especially pleasant feature is Sportsman Park

Mrs. Richard Haggerty and daughter, Julie, arrived Sunday from Mineral Wells, Tex., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Shores Sr. and other relatives, M/Sgt. Richard Haggerty and sons will join them here later this month for a visit.

Mrs. J. F. Knowlton arrived Monday from Minneapolis, Minn., to visit her sister.

Talk of the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shapton plan to leave Wednesday enroute to California. They will make the trip out via train from Chicago and return by air.

Mrs. Gregory A. Shadko left early this week for New York City on a shopping trip for the Polly Kay shop. Enroute she will go to Highland Falls, N. Y., where she will meet her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Haggard and family of Morristown, Tenn., who will be there visiting relatives.

Next week and in weeks following I am anxious to meet and write about the people who make East Jordan what it is.

where people can get a close look at deer, beautiful swans, water fowl and other birds.

Another feature is the Jordan River which not only affords excellent canoeing but some of the best fishing in the state.

Next week and in weeks following I am anxious to meet and write about the people who make East Jordan what it is.

I've visited your city many times and enjoy the scenic beauty surrounding it. East Jordaners have much to be proud of and appreciate.

An especially pleasant feature is Sportsman Park

LEWIS AND DAVE Juilleret display one of the finest catches of rainbow trout taken in the Charlevoix area for some years. The 12 "Bows" were taken in the Horton Bay area of Lake Charlevoix. It was estimated that the combined weight of the catch was in excess of 18 pounds. Live bait was used to make the catch.

THE LAMPREY is at work in Lake Charlevoix, judging from the scars on these beautiful steelhead trout caught over the weekend by Gary Smith (left) and Robert Sharrow of Charlevoix. More than half of the trout they caught had lamprey marks on the sides, head or under the fins.

Land Steelheads, Bows, Perch

THESE TWO fishermen pulled in no fewer than 250 perch while fishing in the Les Cheneaux Island near Cedarville in the Upper Peninsula two days last week. On left is Bob Foster of Kalamazoo and his father, Joe, who lives on Prospect Street in Charlevoix. They used minnows and wigglers for bait.

Big Rock Open Longer: Cobalt Added to Charge

The public information center at Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point nuclear electric generating station just north of Charlevoix has expanded its summer hours.

The information center will be open seven days a week, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day, continuing on this schedule through October 30.

It is among Northern Michigan's outstanding tourist attractions. Since it was opened at the time the Big Rock Point plant was under construction, in 1961, it has attracted more than 370,000 visitors.

on nuclear power.

PRODUCTION of the radioisotope cobalt 60 at the plant has been approved by the Atomic Energy Commission, Congressman Raymond F. Cleveland, D.-11th Dist., announced recently.

AEC action followed a request from Consumers.

The Charlevoix County Facility is the first central station nuclear power plant to be used for the large-scale commercial production of cobalt 60, AEC officials indicated. The radioisotope is widely used in industry, medicine and research.

Cobalt will be inserted into the reactor during the current refueling.

U.S. to Resume War on Lampreys

With the Conservation Department again flashing the green light, the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries this week resumed its chemical war on sea lampreys in Michigan streams still harboring these eel-like killers.

On the Bureau's target list for treatment through the end of June, 1967, are about 60 tributaries of Lakes Superior, Michigan and Huron.

UNDER STRICT safety controls spelled out by the Department, the Bureau has launched its latest attack in Blue creek and Gallien river, Berrien county. Final applications of chemicals in these waters and several Indiana streams will complete the first round of treatments in lamprey-producing tributaries of Lake Michigan.

Starting later this week, the Bureau hopes to mount its first all-out offensive against lampreys in Lake Huron streams where 48 rivers and creeks are scheduled for treatment within the next three or four years.

LISTED for initial action this spring are these Lake Huron waters:

Caribou, Carr, Joe Straw, Albany, Trout, Upper Trout, and Prentiss creeks, Chippewa county; and Beavertail, McKay, Ceville, Hessel, and Num's creeks, Mackinac county.

As soon as water levels and stream flows permit, first treatments will also be made in Canoe Lake outlet, Chippewa county, and Pine and Carp rivers, Mackinac county.

On tap for their second application of chemicals are Little and Big Munuscong rivers and Carlton creek in Chippewa county. They are the only Lake Huron streams treated thus far.

ON THE LAKE Michigan front, where streams are still too high for chemical work to begin, the Bureau plans to re-treat these streams which have re-established lamprey populations:

Swan, Hudson, Point Patterson, Sucker, and Hog Is-

Time to Plant Trout

THOUSANDS of lake trout pour into Pine River Channel through flexible hose attached to specially equipped tank truck.

DENNIS CHRISTOPHERSON (back to camera) of the Charlevoix Hatchery helps worker from Jordan River Hatchery attach release hose to tank.

75,000 Trout Freed

Approximately 75,000 lake trout were released in Pine River Channel May 4 by the federal government.

The fish, which were raised to fingerling size at the Jordan River Fish Hatchery in Michigan, were brought to Charlevoix in three specially equipped tank trucks, each loaded to carry 1,000 pounds of fish.

The release was made just before dark, so that seagulls would not bother the young fish.

THE PLANTING is part of a stocking program which started in this area last year when trout were released at Charlevoix and around Beaver Island.

J. M. Olson, who is in charge of the local hatchery, said the newest batch of fingerlings should reach the water in about two years.

If all the fish raised at the hatchery are marked by characteristic fin clipping to help experts in determining their range and rate of growth.

Michigan Roads Busier Than Ever

Michigan highways are busier than ever this spring and an all-time record for summer tourist travel is in prospect, the Department of State Highways reports.

H. H. Cooper, Traffic Division Director, said a vehicle count at 51 continuous counting locations during the first three months of the year was 12.9 percent over the same period in 1965.

The recorded increase was well distributed over the entire state, Cooper said. He cited as examples March increases in the eastern Upper Peninsula of 17.8 percent and in the south central and Thumb areas of the Lower Peninsula of 11.8 percent.

The hours between 4 and 6 p.m. are the time of day when accidents are most likely to occur in the home, especially to pre-school children.

Tourism Up Sharply, Info Centers Report

Travel counselors at seven Highway Travel Information Centers throughout Michigan have given directions and assistance to 23,357 motorists in the first four months of 1966, the Department of State Highways reports.

The count so far is nearly double that of the first four months of 1965, when only five information centers were open.

BIGGEST increases came at Monroe, where the Department of State Highways maintains an information center in an attractive, modern building located in a rest area on I-75 ten miles north of the Ohio line, and at Mackinac City, where the information center occupies spacious, landscaped grounds on I-75 near the Mackinac Bridge.

To May 1, the Monroe information center has given free assistance to 9,600 motorists, most of them visitors, shoppers and businessmen from Ohio and eastern states seeking directions to destinations in the Detroit area.

IN THE SAME period, counselors at the Mackinac City Center have pointed out scenic routes to Upper Michigan and places of interest in Lower Michigan to more than 1,500 travelers from Michigan and other states.

MORE THAN 3,200 motorists, a large proportion of them visitors from Chicago, have stopped at the Highway Department Center on US-12 south of New Buffalo. Many Michigan residents, Chicago-bound, also stop here for advice on routing.

In Upper Michigan, centers at Menominee and Ironwood also reported increases in inquiries over 1965, most of them from parties interested in skiing and other winter sports.

A MILD WINTER that brought wet to ski results in many parts of Michigan last winter also left most Michigan highways clear and dry, and part of the increase in tourist travel so far in 1966 is attributed to better driving conditions than prevailed in 1965.

However, a comparison of number of visitors at various Highway Information Centers throughout the state in 1965 and 1966 indicates an increase so far this year of about twenty-five percent in recreational travel.

City Hosts St. Louis Mayor

If Mayor Dale Reicheard of St. Louis, Mich., could use any Charlevoix votes, he could have picked them up by the handful Monday.

The smiling mayor and his city manager, Bill Barrow, were visitors in the city as part of the annual Mayors Exchange, launching Michigan Week.

They were entertained at a Lions Club luncheon and later toured the Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant with their wives and visited other points of interest around Charlevoix.

Reicheard told the Lions that his community's one claim to fame is that it lies in the exact geographical center of the Lower Peninsula.

"WE EVEN have a stone monument in the park commemorating the fact," Reicheard said.

He said St. Louis has a population of about 4,000, and the major industry is the Michigan Chemical Corp., employing about 400 people. Other workers commute to nearby cities.

Reicheard said his area is predominantly agricultural, "and our biggest problem is seeking more industry."

One of St. Louis' big drawbacks, he added, is that Alma -- a town twice as big and offering twice as much of everything -- is located only four miles away.

"Looking over our tax roll," he said wryly, "I sometimes wonder if our town isn't peopled by widows and pensioners."

REICHEARD said St. Louis presently is facing a situation Charlevoix experienced not too long ago. The city has received an offer from Consumers Power Co. to buy the city light plant for $850,000.

In the past, Reicheard said St. Louis had a wide reputation for its excellent mineral water baths.

"Today we still have the mineral water, but all it does is stain our toilet bowls," he said.

AFTER conferring with city officials, Barrows said it was interesting how cities of about the same size seem to experience identical problems at the same time. He said St. Louis recently purchased a new fire truck, and after peering in Charlevoix's firehouse, he thinks maybe Charlevoix is ready for a new one.

While Reicheard and Barrows were in Charlevoix, Mayor Bill Foehlman and Councilman Jerry Whitley visited St. Louis as guests of the city. The two exchange mayors and their parties met at Clare for breakfast en route to their respective cities.

Information gathered by the commission will be used later to make specific recommendations to the Charlevoix City Council and township supervisors on zoning and other growth problems.

The program also is creating a cadre of local people trained in analyzing planning problems. The group, headed by Ken Staley, meets the last Wednesday

Planned re-treatment of these Great Lakes tributaries does not mean that earlier work was a failure, assures Leo Erkila, assistant director of the Bureau's biological laboratory at Ann Arbor.

Latest studies indicate that lamprey numbers in previously treated Lake Superior streams have been cut down 80 percent over the last four years, according to Erkila.

Area Airmen Keep B-52's on Target

LOCATED on two and one-half acres of high ground at Bay Shore, Detachment 12 of the 10th Radar Bomb Scoring Squadron commands an excellent view of Lake Michigan and Little Traverse Bay. The site was chosen because of its proximity to open water. Although it is located just over the line in Emmet County, most men stationed at the detachment live in Charlevoix.

erse Bay. The site was chosen because of its proximity to open water. Although it is located just over the line in Emmet County, most men stationed at the detachment live in Charlevoix.

AIRMEN 2/C Joseph K. Medlin (left) and George B. Force III operate precision tracking radar to establish "lock on" to approaching B-52 aircraft.

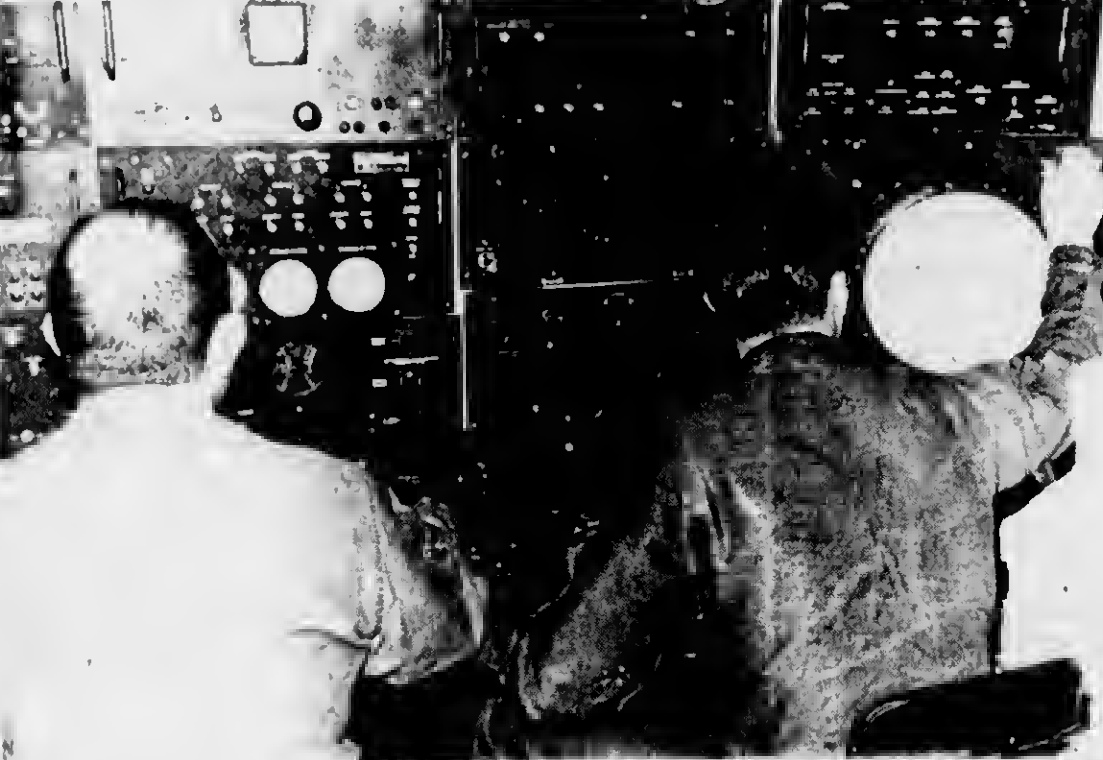

T/SGT. HARRY Vining (seated) NCO in charge of operations and Maj. Woodrow Wilson, chief of maintenance, check out a new computer before beginning day's operation.

Yes, no ghost towns in Michigan — because trucks serve all of them. In fact, half of all Michigan communities received freight only by truck transportation, a fast, modern, efficient service. The trucking industry is Michigan's partner in progress.

THINK SAFETY / DRIVE SAFELY

S/SGT. DOUGLAS Bloom uses radio to control B-52's in the area. He also coordinates their bomb runs.

AIRMAN 2/C GENE Fletcher operates plotting board which traces route of B-52 and scores the accuracy of its bomb drop.

An average of 18 hours a day, the electronic eyes and ears of detachment 12 of the 10th Radar Bomb Scoring Squadron at Bay Shore are trained northward to catch the first sight of an inbound bomber with an imaginary nuclear payload for a make-believe target in northern Lake Michigan.

The detachment, which has been a part of the Bay Shore landscape for almost three years, is a vital part of the Strategic Air Command's training system.

WITH A COMPLEMENT averaging 100 men the function of the RBS unit is three-fold: 1) Test the accuracy of bombardiers from bases throughout the 2nd and 8th Air Forces, comprising the eastern two-thirds of the country.

2) Test the proficiency of bomber crews in jamming radar equipment once the radar operator at Bay Shore has "locked on" to an inbound plane.

3) Give airmen at Bay Shore practice in detecting approaching inbound aircraft.

The planes, mostly B-52's and B-58's, converge on Charlevoix down two wide corridors from the north.

The western route has been tagged "Ski Land." It cuts a wide swath from the Keweenaw Peninsula over Upper Michigan. The other route, called "Ice Age," sweeps into Michigan from the Ontario wilderness past of Lake Superior.

The two corridors converge over Newberry and continue south to a rectangular target area over eastern Lake Michigan.

THE IMAGINARY bombs are not released over any specific target. Specific sets of grid co-ordinates are used.

Computers at Bay Shore take into account the point of release, plane speed, heading, altitude, wind velocity, bomb fall characteristics and other factors to determine the success of each drop.

Presently headed by Major Alvin Aronovsky, the unit was formed on Guam, moving in March, 1960, to Ironwood, Mich. In July, 1963, the detachment moved to Bay Shore.

MAJOR ARONOVSKY says the Air Force has designated the unit's stay "indefinite," which means nobody knows how long it will remain in operation.

In the major's opinion, RBS units will be needed until bombers become obsolete as a means of keeping the peace. The best educated guess as to when this will be is 1960, when intercontinental ballistic missiles become sufficiently accurate and plentiful to insure the nation's defense.

"You'll notice," Major Aronovsky says, "we've removed the tires from our trailers, so I don't think we'll be moving out very shortly."

so I don't think we'll be moving out very shortly."

UNLIKE MOST military bases, the detachment does have a temporary air about it, consisting entirely of trailers and vans, connected by sheltered walkways and storage areas built by the men themselves.

From the inside, the complex looks as permanent as the Pentagon, although components can be pretty much picked up and moved about at will.

Built on a two and one-half acre plot of ground, the little unit has an enormous impact on the area all out of proportion to its size, according to Major Aronovsky.

SINCE THE detachment has no living quarters or dining facilities, officers and men must rely on nearby communities for housing and services.

Seventy percent of the men at the base live in Charlevoix, 15 per cent live in Petoskey, and the remaining 15 per cent live in other communities in Charlevoix and Emmet County.

One sergeant likes the area so well he bought a farm just down the road from the base.

THE UNIT has an annual payroll of approximately $500,000 and spends, on an average, another $500,000 a year locally for construction materials, repairs and services.

Major Aronovsky said the station complement is constantly shifting, with from 35 to 40 men away at a time on temporary duty at specific first schools, other RBS units or one of three RBS trains continually criss-crossing the country.

In addition, the unit has men stationed at Army Nike sites in Detroit, Cincinnati and in the Chicago-Milwaukee area.

UNTIL THE END of World War II, bomb scoring was pretty much a hit or miss proposition. You either hit your target or you missed it.

Then in 1946, a radar bomb scoring unit was established at San Diego. Some 888 Bomb Troops were checked out the first year.

Today, bomber crews complete more than 20,000 simulated bomb drops a month, and are scored either by one of 14 RBS detachments scattered throughout the country, by one of the three roving trains, or Nike units near all major cities.

ALTHOUGH the training has application only in wartime, Major Aronovsky is convinced America's powerful air arm is a strong argument for maintaining world peace.

"The deterrent effect of the massive retaliatory force of SAC helps assure that conflicts will be kept localized," he says.

"In fact, peace is our profession," he tells visitors.

Investor's guide! A Cadillac remains unmistakably a Cadillac regardless of year. New or previously-owned, its impressive size, its remarkable beauty and its continuity of styling have all contributed to Cadillac's reputation as the finest of all luxury car investments.

Every day, more and more wise car buyers are discovering that they can get more performance, luxury, distinction and pride of ownership in a previously-owned Cadillac than in many new cars of lesser stature. For example, Cadillac engineering has always been so advanced that many features of Cadillac's several years old are just now finding their way into new cars of other makes. And Cadillac has for years provided as standard equipment automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes, power windows and power seats on most models, automatic cornering lights and many other conveniences that even now cost extra on most new cars. Consider, too, the extra reassurance of motoring in an automobile of Cadillac's impressive size and stature. Before you buy your next car, be sure to look for your authorized Cadillac dealer's used car sign. It is the best possible landmark for a wide, attractively priced selection of well cared for, previously-owned Cadillac cars.

The new amount of Motor Vehicle Highway fund revenues available for distribution for the third quarter of the fiscal year ending June 30 amounted to $96,994,116, an increase of $6,097,792 over revenues distributed for the same period in 1965.

Thanks for a Night to Remember

"This may well be the finest band concert you will ever hear in Charlevoix," Band Director Clarence Odmark said in introducing Dr. Harry Began and the Wayne University Band last Friday night.

Ninety minutes later, several hundred Charlevoixans were in full accord with his statement. They had been treated to a musical feast that even the youngsters will be a long time forgetting.

With all due respect to Charlevoix's own remarkable High School Band, the university musicians played with a dexterity and finesse worthy of professionals.

It is always fascinating to watch a skilled craftsman or artist at work. So it was Friday night when the Wayne musicians did things with sound that many of us had never experienced before. Part of their success, surely was due to their exceptional clarity of sound. Harmony never once became blurred by overtones or undertones.

Such quality does not come without hours of practice, both as individuals and as a group.

Probably even more outstanding was the precision with which each number was executed. Each bandsman performed like a member of a highly polished drill team, with sharp breaks and instantaneous starts.

Charlevoix can thank Dr. Began and the Wayne University Band for an evening of unparalleled entertainment. We hope they return soon.

Buying A Poppy Means You Care

A bumper crop of orange poppies -- the symbol of America's wartime injured -- will go on sale in Charlevoix May 19, 20 and 21.

Money raised through the sale of poppies will go to help disabled veterans and their needy children.

The poppies are made by patients in veterans hospitals and are distributed throughout the country by local units of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, the Disabled American Vets, and their auxiliaries.

Ironically, the poppy first became a symbol for America's battle casualties during World War I when many Yanks were buried in poppy fields in the Low Countries.

Today the poppy is not so much a symbol of death as it is new life, thanks to the long memories and generous hearts of Americans who purchase poppies every May.

Unfortunately, the ranks of America's injured heroes is not diminishing with the years. World War II, The Korean War, and Vietnam have each contributed their share. The total need is greater, not less.

The VFW and the American Legion would like every Charlevoixan to buy a poppy this year -- as an indication that they remember, and they care.

Michigan Week? Don't Make Us Blush

There's always something a little embarrassing about Michigan Week. It's sort of like patting yourself on the back or buying yourself a birthday present.

Of course there's no doubt in anyone's mind that Michigan is the finest state in the Union.

THOUSANDS of miles of shoreline washed by the freshest water in the world, endless miles of forested hunting grounds open to the public, some of the world's richest supplies of copper and iron ore, ski hills that are hard to match, and, down below, some of the richest, levellest farmland in North America.

ALL THESE things, of course, were here before man came along. But just put a man in Michigan and what does he do? He builds an automobile that puts the world on wheels. He develops a manufacturing process called the assembly line, increasing the material wealth of all men a thousand fold. He builds universities and hospitals, theaters and museums which have made the name Michigan synonymous with science and the arts throughout the world.

Michigan Week? Shucks. No need to fuss. We have one every year.

WEATHER... It's the main topic of conversation every place you go... What with snow flakes in the air every now and then, it's hard to believe it's May... No one likes this weather... After all, it's the time for flowers and leaves and kids playing out without benefit of snow suits... But the people who are really suffering are the fruit growers... It breaks your heart to see the blossoms frozen during the crucial stage of their development... All of which will result in little or no fruit...

There probably have been other times but in the spring of 1945 we had such weather... It got warm in March, forcing the buds and blossoms... Later we had frosts that destroyed the growing buds and killed the crop... I can remember one cherry grower, in particular, Fred Boss of Central Lake, who had only enough cherries in his entire orchard to make a couple pies... It's a sad, sad situation for these people because they won't get another crop till next year... I'm afraid 1966 will be remembered for many things... First the winter resort operators suffered because there was little or no snow and now the fruit growers have been dealt a low blow... I almost hate to think about the rest of the year and what it might bring...

WHITE IT could hardly be considered a failure, the national mushroom hunt at Boyne City was not as successful as in the past because of the cold weather... Guess the pickers just about froze their mushroom-pickin' hands...

BY THE WAY, have you been to a track meet this spring? I know that most of them have been run off in some mighty cool weather that does nothing toward establishing new records... But come next Monday you'll have a chance to see the entire league in action... There's a chance, given a break in the weather, that a new mile record could be established... and there's always the possibility that other records could fall by the way side... Track's one of my favorite sports... It always seems that the winner has such a sense of personal accomplishment... for it's a sport where you don't have a team to bolster you, should you falter... You're strictly on your own... These kids work hard... and it's a mighty lonesome job... so won't you turn out and watch them when Charlevoix hosts the league meet here Monday...

I SUPPOSE you martin fanciers are well aware of the fact that these happy family birds were late in returning this year... One morning recently I saw this big flock of birds darting back and forth in front of my house... I don't know much about birds so I put in a call to my resource person, Mrs. Gormel... After describing them she told me they were martins and had just arrived the night before... Seems that they travel in flocks and always send a scout ahead to look the situation over... She and several others had seen the scouts the night before so weren't a bit surprised to find the entire flock here come morning... The housing situation for them couldn't have been as serious as it is for humans for I haven't seen any of them since... It seems that martins feed on the wing and therefore do not appear until they are assured of a food supply... When she spoke to me Mrs. Gormel said, "You can count on seeing your first mosquito any day now"... and I'll be darned if I didn't see one later in the day... even though I thought it was too cold for these pesky things...

REMEMBER MY recent comment on horses... In which I said there weren't any around anymore... Got a call the other day from Gen Smith who told me that she'd just seen one go past her house... hitched to a sulky... and at once I knew who it belonged to... Ralph Bacot, who has raced horses for years and years... He's know the width and breadth of the state for he and the late Jess Smith could always be found at county fairs with their steeds... Though Mr. Bacot doesn't race any more he still keeps one and, now that the weather's good, takes him out for a jaunt... It's a good thing that I don't live near a race track... I'd spend all my time watching the horses for I don't think there's a domestic animal any more graceful than a racing horse... which reminds me, how much money did you win on the Kentucky Derby?

NEVER-THLESS, biking still holds a fascination for me. Here's hoping the Michigan Bike Tour becomes an annual event and biking has a rebirth across the state. Think how happy the bike manufacturers would be. Already they've started a "get back on the bike" advertising campaign, claiming biking makes you feel young again. Aching muscles to the contrary, maybe they've got a point.

SPEAKING of graceful animals, there's not a wild one any more graceful than the deer... And this is the time of the year when you see plenty of them as you drive through the countryside... Several people have hit whitetails bounding across the highway... I swear they have a built-in calendar of some sort for

Gulf Between God, Man Lets Humanity Develop

Man is fortunate there is a wide gulf between him and his Creator, according to the Rev. Daniel G. Axt of East Jordan's First Presbyterian Church. Without it, man would be unable to develop to the full extent of his humanity.

Speaking on the topic, "Be Serious About Life," Rev. Axt said that many of the faithful are puzzled why God permits there to be so much suffering in the world. They are content to live out their days waiting for God to perform miracles in their behalf.

Sometimes miracles happen; sometimes they don't. But a "spiritual vacuum" exists for so many of the faithful who are content to wait for them, he said.

REV. AXT said man must not lose sight of the fact that he is made of "earthly" properties, that he suffers because he is human, and because he is human he experiences the failure of prayer.

"We must be aware of our separation from God and answer the question: 'Where is God?' with the answer, 'He is not here.'"

"The Gates of Eden are closed," he said. If they weren't, if man's every prayer were answered, then he would never discover the magnitude of his creaturehood or discover his full capabilities.

"Man would never realize he can be a cause, as well as effected," the pastor emphasized. If our lives were one long series of interventions by God, then those of us who believe would become "sleepy, purring kittens," those who didn't believe would become vipers, he said.

Our two-sided relationship with God, our separation from God is a "curse to comfort," but a definite aid toward developing our full human potential, he pointed out.

Rev. Axt said mankind has the potential to be godly, not necessarily Godlike.

"Man finds his godliness in the midst of his separation from God," he said.

He urged the congregation not to lose heart when the miracles they pray for fail to happen. He recalled that Jesus performed no miracle that would benefit himself, even when he was nailed on the cross.

In conclusion, Rev. Axt reiterated that "human creaturehood is the proper place for godliness, and that man has the qualifications to be godly."

"It wouldn't be much of a billiards game if the red ball could jump up and throw the cue stick out of the game," he said. "Likewise, it's not much of a life if it's spent waiting for a miracle to happen. Our life is unalterably human, and humanity is the arena of godliness. If it does not happen in humanity, it does not happen. It's our duty to be the cause of good effects."

Rev. Axt's Scripture lessons were drawn from Ecclesiastes 12 and Acts 1:6-11.

Poppy Day Sales Help Disabled GI's

To the Editor: Once again it is time for Poppy Days which will be held in the Charlevoix area on May 19, 20, 21.

The American Legion Auxiliary will be selling these little flowers which are hand made by our disabled veterans who are patients in the Veterans' hospitals, some who have been there for years.

MAKING these flowers gives the men a chance to earn a little money besides keeping their minds and hands busy and giving them less time to brood.

they seem to wander out of the woods all over the place... They're protected from the hunter... Mrs. Abe VerWys was telling me that she encountered a couple enroute home from Rogers City the other day... They wandered onto the highway and just stood there... she was forced to stop and sound her horn be-

Most of the Poppy Day funds stay here in the community and are used only to help carry out the work of the auxiliary in behalf of disabled veterans and needy veterans' children.

Poppy Days are a voluntary tribute to our dead and disabled servicemen and Poppy Days are to honor the War living.

BE GENEROUS in your contributions to the cause and wear the poppies as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked their lives in defense of the freedom which we continue to enjoy as American citizens.

this animosity, I just don't care to have 'em around... but around they are... The biggest, blattest critter stopped off in an apple tree outside my window this afternoon... I haven't the vaguest idea what attracted him... We have other birds in the neighborhood so I hope it wasn't egg-napping that brought him to our quiet little street.

NOW I have a funny thing against crows... I just don't like 'em... Because of

Clockwise

My hope that the bicycle would one day stage a comeback is finally being realized. If everything goes as expected, this should be the blizkest week in Charlevoix's history. Not only will the Tour of Michigan riders end their first day's run here, but there'll be all kinds of competition for non-professionals as well.

Furthermore, the Courier's earn-a-bikes subscription contest should be in high gear by the weekend, bringing bike mania to fever pitch.

Just to get into the spirit of the thing, I dusted off my old J. C. Higgins Saturday morning and took a spin out to Kennedy Park and back. Ten miles, according to the road map, but more like 50, according to my aching legs.

Funny, the information you pick up on a junket like that, I never realized before that there are not only hills but veritable mountains between Charlevoix and Big Rock Point. What appear to be gentle swells to the motorist turn into towering ranges when you have to pump over them on a bicycle.

I also discovered a little roadside swamp just past the Rod and Gun Club that is alive with songbirds early in the morning. In addition I am happy to report that there is at least one white tail deer left in Charlevoix County. After seeing me barreling down U. S. 31 on a bicycle, however, the poor beast might have moved on to less enervating pastures.

ALTHOUGH I have gone through five Fords and a Volkswagen, there have been very few times in my life that I didn't have a bicycle around for stand-by transportation.

I'll never forget the night I took my bike from Detroit to Lansing on the train. We arrived about 11 p.m. in a driving rain and I put one suitcase in the basket and tied the other to the luggage carrier for the three-mile trip out Kalamazoo Avenue to MSU campus. At every bump one suitcase or the other would fall off and spring open, exposing all of next week's underwear and fresh shirts to the elements.

THAT BIKE served me well at Michigan State. It finally came to grief in my senior year as I was wheeling past Jeneon gymnasium. Suddenly I realized that the handlebars were no longer connected to the bike. I hit the brake and the bike jumped the curb, catapulting me and the handlebars into a somersault on the lawn.

TWO YEARS later in Japan I had another close call when I rented a bike from a livery on top of the steepest hill in Yokohama. I had never used hand brakes before I didn't realize they're not as effective as the coaster type. I started downhill toward the heart of the city and discovered before I had gone too far that the hand brakes weren't about to slow me down, much less bring me to a stop. Down I went, gathering speed, as richshaws and wooden clogged pedestrians fled in terror from my path.

At one crossing a streetcar was coming, and I can still hear the frantic clanging of its bell as I zipped across the tracks a hair's breadth in front of it. I finally came to a stop downtown. My legs felt like Chinese noodles and my palms were as cold as raw fish. Japanese-American relations have never been the same since.

BACK IN my bachelor days, a buddy and I decided one summer to take a real biking holiday. We spent weeks gathering equipment to spend a week touring Manitoulin Island by bike. Manitoulin, in case your geography is rusty, is the largest freshwater island in the world, lying North of Georgian Bay and Lake Huron.

With tent, air mattresses and cooking gear in tow, we left the car at Tobermory, Ont., on the mainland and took the ferry to South Baymouth where we were to begin our 200 mile tour. Aboard ship, we were lionized by the other passengers as soon as word of our adventure spread.

However, our prominence was short-lived. Five miles out of South Baymouth my buddy's expensive imported bike came down with an irreparable case of malfunctioning.

That afternoon I rode 30 miles on gravel roads to Lake Manitou in search of a friend who might be able to help, but he was no where to be found. I pedaled 30 miles back to our starting place that evening. Stranded, we pitched our tent on a rock pile outside of town. Long before dawn a dozen raves had perforated by air mattress like an onion bag and I spent the rest of the night yearning for an antihemorrhagic snake to pass by and end my suffering.

NEVER-THLESS, biking still holds a fascination for me. Here's hoping the Michigan Bike Tour becomes an annual event and biking has a rebirth across the state. Think how happy the bike manufacturers would be. Already they've started a "get back on the bike" advertising campaign, claiming biking makes you feel young again. Aching muscles to the contrary, maybe they've got a point.

USEFUL, NOT JUST ORNAMENTAL

The Church has a very definite function to perform. A function that is as definite as that of the weather vane in indicating the direction of the prevailing winds.

It is the function of the church to train and furnish growth for the soul. In performing this primary function it aids the human race in other ways, not the least of these being charity dispensation. It does this most effectively when well supported by attendance and financial aid. Thus, it is clear that the church needs you and that you need the church. If you are not already doing so, do something about that need immediately!

Deano Tells Summer Recreation Plans

Plans for the upcoming summer recreation program have been announced by Dean Davenport, summer recreation director.

Davenport, who will be returning soon from his coaching duties in California, said he was pleased to learn of the improvements being made by the city at the ball park, including construction of rest rooms and floating and leveling of the outfield grass.

WORK ALSO has been started on the practice field, and the grounds should be much improved by the opening of the season, he said.

As in the past, Davenport expects a wide variety of leagues this summer, including men's football and basketball leagues, women's leagues, junior boys, peanut and Kiwanis youth leagues.

He hopes to have them all started around the middle of June.

DAVENPORT said there are indications that the Charlevoix County State Bank will enter a new team in the men's football leagues, with Norm Helms as manager.

New prospective players in all leagues may register for the player draft by leaving their names at the Courier office.

Other phases of the recreation program include tennis, golf, swimming and special events, with special emphasis on recreational activities for senior citizens.

Davenport said there is an opening on the recreation staff for a qualified assistant working with the softball and tennis programs. Applicants should contact City Manager Jim Taylor.

More information and sign-up dates will be published later.

E. Jordan Initiates New School Track

East Jordan finally has its long awaited track. Blueprints were drawn up nine years ago, but due to a fund shortage construction didn't start until this year.

The track is completely

"The only people with whom you should try to bet even are those who have helped you."

lighted inside for night track meets. Lights were modified and new lights erected. The oval circuit and cement track is 260 yards long on the straightaway. It is 22 feet wide on the straightaway and 18 feet on the curves. There are four sawdust filled pits for broad jump, shotput, high jump, and pole vault.

The present public address system and walkie-talkies will be used to keep the spectators informed of the results.

Keltn Annear, principal of East Jordan High School, said the final rolling of the track was May 9 and the first track meet was held May 10.

Financing for the track was through guaranteed note co-signed by 40 citizens and to be paid off by deed receipts.

Costeau Probes Secrets of Underwater World

WASHINGTON -- Captain Jacques-Yves Cousteau's goal is to help turn the "silent world" into a workaday world. The most famous of underwater pioneers is a practical man: "I have long felt that undersea exploration is not an end in itself, although it is spiritually rewarding merely to be an onlooker. To enter this great unknown medium is the privilege of our era. Man must and shall colonize the ocean floor."

Captain Cousteau's most recent experiment was industrial in nature. For three weeks, six oceanauts, including Cousteau's son Philippe, lived on the sea floor at 328 feet—the deepest outpost that man has yet established. They placed and worked on a production oil-well head at 370 feet.

With two diving companions, Captain Cousteau founded the French Navy's Groupe d'Etudes et Recherches Sous-Marines. In 1950, he converted a 360-ton former minesweeper, the M. S. CALYPSO, into a unique research vessel with an underwater observation chamber and diving well.

In association with David L. Wolper Productions, the film will be telecast in color on CBS Television Network at 7:30 p.m. (EDT) Thursday, April 28. Sponsors are Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc., and Aetna Life & Casualty. Cousteau's three previous films—"The Silent World," "World Without Sun," and "The Golden Fish"—all won Academy Awards.

Captain Cousteau's achievements as an explorer, scientist, author, and lecturer obscure the fact that he began as a film maker. This talent has been passed on to 25-year-old Philippe, who brilliantly photographed "World of Jacques-Yves Cousteau."

Jacques-Yves was born at St. Andre-de-Cubzac in 1910. He started making films as a youth, and in military service had not given him the chance to start peering into the Mediterranean through goggles, he probably would have remained in films as a livelihood.

He entered the Brest Naval Academy in 1930. Sent to the seaport of Toulon as a gunnery officer, he began goggle-diving and experimenting with underwater breathing apparatus and marine photography. In 1942, while on leave from the French Navy during the German occupation of France, he and engineer Emile Gagnan invented the Aqua-Lung. This "passport to inner space," as it has been called, changed his life. It also opened up the sea to swimmers, explorers, engineers, scientists, salvors, prospectors, and sportsmen everywhere.

With two diving companions, Captain Cousteau founded the French Navy's Groupe d'Etudes et Recherches Sous-Marines. In 1950, he converted a 360-ton former minesweeper, the M. S. CALYPSO, into a unique research vessel with an underwater observation chamber and diving well.

CALYPSO is still going strong, though, as Captain Cousteau says, "She is getting slowly older, and often in need of new parts." The vessel works at sea nine months a year under the control of rotating scientific parties.

Captain Cousteau retired from the French Navy in 1956. He heads the Oceanographic Museum at Monaco, and is involved in a multitude of other activities. He is one of seven members of a French scientific central committee that meets monthly in Paris to synchronize the nation's scientific programs.

When the six French oceanauts descended off Cap Ferret, France, in September, 1955, to carry out the industrial experiment known as Conshelf Three, Captain Cousteau and his attractive wife Simone stood first watch. Twenty-one days and 17 hours later, the divers surfaced. Their faces showed fatigue, but their minds and bodies were none the worse for wear.

The oceanauts' major feat had been to work with a five-ton production oil-well head at 370 feet. Except for power and communications cables linking their spherical workshop home to land, the oceanauts had been on their own for three weeks. (Earlier, Captain Cousteau had concluded that it is "wrong, expensive, and dangerous to bind underwater people to a wetter of ships, machinery, and specialists on the surface.")

"BRAVE YOUNG MEN" "I feel great admiration for these brave young men," Captain Cousteau said. "They have made Conshelf Three a complete success. They have given us much new knowledge that will enable men not just to live in the sea but to work there. Without work, life is useless."

Captain Cousteau believes the experiment's success adds millions of square miles of the continental shelf, with its largely untapped riches of minerals, to the undersea territory exploitable by man.

Periodically, Captain Cousteau comes to Washington to meet with the National Geographic's Research and Exploration Committee, which has supported his work for 13 years. A lively, lively man, he is always bubbling with new ideas and projects.

"We are now planning Conshelf Four," he says. "We are confident that within a few years we will entirely eliminate all ties to the world above. Then, for the first time, oceanauts will have true freedom of the deep."

Death, Be Not Proud

Eagles, hawks, and owls are protected by law in Michigan. But, in early last winter, somewhere west of Alpena, someone pointed a shotgun at a bald eagle and pulled the trigger.

Pictured here is the eagle he killed. Who did this thing? Was he proud of his deed? In the company of associates, did he boast? Did he lean back in his chair, or forward on his bar stool and say "I killed a bald eagle?" If a dad, did he tell his boy all about it?

Yes, whoever you are, you killed a bald eagle. Few hunters could duplicate what you did; even if they wanted to (we can be thankful they wouldn't want to).

And their number is diminishing all too fast over the entire continent.

This majestic creature may be in danger of extinction; is in danger of extinction if you, whoever you are, are one of many. Whoever you are, whatever you are, you certainly are no sportsman.

Whoever you are, sportsmen and conservationists pity

you. They pity you because you miss the indescribable thrill of being in the woods with a gun. The ethic of an age-old sport is obviously not yours to enjoy. You have no appreciation of the true rewards of hunting. Established is the fact that you are a violator. But somehow you are more—or less—than that. You killed a bald eagle.—Mich. Dept. of Conservation.

Petticoat Mayor Wears Many Hats in E. Jordan

AS SCHOOL NURSE, East Jordan's new mayor, Mrs. Betty Robertson, tends scratched knee for pupil.

The course of a single day might find Mrs. Betty Robertson tending to the cuts and scratches of East Jordan School children, taking part in a County Health Department meeting and -- If it's Tuesday --- presiding over a meeting of the East Jordan City Council as mayor.

In addition to serving as East Jordan School nurse and as chief of the County Health Department for her school district, Mrs. Robertson recently became East Jordan's first mayor.

THE NURSE-politician became interested in government three years ago following the death of her husband. She ran for the city council and was elected.

When election time came this year, she was approached by some of her neighbors who wanted her to run for mayor. Mrs. Robertson said she would, "providing her friends would get the signatures needed on the petition. They did and she did."

At present Mrs. Robertson is working for the beautification of East Jordan. She and the council are revising some ordinances to help with the clean-up.

MRS. ROBERTSON says it

Medusa Merges With Indiana Firm

The stockholders of Western Indiana Aggregates Co. have approved a merger with Medusa Portland Cement Co., according to a joint announcement by Horace E. Gunn, president of Western Indiana and Robert W. Fort, president of Medusa.

All of the outstanding stock of Western Indiana was represented at the meeting. The only dissenting vote was cast by Martin Marletta Corporation which had recently acquired a minority interest in the company.

Sales of Western Indiana amounted to $2,610,000 in the year ending Dec. 31, 1965, as compared to $43,020,000 for Medusa.

The merger is conditional upon a tax-free ruling by the Internal Revenue Service. Fort said the merger was typical of many others and no difficulty is anticipated in obtaining such a ruling.

Terms of the merger include the exchange of 10 shares of new Series A voting Preferred Stock of Medusa carrying $3 cumulative dividend for each share of Western Indiana stock. The Preferred Stock is convertible into two shares of Medusa common stock for a period of five years and at a lower rate thereafter. The merger will require a total of 63,000 shares of Medusa Preferred Stock.

USEFUL, NOT JUST ORNAMENTAL

The Church has a very definite function to perform. A function that is as definite as that of the weather vane in indicating the direction of the prevailing winds.

It is the function of the church to train and furnish growth for the soul. In performing this primary function it aids the human race in other ways, not the least of these being charity dispensation. It does this most effectively when well supported by attendance and financial aid. Thus, it is clear that the church needs you and that you need the church. If you are not already doing so, do something about that need immediately!

Convert now to Gas heat and Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will buy your unused oil or coal—even remove your oil tank—all at no cost to you. What's more, whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we'll pay the bill. And all you pay us, between now and next October, is for the Gas you'll use to make this your most comfortable winter ever. Here's how this special limited-time offer works:

1. If you're now heating with oil, we'll buy what's left in your storage tank—at the price you paid for it. What's more, we'll remove your tank from your home or business and even haul it away if you want. All at no cost to you.
2. If you're now heating with coal, we'll take what coal you have on hand, off your hands. And pay you whatever it cost you originally.

3. Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we'll pay for it and its installation by a Gas Company approved heating contractor, and it won't cost you a penny until next October. You can pay for the unit and its installation on October 1, 1966 with no carrying charge whatsoever.

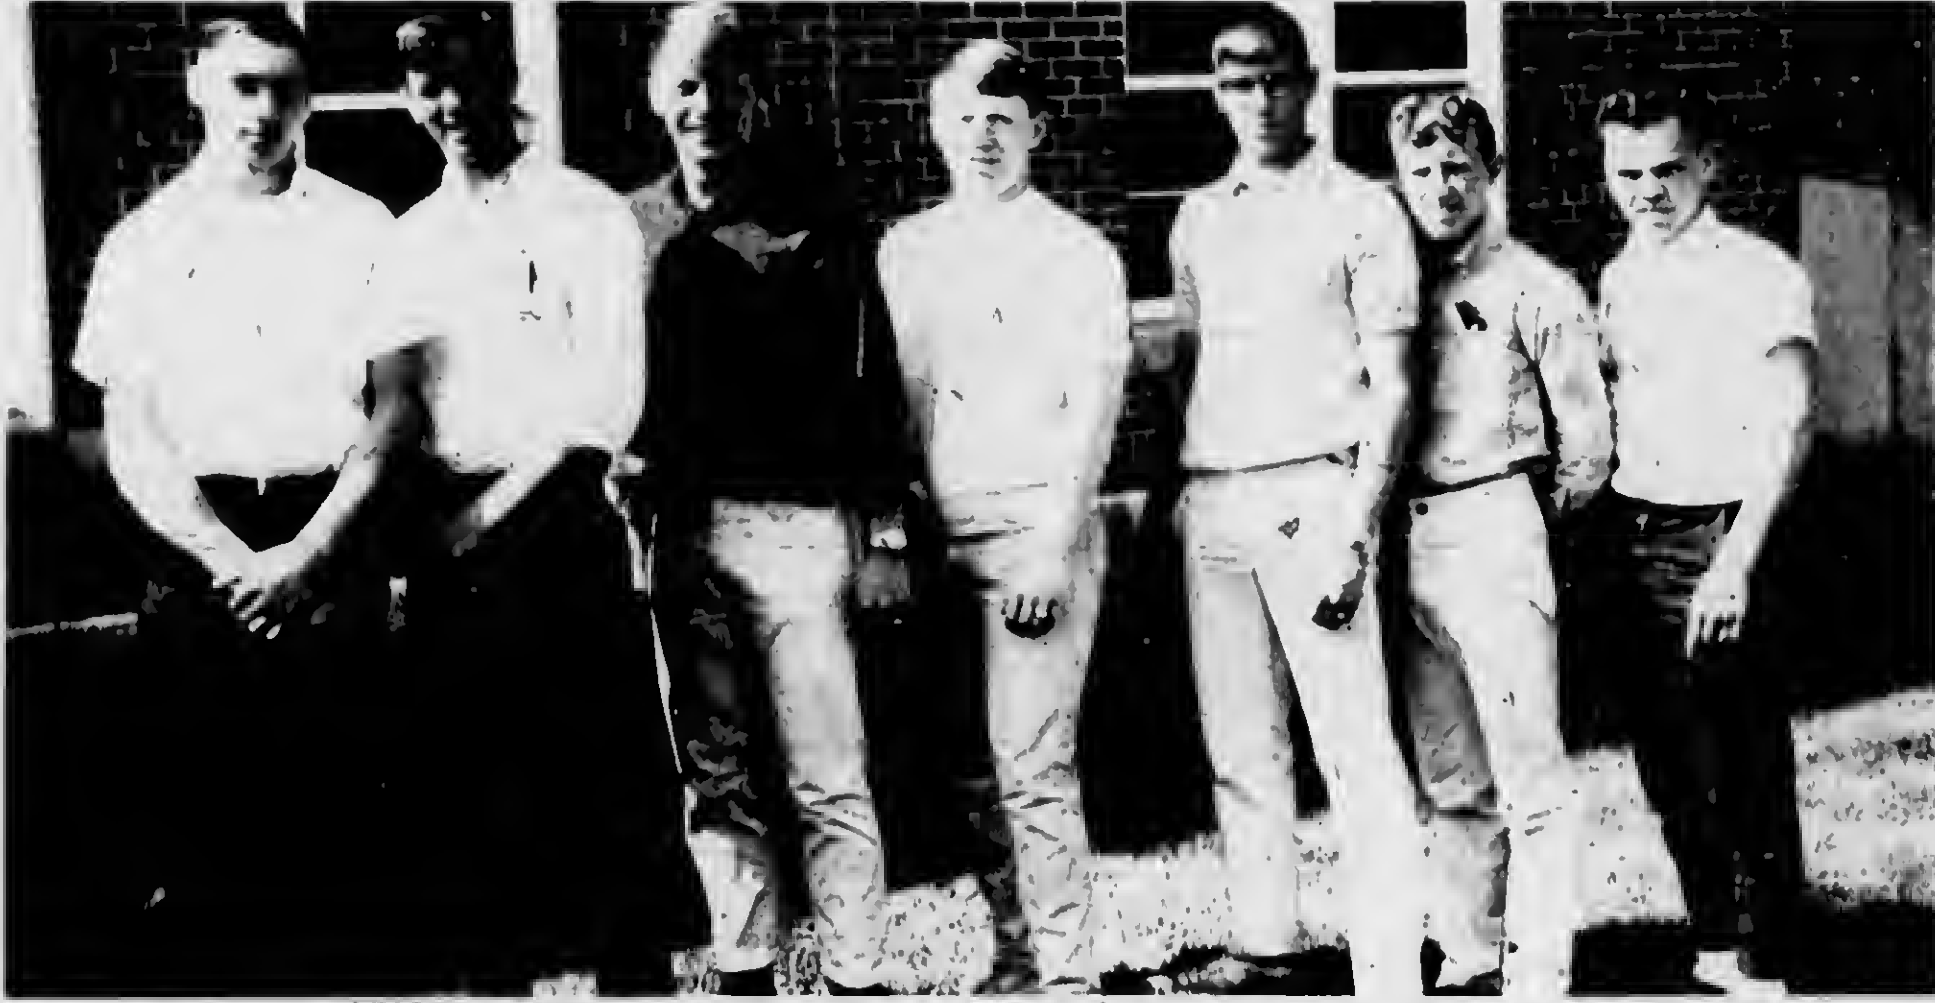

Or if you prefer, you can make equal monthly payments, including carrying charges on your Gas bill, over a period of up to three years after October 1, 1966. Either way, there are no carrying charges between now and next October, and you need make no payments between now and next October except for the Gas you use. Grain Shipments Set April Record

Shipments of grain over the Great Lakes in April, totaling 2,749,304 net tons, were the highest for the month on record.

The movement, almost twice that for the 1965 month, reflected the early opening of navigation and Canada's large grain sales to Russia. U. S. ships carried only 11.8% of the total.

Iron ore shipments in April amounted to 5,494,546 gross tons, a six-year high and nearly double those for the same month last year. The coal movement of 4,242,924 net tons was about 30,000 tons less than that of the 1965 month.

Combined shipments of iron ore, coal and grain carried this year to May 1 added up to 14,460,291 net tons. This compared with 9,846,342 tons hauled in the corresponding period last year.

2 Bus Drivers Hired

The Charlevoix School Board agreed to hire two more school bus drivers for the remainder of the school year at a study session May 23.

The new drivers are Mrs. Marilyn Boss and Mrs. Frank Gengle, who will replace drivers who have resigned.

The board also heard a report by Mrs. Barbara Fuller of the Intermediate School District Office on the strides being taken in Charlevoix to isolate and work with youngsters with a variety of learning problems.

Mrs. Fuller is working parttime with Dr. William Ratigan and his staff to help so-called educationally deprived children. The program is financed by the federal government through funds allocated to local school districts.

MEMBERS also reaffirmed a school policy of long standing to allow only Boy and Girl Scout troops the use of school buses this summer.

MRS. Mildred W. Hiller was appointed to the Board of Conservators to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Florence Elliott.

The Board referred to the Building and Site Committee a complaint that an unusual amount of dust is being created by the unpaved student parking lot.

The committee will study the costs of various methods of laying the dust, including soaking with brine and paving with tar and chips.

Police to Relay Messages

Travelers and Campers Keep in Touch by Radio

Travelers in Michigan or out of touch in camps or elsewhere will be informed of emergency messages they may get through a cooperating system arranged by the State Police with the Michigan Association of Broadcasters. All they need do is have their radios on between the hours of 12 noon and 4 p.m. If there is an emergency at home, the affected person will be told to call the nearest State Police Post for the contents of the message. A special tone signal will precede the emergency broadcast. The system will begin May 27.

Information to other stations which, in turn will further inform additional stations to fully cover the area.

AN EMERGENCY message of extreme urgency will be broadcast at any time, but otherwise the messages will be carried only during the noon hour.

Posts will screen messages to assure they fall within the emergency category. In addition, none will be broadcast or otherwise delivered if regular commercial facilities -- telephone or telegram -- are available to a person who wants to reach another person.

The State Police are asked to deliver hundreds of emergency messages, particularly during the hunting and tourist seasons and many times it is quite difficult if not impossible to complete delivery. Although it is not expected to entirely supplant hand delivery, it is hoped the new system will not only reach many persons otherwise not located but reduce the hours spent on hand delivered messages.

Said bonds will be dated April 1, 1966, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each, will be numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from one (1) to sixty-two (62), both inclusive, will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding five percent (5%) per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/8 of 1%. Said interest will be payable on the first day of November, 1966, and semi-annually thereafter on the first day of May and November in each year. The interest rate on any one bond shall be at one rate only and represented by one interest coupon for each coupon period, and all bonds maturing in the same year must carry the same interest rate. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially as follows:
$3,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1967 to 1972, both inclusive;
$4,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1973 to 1978, both inclusive;
and
$5,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1979 to 1982, both inclusive.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, which paying agent qualifies as such under the statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 1967 to 1976, inclusive, are not subject to prior redemption.
The right is reserved of redeeming bonds maturing in the years 1977 to 1982, inclusive, at the option of the district, on any interest payment date on or after May 1, 1976, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium as follows:

$10.00 on each bond called for redemption prior to May 1, 1979;
$ 5.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1979, but prior to May 1, 1981;
No premium on bonds called for redemption on or after May 1, 1981.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan, which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the School District has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of remodeling the present school building and erecting, furnishing and equipping an addition thereto; and developing and improving sites.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from July 1, 1966, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the School District. Each bidder shall state in his bid the interest cost to the School District, computed in the manner above specified. No proposal for the purchase of less than all the bonds or at a price less than 100% of their par value will be considered.

The bonds are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 12, Part II, Act 269, Public Acts of Michigan, 1955, and the School District is authorized and required by law to levy upon all taxable property therein such as valorem taxes as may be necessary to pay these bonds and the interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

VISITORS to Brookside Cemetery this Memorial Day may be interested in examining this huge boulder with natural cross marking the Nicholls burial plot.

Crucifix Boulder Marks Burial Plot

A huge boulder weighing five to six thousand pounds and marked with a natural cross is one of the curiosities of Brookside Cemetery.

The following was written by Mr. Nicholls on the back of this above photograph Sept. 10, 1928.

"GRANITE boulder found by me on the South Shore of Pine Lake (Lake Charlevoix), about five miles from Charlevoix and now set up on a mound in the Nicholls burial lot in Brookside Cemetery, Charlevoix.

"The main shaft is of a bluish gray color. The perpendicular part of the cross is about five inches wide and projects from a quarter of an inch to an inch and is of much lighter color -- having more quartz in its composition.

Medicare Deadline Moved to May 31

People aged 65 and over before March, 1966, may have basic hospital insurance beginning July 1, but they will not have supplementary protection for doctor bills and other medical expenses unless they enroll by May 31 and pay a $3 monthly premium.

The next opportunity for these people to enroll will not come until October, 1967, according to Gordon Sattelmehr, officer in charge of the Petoskey Social Security Office.

THE ORIGINAL deadline for enrolling for voluntary medical insurance was March 31. Nationally, about 90 percent of the 19.1 million eligible for Medicare had already signed up for medical insurance by March 31, but there were a little more than one million who had not made a decision on Medicare.

The deadline was extended to May 31 to give senior citizens more time to sign up for medical insurance, and for those who turned it down a chance to reconsider.

THE SOCIAL Security Administration emphasizes that persons over 65 do not have to be retired in order to be eligible for benefits.

The administration also points out that persons are eligible, even if they have not worked, a job covered by Social Security.

Persons should enroll for Medicare three months before their 65th birthday.

In Petoskey, the Social Security office is located at No. 2 Penn Plaza (the old Penn Railroad Station). Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays and from 9 a.m. until noon Saturdays.

Carol Annis Takes Part in Interlochen Arts Fete

Miss Carol Annis, Junior clarinetist of the Charlevoix High School Band, was at the Interlochen Arts Academy last Saturday, participating in the Michigan Week Youth Art's Festival as a member of the Honors Band sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

The band, composed of 85 of the finest instrumentalists in the State of Michigan, chosen on their performance at the State Solo and Ensemble Festival, met for the first time Saturday morning. Following a two hour sectional rehearsal, the band met for its only full rehearsal under the joint direction of William Root of Vicksburg and Bernie Kuschel of Benton Harbor, Band Directors of the year in Michigan.

The concert by the Honors Band was only one of several presented on this Youth Art's Festival Day -- saluting the youth of Michigan and their accomplishments. Ten outstanding soloists were presented, accompanied by the Interlochen Arts Academy Orchestra; The Michigan Honors Orchestra, directed by Messrs. Root and Kuschel presented a concert in the afternoon, as did the Michigan Honors Choir, directed by Kenneth Jewell of the Arts Academy staff.

These concerts were in addition to dramas, dance programs, and a musical "The Music Man" presented throughout the day. Gov. George Romney presented awards to the ten outstanding soloists at a noon luncheon at the Academy. Carol was accompanied to Interlochen by C. A. Odmark, who served as a section leader for the Honors Band. Several Charlevoix residents and students also attended.

One of every three men now employed will suffer a disability longer than 90 days during his working years.

City's Land Sale Policy Is Unfair

The City of Charlevoix is badly in need of some kind of constant policy when it comes to disposing of city property. The present policy -- if it can be called that -- of dealing with buyers on an individual basis can only lead to charges of favoritism.

A case in point is the sale last week by the City Council of approximately an acre and a half of city property to Gordon Freedman, head of Freedman Aircraft Engineering Corp. The property adjoins Mr. Freedman's present plant and he intends to use it for expansion and consolidation of his holdings in Charlevoix.

The property also happens to be the site of hangars at the city airport.

MR. FREEDMAN came to the meeting prepared to pay $2,000 for the land, but our hard-bargaining aldermen managed to talk him down to $1,000 providing he remove the hangars to another suitable location.

(Actually, the hangars should not enter into any discussion on price, because the city would just as soon have them right where they are. It is simply a convenience to Mr. Freedman to allow them to be moved.)

IN ANY EVENT, Mr. Freedman is paying $1,000 for a hunk of prime industrial property, which, according to a check with Charlevoix real estate people, is not too far out of line. However, when preparation of an abstract is taken into account (estimated at $350), plus legal fees, the city will probably end up with very little to show for its efforts. It might even cost the city money.

But that is neither here nor there. What is important is that Charlevoixans are not being treated fairly by the Council in land sale negotiations.

Last August, Sheridan Root appeared before the Council and said he would like to buy five acres south of the city to be used as storage in his demolition business. He offered $500 for the land.

Without hesitation, he was told the City could not sell property without putting it up for bids. After deciding the city no longer needed the property, bids were asked in the Courier.

Unfortunately, Sheridan had already exposed his hand by stating his price. He was prepared to pay $500 and no more. When the bids were opened, some one else had upped the ante a few dollars and Sheridan lost the property that would have helped him in his business.

Such a situation is patently unfair. In disposing of property, the City Council is supposedly guided by the effects of the sale on the community. Obviously, aldermen thought the sale to Mr. Freedman probably would create jobs, and improve the economy generally. The transaction was handled on the spot.

Sheridan Root doesn't have the same size operation. He got the run around.

We think it's time the city adopts one policy in such matters and sticks with it. We further recommend bid-taking as the best way to make sure the city gets top-dollar for its land, regardless of the urgency of the buyer.

A Day to Say You Remember

Once again the nation will pause May 30 to pay tribute to the men who have laid down their lives for their country.

In cemeteries across the nation, ceremonies similar to those planned in East Jordan, Charlevoix and Ellsworth will be held.

Citizens will turn out for band music, prayers and oratory, while miniature flags flutter from veterans' graves and gun salutes echo from hilltops recently blanketed with a new year's growth.

IT IS WELL perhaps that the pleasant aspects of Memorial Day often obliterate that perverse side of man and nations that gave birth to such a holiday in the first place. There is no escaping the fact that scarcely a generation has passed when the young men of our country have not been asked to risk their lives to protect the ideals we hold dear.

East Jordanians will be painfully aware of this fact as they stop to pay their respects at the grave of William Taylor who was killed in action in Vietnam last fall.

Your participation in Memorial Day services is one way of saying you remember those who have paid the supreme sacrifice.

Cyclists Leave Us Breathless

They came into town with a flashing of bicycle spokes and an abundance of animal energy Charlevoix hasn't seen in some time.

When they left two hours later, many Charlevoixans had a better idea about an old sport which is gaining new prominence every year in American -- bicycle racing.

Although the turnout wasn't as great as it could have been, enough Charlevoixans were on hand to give the riders a rousing welcome.

THE OLYMPIC-style races held later gave a good indication of some of the excitement the sport holds for people of all ages. The top winners in the five-mile race; for example, were in their middle and late 40's.

Congratulations to the City of Gaylord, and particularly to Harvey Kirchoff, for promoting this exciting segment of Michigan Week.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

Every year fewer things amaze me, but I continue to be impressed by that rare breed of man who can "live off the land." I am beginning to believe that they are found in unusually large numbers in Charlevoix County.

Although every country undoubtedly boasts a few members of this favored race, the qualities that are found in such stalwart independents seem peculiarly American.

However, I am beginning to fear I shall never be one of those fortunate souls to whom the great outdoors is nothing more than a well-stocked larder.

I'LL NEVER forget a woman I once knew in Ann Arbor. She happened to be one of those who could live just as well off the meager gleanings of her back yard as she could from the shelves of a supermarket. This was fortunate, because she was a university house mother by trade, the most unpopular calling any female ever fell into in the long course of history.

Many a time, for semesters on end, she found herself without a house to mother, and was forced to live like an animal. Fortunately she owned her own home and had a small yard that kept her well-fed and happy when other pickings were slim.

A TYPICAL meal at her house was likely to consist of escargot (snails, thank you), which she plucked from around the rocks in her garden, followed by a big bowl of steamed dandelion greens or asparagus, and a salad made of leaves and roots. Once a neighbor boy cut her grass as a gesture of goodwill and she almost starved to death until it grew back.

If she served soup it was a thin bouillon, seasoned with clippings from the herb bed. There would be rhubarb, applesauce, pears, grapes or other fruit for dessert. She never tended a garden, but neighbors' trees obligingly lolled over the fence into her yard, dropping their harvest into her lap.

She was a plump, jolly woman and you would never suspect to look at her how few pennies she spent every day at the grocery store.

delicate quail breasts to succulent venison steaks.

Lacking firearms, a well-aimed Mustang will do the job just as well. And if his family eats fish, even a mediocre outdoorsman can fill the gutlets of a rather large family without too much effort.

MAY, IT TURNS OUT, is truly a red-letter month for local live-off-the-landers. Mushrooms, which I thought grew in a dark cave somewhere in Pennsylvania, apparently are as common in the woods in Charlevoix County as smelt fishermen are in her streams.

However, local mushrooms don't look much like the faintly golden variety Judy puts in spaghetti sauce. (One we eat gets "buttons." Alone, we eat "pieces and stems.") The most popular kind locally seems to be the "black morel," a cone-shaped, wrinkled little fungus that looks as if it were designed by a Charlevoix architect.

HAVING ACQUIRED my deer rifle too late for deer season, and the ice having melted before I could find my ice spud in the cellar, and the smelt all having died of old age before I recovered from my first dipping episode, I decided quite resolutely the other evening that I wasn't going to let the mushroom season slip by without finding my share. So off to a Hayes Township woods we went, armed with a map showing shaded areas where morels are supposed to grow as thick as nettles.

Our first mistake was taking Kathleen along. She had never really been in a woods before, and every rotting tree stump was something to sit down and contemplate. Walking wasn't too easy for her, and every third step found her pitch-polling into one sinkhole or another, touching off a siren -- like howl you could hear all the way to East Jordan.

FURTHER complicating our search for mushrooms was an impenetrable blanket of wildflowers. There was trailing digitals, climbing elchrosts, flowering pubescence and I don't know what all. It was quite exciting, but we didn't find any mushrooms.

Needless to say, I am developing a real sense of inadequacy over my repeated failures in the great outdoors. And if my luck doesn't change pretty soon, I'm going to use my trout stamp to send a nasty letter to the Conservation Department.

From the Pulpit:

Attending Church—a Dual Purpose

There are practical as well as spiritual reasons for attending church, the Rev. George L. Majors, pastor of the Community Church of God, told his congregation Sunday.

"For the Christian, the service doesn't end when church lets out," Rev. Majors said. "Think of the stealing, hurting, killing and drunkenness that could be averted if all men took Christ's message with them. Sincere Christians have a regard for all mankind."

Among the spiritual rewards of church attendance, he said, are cleansing (of sins), healing, unifying, comforting and heralding the belief that the kingdom of God is at hand.

THE PASTOR said there is a responsiveness in church that is hard to find elsewhere. "There are many lonely people in the world and the church satisfies a desire for fellowship," he pointed out. "He also said that in spite of the emphasis on education today, education cannot satisfy man's needs."

"The Church is the only hope of an unhappy society. History tells us that the world in the various ages has been changed only to the degree that Christ has been received."

REV. MAJORS said church attendance is one sure way to honor God.

"We meet in His name, we lift our voices to Him in prayer."

He said that many people meet God in many ways, but we meet Him in a special way at a church service.

"We gain spiritual strength not only from God, but from one another," he said. "Attending church is like having the roots of our spiritual life refreshed, much as a plant is refreshed by water."

He told the story of the pilot who began a flight over a large body of water just as a brisk headwind sprang up. After flying several hours, the plane ran out of gasoline and the pilot made a forced landing. He was surprised to find he hadn't even begun to cross the lake, but had been bucking headwinds all the way.

"Many people are not making much spiritual progress against temporal headwinds," he said, indicating the need for a unified spiritual effort.

IN CONCLUSION he called the church a refuge and a place of rest. Looking back, he said he could remember no happier time than when he was together with his family in the House of God.

THE CHOR, directed by Bill Purdy, sang two Negro spirituals, "I'll be Listening" and "A Balm in Gilead."

A CARD the other day from our traveling friends, the Fred Willises, who were in Paris when they wrote. . . saying that they were having a wonderful time and that the weather was fine and the flowers beautiful. . . They should be home shortly because they were leaving there for London and then back to New York. . . How lucky can some people be. . .

IT'S BECOMING more of a problem every day. . . housing, mean. . . there's rarely a day that someone isn't knocking on my door or calling me. . . and at the office there's a steady stream of people, hunting, hunting, hunting. . . If you have any facility, a house, furnished or unfurnished, an apartment. . . anything that would be a roof over someone's head, won't you let someone know about it? You'll be doing everyone a big favor. . .

THOUGH the weather can hardly be called balmy, there's certainly a lot of people getting in a little early golf. . . How they can drive and putt while wearing fur-lined gloves and a ski jacket I haven't doped out but play golf they do. . . as often as they can get to the course. . . and play isn't confined to the stronger sex either. . .

HAVE YOU ever stopped to think what someone might think of you. . . or perhaps I should say, how someone might describe you? . . . I'm not saying this very well. . . but if someone should knock on your neighbor's door, introduce himself as an FBI agent (with credentials, of course) and start asking you questions about someone you knew, have you ever thought how you might answer them? . . . And they have the questions. . . Not long ago such a person came knocking on my door making inquiries about someone who lived in the neighborhood who had applied for a "hush-hush" job of some kind. . . (that's one of the irritating things. . . you never told what the job is). . . After questions and questions, I got more than a bit irritated. . . And when he asked if I knew whether or not the fellow he was investigating got along with his wife, I blew up. . . and told him I hadn't heard a word and anyway, what did that have to do with the job he was applying for? . . . His answer? You'd be amazed what you can find out from "observing" neighbors. . .

THERE'S a big holiday weekend coming up. . . Most people love holidays but I've come to hate them because of the accidents. . . Too many people start out on a holiday like the three-day weekend coming up, only to have it end in tragedy. . . all because someone didn't abide by traffic laws or was going some place in too big a hurry. . . The pain, heart ache and lasting sorrow that these accidents cause have no price tag on them. . . neither does a human life. . . there just isn't that much money in the world to compensate for all that. . . So please, please, be careful. . . we'd all much rather have you mentioned in our "I see by the Courier" column than as another statistic. . . And have a safe and happy holiday. . . And if you have company, how's about telling me about it. . .

E. Jordan to Hire City Utilities Boss

The East Jordan City Council agreed to hire a superintendent of public utilities at the May 17 meeting. Sewer problems and appointments to the Planning Commission also were on the agenda.

The superintendent will oversee city work crews, issue building permits and inspect work under construction. No salary was decided. The position will be advertised in "Municipal Magazine."

THE SEWER at the trailer park also was discussed. Bill Porter said a gravity system could be used for a while, but eventually a lift station will have to be built.

ROBERT Hill's nominees for the planning commission were approved. They are Harold Miller, First Ward; Bernard Sturgis, Second Ward; and Ralph Shepard, Third Ward.

The Council also: --Boosted the pay of the trailer park life guard by 10 cents an hour. Hours are to be determined by the Park Commissioner.

"Develop a genuine interest in politics, be frank and don't back down," she said.

As for her future political plans, Mrs. Robertson is non-committal. She did indicate, however, that if her first term of office as mayor is successful, she may decide to run again.

Board Turns Down 20 Pct. Increase

Deadlocked over a proposed wage increase for Charlevoix teachers, the Charlevoix Teachers Club has asked the State Labor Mediation Board to enter negotiations with the School Board.

The teachers have turned down a 13.5 percent increase proposed by the board, and are holding out for a 20.4 percent increase which they say will make their salaries competitive with others throughout the state.

THE MOVE was announced

Club States Position

(The following statement on teacher salary negotiations with the Board of Education has been prepared by the Charlevoix Teachers Club.)

"TWO WEEKS ago the Citizens Committee, which completed a comprehensive study of the public schools in Charlevoix, revealed that, on the average, the salaries of Charlevoix Public School teachers this year are approximately $1,700 below the average salary of school teachers in Michigan. The gap between teachers' salaries in Charlevoix and the average in the state has developed since 1961, when local salaries for teachers were average for the state.

"Beginning in 1962, when local teachers' salaries were approximately $200 below average, the gap has become progressively wider, because either Charlevoix teachers received no salary increase in a given year, or they were given raises far below the average increase granted in most schools in the state.

"THE EFFECTS on schools in Charlevoix of such a salary gap are easily predictable. Capable experienced teachers looking for new positions will almost certainly not be attracted to Charlevoix, where financial considerations would make such a move impractical during this time of teacher shortages and the common availability of much higher salaries elsewhere. Experienced teachers who become

Towns Remember Dead

KENNETH BERGMANN flashes big smile as he picks up the transistor radio he earned by selling subscriptions to the Charlevoix Courier. Prizes range from baseball mitts to bicycles. There are still a few contest kits available at the Courier office.

EAST JORDAN -- Color guards, a firing squad, the East Jordan High School Band, Brownies, Little Leaguers and children on bicycles all took part in East Jordan's Memorial Day parade.

After honoring the dead at East Jordan cemeteries, marchers formed a parade at the school and proceeded to Memorial Park where Rev. Warren Salveson conducted services.

A second service was held at the bridge where the naval dead were saluted.

The parade ended with a flag raising ceremony in G. A. R. Park.

ELLSWORTH -- The Ellsworth American Legion visited all cemeteries in Banks Township Memorial Day, concluding with services at Ellsworth Cemetery. The Rev. Van Der Werf of the The Wood Reformed Church was speaker.

Veterans, Scouts, horses and bicycles took part in a parade in downtown Ellsworth, with a salute to naval dead at the lake.

World War I vets Emory Wilson and Zell Bricker rode in a jeep at the head of the parade.

CHARLEVOIX -- Charlevoixans paid homage to the nation's dead Memorial Day with a parade down Bridge Street and prayer services at Brookside Cemetery.

A special service was held at the foot of Antine Street in commemoration of sailors who have lost their lives it sea.

SPEAKER was Lt. Cmdr. Dale Foster, skipper of the Coast Guard cutter Sparrow. He reminded his hearers that 600,000 Americans have laid down their lives in the nation's defense.

"This is a day of heroes," he said.

Foster recalled that at the close of World War II, Winston Churchill's words reflected the world that its next duty is to watch over the victory.

"THIS we have done; we have not forgotten," he said, pointing out that even today in Vietnam Americans are dying to hold tyranny in check.

He closed with a wish that "victory will be final in our day and that all men may live in peace and harmony."

Religious portions of the ceremony were conducted by the Rev. Alexander Wood and the Rev. Jack Harris, Panola Hiller recited the Gettysburg Address.

Meet Your School Board Candidates

Four candidates have petitioned to fill two four year vacancies on the Board of Education. They are: Mrs. Edith Gilbert, Ralph Hamilton, Dale Boss and Jack Rader.

Election will be June 13 from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. in the High School's "B" Building (the gym corridor).

Mrs. Edith Gilbert

Following are brief biographical sketches of the candidates:

A FREE LANCE writer, Mrs. Edith Gilbert is wife of Julius Gilbert, owner of the Lodge Motel. The Gilberts began coming to Charlevoix in 1940 as summer residents, moving here permanently two years ago.

Mrs. Gilbert was born in New York City and spent her childhood in New York, Hamburg, Germany, and Shanghai, China, where her father was in the export-import business.

She attended a convent school in San Francisco, public high schools in California, the University of California, a Los Angeles Business School and took courses at the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts.

Mrs. Gilbert thinks Charlevoix has a fine school system, as evidenced by the large numbers of graduates going on to college. She believes it is important to keep classes small.

"I'm enthused about the new emphasis on vocational training in our school," she says.

A NATIVE of Charlevoix, Ralph Hamilton says he is running for the school board "because people asked me. They think I can do some good."

Hamilton was a member of the City Council for eight years. For the past 20 years he has been clerk of the County Road Commission.

He and his wife, Margit, have three sons, David, Nicholas, and Ralph Jr., all of whom attended Charlevoix schools.

For the past 20 years Hamilton has been active in Kiwanis activities. He presently edits the club's newsletter.

Dale Boss, 35, is the only incumbent on the slate.

"It takes you two or three years to get your feet on the ground up there," he says of his first term on the board. "I think now I can be of real service to Charlevoix."

Boss, who delivers milk mornings for Maxbauer's Dairy, has operated his own insurance agency at North Point for the past 13 years.

He and his wife, Marilyn, have five children, Sharon, 13; Diane, 11; Dale Jr., 10; Jimmy, 7; and Pamela, 5. They also have two foster children, Kay Van Zant, 17, and Kathy Van Zant, 15.

Boss says he thinks some important decisions will have to be made by the board in the next few years, particularly in regard to new school construction. He feels his background will help him make those decisions.

In addition to serving on the School Board, Boss

Hart Eyes Alewife for Hungry World

Sen. Philip A. Hart today suggested that the Great Lakes overabundance of non-commercial fish including the alewife, could be used as a source of protein for underfed parts of the world.

In a letter to Senator Bartlett (D-Alaska), chairman of a Senate subcommittee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, Hart said that the lakes area would be an excellent site for a federal experimental factory to produce fish protein concentrate, sometimes known as "fish flour."

THE SUBCOMMITTEE is holding hearings on a bill (S-2720) authorizing construction of five plants to reduce whole fish into a safe, nutritious and inexpensive food.

Hart said that the Great Lakes now hosts a great many fish for which there is currently no commercial use. Principal among these is the alewife, an invader from the sea which is steadily crowding out the desirable fish such as trout and perch.

Nearly 80 percent of all the fish in Lake Michigan is now alewife.

HART SUBMITTED a report he had requested from the Ann Arbor laboratories of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries which strongly urged a fish concentrate plant for the lakes.

Hart said such a plant could serve two purposes: "Not only would it provide a new source of cheap food, but it would help restore stocks of the more desirable species."

Hart said the plant could also process carp and suckers from Lake Huron and carp, gizzard shad and sheepshead from Lake Erie.

Plant New Trees to Get Most Shade

Everyone's planting trees for beauty and shade, says the American Association of Nurserymen, but how and where they're planted makes all the difference. If not planted correctly you may not even get the shade you desire.

If you want shade for a patio or terrace on the west side of the house, the tree, to give the patio shade in the afternoon, should be planted to the west of the area to be shaded. In the middle of the summer the sun sets just north of due west, and the bulk of the tree's foliage must be between the sun and the patio to give the most shade. The hottest part of a summer day usually is between 3 and 5 p.m., so plant accordingly.

FOR A PATIO on the east of the house, the tree might be directly over the patio, since the house will give shade in the afternoon. For a patio on the south side, the tree should be due west; on the north, slightly to the north of due west.

Trees acclimatize the patio and keep it from heating up and generating reflective heat of its own.

Trees on the east side of a home often do yeoman service

In keeping bedrooms cool in the morning hours in summer. If they are deciduous, they of course drop their leaves in the winter months, thus allowing the house to get the full benefit of the sun's warmth.

ELSEWHERE, when you plant trees use care to see that the shade falls where you want it. Visualize where the sun will be at the time of the year you most want the shade and plant accordingly.

Sometimes by holding up a long pole you can get a better idea of where the shade will fall from a tree, but in doing this, remember that the setting of the sun from spring to the middle of summer moves from the southeast to just north of due west to allow for this change of the sun's position when planting.

Medusa Reveals Plans for Push-Button Plant

The cement industry's most advanced computer system and the first using direct digital control will be installed at the new Charlevoix plant of Medusa Portland Cement Co. Worth Loomis, Vice President-Administration, has announced.

A contract has been given to The Foxboro Co. Foxboro, Mass., for a PCP-88 multiple computer system and supporting electronic instrumentation for control of raw material blending, raw mill, kiln, cooler and finish mills of the four million barrel plant which is scheduled to go into operation in mid-1967. An X-ray analyzer will be hooked up to the computers to control the raw material blending.

"THERE WILL be two computers arranged as master and slave. The slave contains the direct digital control programs and once each second can scan about 150 signals and adjust the approximately fifty valves, motors and dampers running the plant," Loomis said.

"The master computer supervises the process and calculate operation set points which are used by the slave. Should the slave temporarily fail, the master drops its other functions and takes over the direct digital control without interruption."

"The dual computer arrangement," said Loomis, "will also allow us to do our own programming in 'do-it-yourself' FORTRAN machine language without risk of accidentally changing the direct digital control programs."

THE $25 MILLION Medusa project is located on the shores of Lake Michigan and will also include a harbor, dock and quarry. Construction is underway and some 300 men are at work on the job site. The company has purchased a former ore carrier and renamed her the "Medusa Challenger."

She is now being converted to haul cement to Medusa silos on the lakes.

"One interesting aspect of the installation," said Loomis, "is that Medusa's automation and cost reduction program has reached a point where the computer control will add slightly to plant employment rather than reduce it. The return on our investment will come from higher quality, higher output, and economies of material, fuel and power rather than reduction in labor."

The Charlevoix application of the PCP-88 will also be unique in the cement industry in that it has no analog controller backup.

USEFUL, NOT JUST ORNAMENTAL

The Church has a very definite function to perform. A function that is as definite as that of the weather vane in indicating the direction of the prevailing winds.

It is the function of the church to train and furnish growth for the soul. In performing this primary function it aids the human race in other ways, not the least of these being charity dispensation. It does this most effectively when well supported by attendance and financial aid. Thus, it is clear that the church needs you and that you need the church. If you are not already doing so, do something about that need immediately!

Half of Population Suffer Allergies

About half of us are allergic to something.

Pollen in the air can trigger hay fever, certain foods may start hives. Possible allergens are countless - house dust, animal fur, feathers, cosmetics, bleaches, medicines, foods, pollen. Some people are even allergic to heat, cold or sunlight. And there is the classic case of the woman who was allergic to her husband.

Most common result of allergy are four illnesses - hay fever, asthma, skin ailments and digestive disturbances. Hay fever is an inflammation of the eyes and nasal passages. Asthma is a disease of the bronchial tubes of the lungs. Food allergies, a sensitivity to one or more foods, can affect the skin, the digestive tract or the respiratory system. Skin allergies cause itching, sometimes rash.

Reaction to an allergen varies with individuals. One person may be only slightly upset by eating an egg. Another could become violently ill from the small trace of egg in salad dressing. There still are many unknown factors about the reason why someone suddenly becomes allergic to something.

Allergic diseases are not usually fatal, but they cause untold discomfort and suffering. Although worry and stress might be a contributing factor, allergy is not an imaginary illness. It is very real to the sufferer.

Sometimes the allergen is known and can be avoided. Sometimes many tests by a physician are required to arrive at the true cause. Medical care is necessary in all cases for relief of discomfort and for protection against future attacks.

If you suspect you are allergic to something, see your doctor. Self-diagnosis and self-treatment not only are futile, they frequently are dangerous.

Your doctor often can prescribe medications that will relieve the discomfort. And sometimes he can provide treatments that will desensitize you, so that the allergen no longer causes illness.

Offer Jordanians Free Golf Lessons

EAST JORDAN--Free golf lessons have been added to East Jordan's summer recreation program, according to director Barry Johnson. All East Jordanians are welcome to take part.

Johnson will give the lessons himself at Ye Olde Nine Holes course. The only cost will be a greens fee, for persons wishing to play. Clubs may be rented at the clubhouse.

Lessons are scheduled both in the morning and evening, with playing lessons at the convenience of students throughout the day.

More information on the program may be obtained by calling the clubhouse.

HANDICRAFTS also will be expanded this year, under the direction of Mrs. Don Bowers. The program is being planned so that it won't interfere with swimming lessons.

Drillwood craft and sand sculpturing are featured in the program. A 10-cent charge per project will be levied.

An Intermediate Softball League is being formed for boys 13 to 15, and an improved men's league is shaping up. Adult games will be held Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and possibly Fridays, beginning June 13.

Other recreation activities will start June 20. The program is sponsored by the Community Chest.

Only 4 Show Up for Chamber Meet

EAST JORDAN--Because only four members showed up, no official business was conducted at a meeting of the East Jordan Chamber of Commerce May 26.

Hiring a secretary to replace Mrs. Ann Hite who resigned was discussed and Sherman Thomas, president, said he would talk to Bill Stanek about the job.

JACK ZOULEK reported on the color brochures, which will cost $1,100 for 25,000. The possibility of having them printed was discussed and Zoulek was appointed to find out if it could be done.

The new brochure will be similar to the old one, having a map of East Jordan, the Jordan Valley and surrounding points of interest. It will have eight color photos and be smaller than the old one. Also discussed was the possibility of an ordinance concerning up-keep of vacant buildings. Zoulek pointed out that Saul Ste. Marie has such an ordinance which is being tested now.

MEMBERS present were Sherman Thomas, Mrs. Ann Hite, Jack Zoulek and Keith Selgel. The next meeting will be Thursday, June 2, at Thomas' office in the co-op. Fourth of July plans will be discussed.

The Chamber of Commerce booth on M-66 opened May 28 for the season.

Draft Test I's June 24

June 1 is the deadline for applications for the final test in the current series of selective service college qualification tests scheduled on June 24, it was announced today by state Selective Service headquarters.

Application forms for the test can be obtained at any Selective Service local board. Applications must be postmarked no later than June 1, 1966. This makeup test has been scheduled for those registrants who were late in applying for the first series and for any other registrants who now wish to take the test.

THE TEST may be taken by any registrant age 18 and older who intends to request occupational deferment as a college student. Test results will be reported to the student's local board.

The closest examination center is in Traverse City. Science Research Associates of Chicago, which is administering the test, reports more than 800,000 applications for the first three tests scheduled in May and June. This compares with only about 600,000 applications processed for students during the entire 11 years the test was previously administered between 1951 and 1963.

Song Fair Friday

Charlevoix Elementary School children will present a Song Fair Friday, June 3 at 1 p.m. in the school gymnasium. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

Interest and color will be added by costumes, sets and props, some designed by the students themselves.

The afternoon kindergarten classes will appear as "Happy Wanderers." First graders will follow a patriotic theme and second graders will do the "Popsicle Song," one of their favorites.

THIRD GRADERS are practicing a "Swing Song," while fourth graders will sing songs about various modes of transportation—a trolley, balloons and a rocket.

A Czechoslovakian folk song representing the "Four Seasons" will be one of the fifth grade songs. The sixth grade will feature a tambourine routine in a variety show atmosphere.

The dancers are being coached by Mrs. Geraldine Goss.

Brown, president; Beatrice Farkas, secretary; Nancy LaBrosse, historian; and Kathy Milligan, song leader. Missing is Kathy Lambert, vice president.

Tennis Team in State Finals

Mrs. C. J. Diller had as her guests over the weekend her son, Robert, and grandsons Robert and Gregory of Flint.

Fits your budget like a glove.

East Jordan Boys Claim Regionals

EAST JORDAN -- They've done it again. East Jordan's tennis team took the regionals for the fifth straight year, three years of which they were unbeaten.

Tennis was started and coached by Max Damoth in 1953. Two years later East Jordan took the State Championship. The team has continued to have an impressive record ever since, with a few bad years thrown in for good measure.

ALTHOUGH some of the records have been lost, complete ones are available for the years 1961 to 1966. In 1961, Ed Burrows became tennis coach and the team won one and lost seven.

In 1962, the team won two and lost three in regular play, won the regionals and placed fifth in the state.

In 1963, East Jordan won 8, losing only to Cadillac. The team won the regionals and placed fifth in the state.

The only recorded loss in 1964 was to Cadillac. However, East Jordan won the regionals and placed fourth in the state.

In 1965, the team placed third in the state following a season of seven wins and one loss to Cadillac.

This year the team finally beat Cadillac, winning nine, losing one and taking the regionals unbeaten.

BURROWS has high hopes for the team in state competition this year. Regional winners will meet in Stowe Stadium, Kalamazoo, June 3 and 4.

Participating in the state finals will be Jim Cihak in the singles, David Reed and Bill Chase in the doubles, with Jerry Hammond and Brian Sturgis as runners-up in the doubles.

Last Jordan plays all sizes of schools from Alpena and Benzie Central to Leelanau School for Boys. Some of the boys they play against have their own tennis tutors and courts. One, in fact, was coached by Pancho Gonzales, the world champion tennis player. Many can devote most of their spare time strictly to tennis.

The East Jordan boys have only one coach, no privately owned courts and many work in their spare time.

Tennis is an equalizer in the sports field. Larger schools with more talent to choose from and keep in reserve may excel in basketball and football. Tennis gives the small school a chance to show what it is made of.

FOR MANY of the boys tennis doesn't end with leaving East Jordan High School. Many have gone to play in colleges and to coach it themselves. Bob and Cal Darbee played on C.M.U. team and now Bob is coach in Boyne City; Chuck Reed, C.M.U.; Mike Bell, out for M.S.U. team; Mike Schenck, 3 years on C.M.U. Varsity team; Bob Sherman, Alma College; Allan Somerville, C.M.U. and now coaches at Suttons Bay; Bob Danforth, C.M.U., former coach at Hillsworth and now coach downstate; Dr. Lyle Johnson, Alma and C.M.U.; Dr. Bruce Brintnall, Alma and Dick Johnson, Alma.

What's the key to success? Perhaps it's Burrows' approach. At the beginning of each tennis season he invites five freshmen to participate in tennis to learn the fundamentals. A few quit at the end of the year.

Burrows exudes enthusiasm for the sport and 1963 he solicited money on his own to build a new court. Of course, it takes more than an enthusiastic coach. East Jordan boys work hard and long to better themselves.

Do you have $300.00 to burn?

Heard all the claims about conversion to gas heat? Let's look at the facts. Fact one - you can "burn up" up to $300 and more when you install a gas furnace, and get no advantage in return. Fact 2 - you get no guarantee that you'll save fuel costs for the life of the furnace. Fact 3 - if invested or banked, your $300 could be earning him $10 to $25 yearly. Need better heating? You're better off to remodel your present oil heat system. For example, our Air Star Warm Oil Burner costs less than $100 yet can increase heating efficiency as much as 40%. Before you "burn up" $300 or more, call us for the facts and a free estimate.

Who's Afraid of City Hall?

What should the city do when a private citizen ignores the wishes of her elected representatives for months on end?

This is the question which is beginning to bother City Fathers whose repeated orders regarding the maintenance and repair of an unoccupied commercial building on Antrim Street have been met with contempt.

The property is owned by Mrs. Marguerite Currie of California who is represented in Charlevoix by her business agent and father, Earl Young.

TWICE SINCE last fall the City Council has heard complaints that the building poses a hazard to the community. Nov. 17 Bill Kusina brought a photograph to a Council meeting showing a section of sheet metal which blew off the building and landed in Antrim Street.

Mrs. Currie and Mr. Young were asked to make repairs. Nothing happened.

March 21 it was brought to the Council's attention by City Attorney John Michael that the outside stairway is in a bad state of repair and should either be fixed or torn down, since it is dangerously attractive to youngsters. Again Mr. Young was notified. And again nothing was done.

CONTACTED by the Courier May 19, Mr. Young said poor health and business problems had prevented him from doing anything about the building, adding that he has more important things to do. He did say, however, that repairs would be made "next week."

Today, the rickety stairway still stands, an inviting booby trap to any youngster who happens along.

As a builder, Earl Young has done considerably more than most people to make Charlevoix an attractive place in which to live. Yet civic contributions--regardless of their magnificence--give no one the right to hold the orders of the City Council in contempt.

No Flags for Civil War Vets

Not too many years have passed since the last Civil War soldier was gathered to his brothers and the final chapter of the Grand Army of the Republic was consigned to the history books.

The G.A.R. survivors that most of us remember were stiff-legged old folks who swung their canes in as many Memorial Day parades as they were able. They enjoyed reminiscing about the War and could easily conjure up pictures of rebel troops marching into Gettysburg and Pickett's bloody charge against Cemetery Ridge.

IT WAS IN memory of the gallant dead of the Civil War that Gen. John A. Logan proclaimed the first Memorial Day in 1868 and expressed the hope that the memory of those who gave their lives in that war would be forever sacred to a grateful nation.

It is ironic that at Brookside Cemetery Monday, the only servicemen's graves neglected were those of G.A.R. veterans. The worn bronze flag holders reading "G.A.R. Post 119" were still in place, but the fluttering American flags which marked the graves of other veterans were City Superintendent Jim Taylor says that although the building is badly in need of repair, it is still basically sound. Mr. Young says he plans some day to convert it into a usable commercial property.

BUT IN the meantime repairs cannot wait. Summer -- kids-- free time -- and a derelict old building add up to only one thing: Trouble. One serious injury accident would make the cost of repairs seem paltry indeed.

Stairway to trouble . . .

We would like to think our City Fathers have displayed the patience of Job in dealing with Mrs. Currie and Mr. Young. Deep down, however, we are beginning to share their doubts about the respect the City Council commands in some quarters.

No one remembered . . .

The Civil War was too crucial in the development of America to be so easily forgotten. The liberties for which the Union Army fought and died have never been more important to men the world over than they are today.

Let us hope another Memorial Day will find flags flying over the graves of ALL the veterans in Brookside Cemetery.

Clockwise

Impossible as it seems, the era of the wind-up record player is just about over. The death knell--it there is to be one--could well have been rung over the Dickens Club's Heritage Day display in Hulse's store window during Michigan Week. There, for all the world to see, was an old Edison model--right in there with the oil lamps, the curling irons and the sealing wax.

Not too many years have passed since the hand-operated Victrola was an important part of the American home. The music invariably sounded tinny and every hairline scratch on a record came through loud and clear. Yet to me the Victrola was the most remarkable piece of furniture in the house. I'd crank it up and listen by the hour to some reedy-voiced English tenor singing "On the Road to Mandalay" or another fellow with a burr on his tongue wheezing through "There's a Wee Wee Man in the Heather."

I CAN NEVER recall anyone buying new needles for my machine. If a record started sounding too bad, you'd remove the needle and drop it into a little metal cup near the turntable. Then from another little metal cup you'd take another needle and insert it in the tone arm. When one cup was empty, you'd just reverse the process.

During World War II, when metal products of any kind were in short supply, cactus needles became fashionable. They were good for maybe one or two records. Then you'd have to sharpen them on an emery board. It was a lot of work, really, but it gave you a warm feeling knowing you were doing something for the war effort.

I DON'T remember just when Ma decided it was old hat to keep the Victrola in the living room. The era of the recreation room was just dawning, and this seemed the logical place to put it. Our basement was scarcely recreation room material, but there were a few square feet of vacant space between the laundry boiler and the fruit cellar that weren't being used for anything in particular except sleeping quarters for the dog. It's just good sense to make use of it," Ma said. "Besides, the porch glider is down there most of the year anyway. If you'd paint the water pipes aluminum, put a scrap of carpet on the floor, do something to hide the laundry tubs and slap "Elmer's Tune" on the turntable, you couldn't tell our basement from the Latin Quarter."

That's what she said. At any rate, a good many school parties were held in our basement, not so much because of the Victrola and the flashy decorations but because the fruit cellar made an excellent penalty room for the losers whenever we played "Post Office." And that's about all we ever played.

THAT PARTICULAR Victrola came to grief one night when our dog Fox gave birth to a litter of pups. She went into labor after we all had retired for the night and in the morning we were delighted to find a nest of puppies in her bed. However, the delivery must have been difficult, because the poor old dog had just about gnawed the leg off the Victrola during her ordeal.

The machine somehow never sounded the same. It was wobbly and would grumble and cough, often groaning to a dead stop in mid-record. I finally took it apart to see what was the matter and never got it back together again. I think my brother-in-law is still using the cabinet as a tool chest.

Fortunately, our recreation room wasn't long without a Victrola. A great-aunt decided about the same time to forego the pleasure of listening to her table model, and I inherited it. As I recall, she threw in a record of some shepherd's singing "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear."

Although it was only half the size of our first Victrola, it weighed twice as much and it was all-I could do to maneuver it down into the recreation room. It did yeoman duty for the remainder of the war before it also came to a very unlikely end. But that's another story.

REMEMBER recently I mentioned that one of these days we'd be hearing some stories about wild animals and their treks into civilization. . . I heard my first one the other day from Mrs. Franklin Curtis, who with her husband, keeps things in line at the Chicago Club. . . One evening recently she thought she heard a prowler on the back porch. . . She was right only it wasn't a human as she had suspected. . . It was the biggest, hungriest looking raccoon she'd ever seen. . . scrounging in the garbage can. . . The club is as deserted as can be during the winter so don't know where he came from but he was sure taking advantage of the new-found source of food. . .

AND SPRING brings other things, too, some of them unpleasant. . . Like bats. . . I was surprised to hear that they were around so early. . . Anyway, a friend of mine sent out an S.O.S. about 11 p.m. the other night. . . one had gotten in her house and was high in the stair well. . . What should she do? . . . The answer was simple. . . call the police. . . Now I'll admit that it seems a little out of his line of work but our police are mighty fine jobs who can be depended on to come to your assistance, no matter what the emergency. . . Earl Crandall answered the call, surveyed the situation, took a couple swipes with the broom, stunned the animal and had him out of the house in almost nothing flat. . . I suppose I could look it up but instead I'll ask you. . . Do bats migrate like other birds or do they stay here all winter? If so, where do they live?

READ SOMETHING the other day that made me sad. . . I'm sure there are many of you who loved to see the cruise ships come in to Charlevoix. . . something they did all too seldom to my way of thinking. . . Everyone, I'm sure, enjoying seeing both the North and South American of the Georgian Bay Line come in. . . It was such a beautiful sight. . . Now I understand that the days of the South American are the only one of the two still being operated may be short-lived. . . That following the fire aboard the Yarmouth Castle last year with the loss of 90 lives, federal restrictions are becoming more severe and, as a result, the companies operating the South American and the Milwaukee Clipper may not find it practical to make all the changes to keep the two cruise ships in operation. . . It's really a shame that this should happen at a time when Great Lakes cruises are more popular than they have been in many years.

AND HOW ABOUT that spring weather which finally arrived in northern Michigan last week? It brought out scads of people doing all sorts of things. . . working in yards, and gardens, painting, hunting for mushrooms, fishing. . . just name it. . . And the kids. . . they're having a ball. . . After being bundled in warm clothing for 10, these many months, they seem to have a terrific urge to shed everything and you see them running around in swim suits, shorts and barefeet. . . It makes you have renewed hope, believe me. . .

HOPE YOU enjoyed the track meet. . . For the first time in ages the weather was perfect. . . so perfect that it was possible to break three records, one of which had stood since 1938. . . And though Charlevoix didn't have any record breakers, they rolled up enough points to capture the title for the third straight year. . .

ANOTHER thing I enjoyed were the bike races Saturday. . . This was something new to me. . . I talked with some of the racers and found that this is quite a sport. . . There were riders from throughout the Midwest and are they ever serious about this. . . Can't think of a sport that so many people can enjoy. . . I always thought that bikes were for bicycles. . . but they're not. . . I was told that racing bikes have up to 12 speeds and that touring bikes have 20. . . It's really something to see these races and to find that people of all ages enjoy this sport that's becoming more popular all the time. . .

REMEMBER those horrible little fish, the alewives, that washed up on our beaches a few years ago and caused such a furor all along the west coast of Michigan? Believe it or not, they've found a use for them and they're fishing for them now off Denon Harbor and St. Joe. . . Seems they use trawlers, set nets and haul them in by the tons. . . to be sold to companies that make cat food. . . I was amazed to find that these pesky fish, which made their way to the Great Lakes via the St. Lawrence seaway and adapted to fresh water, make up approximately 60 per cent of the fish population in the lakes.

From the Pulpit

Certainty of Death Points Way to Life for Faithful

"Some people already have their lives planned. They don't want God around getting in the way," the Rev. Jack Harris told his congregation at the First Baptist Church Sunday. In a powerful sermon entitled "Life's Uncertainty," Rev. Harris said that too many people keep putting Christ off, saying "Maybe later, Lord, maybe later. No, God, we don't need you today."

"Yet Christ calls today for us to follow him, because today is the day for Christian service in Christ's kingdom," Rev. Harris said the aptness of the sermon was brought home to him forcefully just the night before when he sat at the bedside of a parishioner whose lungs had been badly burned. At one time during the night the victim stopped breathing, but prompt action by doctors and nurses started his heart beating again. He used the story to point up the uncertainty of life.

"Today's rich may be poor tomorrow; today's thriving business may be for good or close tomorrow; today's athletes may be crippled tomorrow; life may be death tomorrow," he said.

"Yet so many people live life as if it goes on forever," he said.

BECAUSE of the certainty of death ("statistics tell us that one of us dies"), Rev. Harris said man must accept God or be prepared to die without hope.

How many of us go through life saying "I am the master of my fate; I am the captain of my soul," hoping God will accept us with open arms because of our good deeds?

We have lots of town spirit, as evidenced by our support of our band, ball team and other things. This Venetian Festival is an event our town advertises, to which a lot of people are attracted and can bring credit to us, too.

WE HAVE LOTS of talent in and around Charlevoix who should be begging to get up on that stage and show what they can do. There should cause of what we have made of ourselves."

"It is God alone who can turn a worthless existence into a priceless existence; it is God alone who can lift certain defeat into absolute victory; and certain death into certain life."

REV. HARRIS said accepting God is the most important step a man ever takes, because God alone is the giver of life as well as hope.

REV. HARRIS' sermon was taken from James 4:13. "Go to now, ye that say, Today or tomorrow we will go into such a city and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain; (14) Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away. (15) For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that."

More booths with action games are needed. We all have so much fun at the P. T. A. fairs and such similar things, it would seem some of those booths might enter this. Although it's work, still it could be a time when we could all get together in a spirit of town pride, have some fun ourselves and provide something for all these people who come to enjoy with us.

The boat parade will be good this year. The street parade last year was very good. Plan on something for the parade so it will be as good or better this year. Think up ideas for a booth. Crowds come to see what we are putting on, so let's not disappoint them ---- let's be putting it on.

Dear Editor:

I attended the Venetian Committee meeting and think this committee deserves praise for assuming the responsibility for this community affair. I don't think it's fair for us to leave it all up to them to come up with plans, without suggestions or help, and yet be Johnny-on-the-spot with criticism about how much better it should have been. They would welcome your suggestions.

We have lots of town spirit, as evidenced by our support of our band, ball team and other things. This Venetian Festival is an event our town advertises, to which a lot of people are attracted and can bring credit to us, too.

WE HAVE LOTS of talent in and around Charlevoix who should be begging to get up on that stage and show what they can do. There should be so many, the committee might have to hold auditions and pick and choose. It should become an honor to be chosen. Perhaps you didn't know your offer would be welcome, but it would. More booths with action games are needed.

Dear Editor:

We just received a copy of your excellent April 14 editorial in which you stressed the need in Charlevoix County of a medically qualified medical examiner and the need for a state law requiring police officers to report all deaths of unusual or suspicious nature to such examiners.

As a basis for the editorial you cited the deaths of Jens Sauberg and Mrs. Leona Hayes, the first by drowning and the second by strangulation.

AN UNFORTUNATE phrase in your consideration of the latter was "either a suicide or a death by epileptic seizure, or a combination of both."

Death rarely is directly attributable to an epileptic seizure. About the only time this can happen is in a rare occurrence known as status epilepticus in which the person goes from one seizure directly into another and so on until the body literally wears itself out and death ensues.

Most deaths popularly attributed to epilepsy are accidental, such as drowning or falling into a fire while undergoing a seizure.

There are approximately 135 persons with epilepsy living in Charlevoix County. We would prefer that they did not get the false idea that epilepsy can be a death sentence.

Sincerely,

Jennifer P. Houghton (Mrs.)

JACK RADER became interested in running for the school board when he served as chair in an of the finance committee for the school study steering committee.

"I see a lot of problems and a lot of challenges in the job," he says.

The Raders moved to Charlevoix from Oak Harbor, Ohio 11 years ago. Rader was a member of the Oak Harbor School Board at the time. He is owner of Petoskey Oil Co., serving Petoskey, Charlevoix and East Jordan.

Rader and his wife, Carolyn, have four children Jack and David are both CTS graduates; Nancy is a Junior and Peggy is in the 7th grade.

Rader sees big changes in education in the next five to ten years.

"We've got a good school system, but it can be greatly improved. And it's going to take financing to do it," he says.

M. A., each in 11 steps. They also agreed to two additional steps after 18 and 20 years, bringing the maximums to $8,000 and $8,500 respectively.

Dinwiddie said the teachers' proposal would cost the School District an additional $56,269 a year, necessitating the School Board to ask for extra millage. The School Board proposal would cost $37,167 which could be handled within the budget.

The highest individual raises under the Teachers Club proposal would be $1,923 with a low of $742, depending on years of service and education. Increases for teachers planning to return would average $1,338.42.

Under the board proposal, the largest increase would be $1,317 and the lowest for a full-time teacher would be $485. Average increase would amount to $874.20.

DINWIDDIE presented information to the board showing the state minimum median for teachers with B. A.'s is $5,165. The maximum is $8,042. Similar figures for an M. A. are $5,540 and $8,666.

However, he said if the Detroit area districts are eliminated, the median figures for a B. A. drop to $4,878 and $6,825 and for an M. A. to $5,156 and $6,985.

PRESIDENT Burr Blanchard said the board is not obligated to accept the findings of the State Mediation Board. A state investigator is expected to be in Charlevoix in a week or ten days to review the district's financial position in regard to teacher salaries.

Figures were cited at the meeting showing that Roscommon's B. A. teachers will start next year at $5,300 with a top of $7,340; Kalkaska, $5,000, and $7,200; Gaylord $5,300 and $7,500; and Northport $5,000 and $7,200.

Teachers and board members have been working on contract negotiations since January. Representing the Teachers Club have been Leonard Staley, Max Novak, Kay Smith and Gerald Harris. In addition to Dinwiddie, the board was represented by Clarence Koteskey and Glenn Kenney.

Interested in working in Charlevoix would probably either be natives of the area who wish to return to live in the place they loved as children or members of the profession who have had difficulty finding and keeping a position. The latter obviously are not the kind of teachers people of Charlevoix want to entrust with the education of their children, and the former are not available in large enough numbers to fill vacancies. Beginning teachers, too, unless the area holds personal attractions for them, will naturally apply first where financial fields are greenest, and schools in this area will tend to have the less able beginning teachers make application here. Higher salaries would help attract to Charlevoix capable experienced teachers and the most promising beginning teachers.

"CHARLEVOIXANS have won the reputation of being proud of their city. No Charlevoixan thinks of his city as 'average.' High quality is what seems naturally to be expected in every regard in our city. Nowhere is it more important than in the area of education. To provide children of Charlevoix with an education of high quality, the best possible teachers are necessary. In general, in this time of teacher shortage, such teachers are not likely to have to make application in a school where the average salary is $1700 below the state average and where teachers' salaries are among the lowest 12 per cent in the state.

"These facts are startling when placed beside the fact that in the amount of valuation backing each pupil, Charlevoix is in the top 10% of the school districts in the state. Charlevoix is one of the wealthiest school districts in the state, but its teachers are among the lowest-paid.

"IN AN EFFORT to come to an agreement on a fair salary schedule, members of the negotiating committees of the Charlevoix Board of Education and of the Charlevoix Teachers' Club met twenty-five times from Jan. 11 to May 26. Despite the atmosphere of cordiality during the meetings, no agreement was reached, and the State Labor Mediation Board has been asked to come into the negotiations to aid in a settlement. "None of this year's teachers has signed a contract to teach next year in Charlevoix."

Pair Are Hurt in Auto Crash

Two Battle Creek residents were injured early Monday morning when their car struck a tree along Miles Road in South Arm Township.

Admitted to Charlevoix Hospital were Luella Marie Nelson, 48, of 905 North, Battle Creek, and S/Sgt. Edmund Godfried Bowl, 48, with 6th Corps Hq. at Battle Creek. Sheriff's Deputy Byron Stockwell said Mrs. Nelson was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions. She suffered a broken arm and heel and severe lacerations.

Bowl suffered a dislocated hip and possible internal injuries.

Blaze Damages Lavanway Home

The Edward Lavanway home was damaged by fire May 24. The fire was reported about 8 p.m. and was two miles west of Charlevoix. No one was injured.

Two rooms were gutted and other rooms were damaged by smoke and heat. No estimated damage has been as yet.

According to fire chief, Bernard Hammond, the cause of the fire is undetermined but an investigation is being held.

Hammond said that the fire was under control within an hour and that the department used their chain saw to ventilate the fire and help extinguish it.

Find Escapee Near Paw Paw

Robert Charles Shawa, 39, has been returned to Charlevoix County Jail after walking away from a work detail at the Medusa site last Thursday after he was "laid off."

Shawa, who is serving a year's term for contempt of court, was picked up early Sunday morning by Van Buren County sheriff's deputies near Paw Paw. He was hitch-hiking. Sheriff Philo Sumner went to Paw Paw to bring him back. It was the second time that Shawa, who has working privileges, has walked off the job, this spring. The first time he was found in Charlevoix. Sumner says henceforth Shawa will be kept under lock and key.

Bernard "Beanie" Russell, custodian at the Charlevoix Elementary School, is also custodian of a spanking new Honda 90--thanks to the generosity of Charlevoix Courier readers.

The fact that Beanie needed a new Honda came to light last winter after he found six-year-old Bobby Warner head down in a snowbank and saved him of suffocation.

IN THE RESULTING publicity --- including the presentation of a good citizens award by the Kiwanis Club-- Beanie mentioned that his old motorbike was ready for the scrap heap.

A collection was started by the Courier --- and Beanie's brand new Honda is the result. A total of $466.80 was donated, enough to buy the cycle and six months' insurance, to boot.

State Takes Over Driver Licensing

E. Jordan Office Shows a Deficit

EAST JORDAN -- The city-operated Drivers' License Bureau was taken over by the State of Michigan Tuesday, June 7. It is now called the Charlevoix State Station and will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 and from 1 p.m. to 5.

Oliver "Ollie" Johnson will run the bureau replacing Mrs. Victoria Van Loo who will return to her former job of deputy city clerk and treasurer.

Johnson spent 22 years with the Traverse City Police force and was associated with the city-county licensing bureau in Traverse for about seven years. He received training in Kalamazoo for the position. He and Mrs. Johnson will be moving to East Jordan in the future.

ACCORDING to City Clerk, Ben Bustard, the city ran a deficit of $4,000 by handling the Bureau on a one-year trial. He also said that the state has leased the building for a year with a renewal clause. Mrs. Van Loo said the deficit was caused by lack of participation of the whole county.

Bustard also stated that the State has a tentative plan to take over all the licensing bureaus and all will be run by the State with centrally located cities serving a 30-mile radius and if this plan takes effect then East Jordan would be a good location for such an agency.

Johnson will issue new and renewal licenses and will give road tests. Times for road tests will be announced later.

Softball Tryouts Are Set

Summer Recreation Director Deano Davenport has set try-out and organization meeting dates for the various summer softball leagues. League play is expected to start June 17.

All seven, eight and nine-year-olds who were not on a team in the Kiwanis Youth League last year are to report at the City Hall Field Monday, June 13, at 7 p.m. for the purpose of organizing teams.

Members last year will be on the same team this year, Davenport said.

Prospective Peanut League players aged 10 to 13 not on a team last year will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 14, for tryouts.

All new Junior League players will meet Wednesday, June 15, at 7 p.m.

A men's softball organizational meeting will be at 8:30 p.m. June 13 at the City Hall.

The Senior Men's Bloopers League will meet at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 15, also at the City Hall.

Davenport says men are still needed as umpires and managers.

Hits Utility Pole, Wrecks Auto

Kim L. Wadliff, 19, of Kankakee, Ill., totaled his car Sunday, June 5, about 7 p.m., when he lost control of it on the curve on Michigan Ave. and struck a utility pole.

Passenger in the car was Joseph McCann, 16, of Charlevoix. He was not injured but was hospitalized.

City police issued Wadliff a summons for failing to have his car under control.

The temperature hit a balmy 75 degrees in Charlevoix Sunday, according to weatherman Harry Ladd. Low for the week was 27 degrees June 1.

FORMER Drivers' License Bureau chief, Mrs. Victoria Van Loo, helps Oliver Johnson get ready for opening day under state auspices.

Council, Schlemman Discuss Property

Informal discussions with Robert Schlemman on his real estate holdings in Charlevoix took a good portion of the Council's time June 7.

Schlemman owns the building on the North Side which Freedman Aircraft Engineering Corp. has occupied for the past two years. Freedman recently negotiated the purchase of approximately 1 3/4 acres of airport property to consolidate his operations on the South Side, after the Council heard a complaint that he was violating 1-3 zoning.

Schlemman told the Council that when he acquired the property 15 years ago, he was informed by a city manager named Rogers that manufacturing was permitted in the former Chicago Club garage.

The 1-3 zoning limits use of the property for boat building and canvas fabrication.

MAYOR BILL Fochtman told Schlemman that there had been many complaints that the building had been used for spray painting and that the operation has been detrimental toward new home construction in the area.

Schlemman says he will wait and see what the Council decides to do about the property.

Fochtman told Schlemman that the city has regretted selling him 300 feet of Lake Charlevoix some years ago and asked if he would be interested in selling the property back to the city.

Schlemman said he does not plan to sell, but when and if he does, the city will have first opportunity to buy. He says he plans to build a marina on the site.

HE ALSO told the Council that he would like to buy any airport property available at $500 an acre. He said he understood the original site of Freedman Aircraft Engineering Corp. was given free to Freedman.

Alderman Robert Neff set the record straight by recalling that Freedman paid $760 for the parcel on which the Freedman plant now stands.

THE COUNCIL also heard and turned down a request by Bill Supernaw for permission to construct a drag strip at the airport.

Members also received word that the State Liquor Control Commission has offered to buy the airport.

Land Developers At Susan Lake and Bay Side

Approximately 80 acres in Bay Side, across the C and O tracks from Bay Shore, is being cleared for home development by the American Central Corp. of Lansing.

Another tract on Susan Lake, formerly owned by Ed Frank, also is being developed by the same firm.

EARTHMOVING equipment already has been moved onto the Bay Side site and roads originally platted in 1899 are being opened up. Part of the property extends in a westerly direction from Bay Side, along the Lake Michigan Shore.

The firm reportedly has handled many land development projects around the state, including the Lake Arrowhead development in Ingham County.

East Jordan Graduates Told Steps to Better Life

EAST JORDAN--Dr. Charles Anspach, President Emeritus of Central Michigan University, delivered the commencement address entitled "The Magnificent Obsession" to the 60 graduation seniors and several hundred guests at East Jordan commencement, June 1.

Dr. Anspach referred to Lloyd Douglas' novel "Magnificent Obsession" and the drive to do good. He asked the seniors what they were leaving behind and what they were taking with them.

He listed four steps toward the magnificent obsession.

The first is that life is one of law and order and that people must learn this. Secondly, he said that life is challenging and there is a compelling, driving force to find a better way to do things. Next he said that life is enjoyable and that security is not guaranteed. He said that with increased education the ability to enjoy life and be productive is also increased. Lastly, Dr. Anspach said that to earn life one must give of himself.

JIM CIIAK delivered the salutatory address and said thank you to all the people who helped the students grow into the young adults that they are. He thanked the ministers for spiritual guidance, the teachers for scholastic and social guidance and the parents for their support of the school and for their continuing understanding and guidance.

The valedictory address was delivered by Tom Drenth. He said that the students must enter the adult world now and be prepared to be judged everyday by others. Students must dedicate themselves to

State Mediator Due June 15

Charlevoix School Superintendent Rex Milligan has received word that a State Mediation Board Representative will be in Charlevoix June 15 to try bring the Teachers Club and the Board of Education into agreement on a new salary schedule.

The mediator will be Robert G. Mason who will attempt to reconcile a 20.4 percent pay increase asked by the teachers with a 12.5 percent increase proposed by the School Board.

Milligan says he has offered to assist Mason in every way possible.

THE TEACHERS and the board already agree that starting salaries for teachers with bachelors degrees should be increased from $4,900 to $5,300 and for teachers with masters degrees from $5,200 to $5,600.

However, the teachers want the B.A. and M.A. hiked to $8,230 and $8,696 respectively, compared to limits of $6,767 and $7,183 offered by the board and approved by Hal Hill as a disinterested observer.

FOLLOWING is a statement by the teachers club in answer to charges made by School Board member Darrell Dinwiddie last week that the teachers are being made pawns in a power struggle between the Michigan Education Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO), Charlevoix teachers are affiliated with the MEA.

The Michigan Education Association (MEA), the professional organization to which all Charlevoix public school teachers voluntarily belong, has these purposes:

(1) To work for the welfare of school children, the advancement of education, and the improvement of instructional opportunities for all;

(2) To develop and promote the adoption of such ethical practices, personnel policies and standards of preparation and participation as mark a profession;

(3) To unify and strengthen the teaching profession and to secure and maintain the salaries, retirement, and other working conditions necessary to support teaching as a profession;

(4) To enable members to speak with a common voice on matters pertaining to the profession.

THE MEA's primary objective over the years has been to help teachers become better teachers. Conferences, workshops, publication of research findings in education, discussion groups--these are only a few of the MEA-sponsored activities aimed at increasing the effectiveness of teachers in their classrooms.

In recent years many highly-trained teachers have been enticed into more lucrative positions in other areas of work. In some school districts, because it offered an effective means of achieving a much-needed improvement in the financial status of teachers, the American Federation of Teachers was given the right to bargain on behalf of the teachers. This action removed with its stress on the importance of high professional standards.

BECAUSE of these developments, the MEA has within recent years provided legal counsel for teachers' groups that have been attempting to improve the financial picture so that capable teachers will find it worthwhile to remain in the profession.

The MEA pronounces sanctions against districts in which no or insufficient effort is made to correct practices harmful to the maintaining of high standards in the profession. The pronouncing of sanctions against a district discourages other teachers from applying for positions in the district, but it does not authorize a strike.

State Law Shields New Coho Salmon

It is unlawful to keep coho salmon, Michigan fishermen are warned by the State Conservation Department.

The cohos were introduced into Manistee County's Bear Creek and Benzie County's Platte River in March in an effort to launch a new game fish for Michigan anglers. There are reports that many of the cohos were caught during Michigan's trout opener.

AT FIRST it was believed that the fish were not legally protected, because there are no specific regulations covering the new species.

However, Michigan law provides that all fish are the property of the state and can be taken only according to provisions of law, according to John A. Angulin, chief of the Department's Law Enforcement Division.

"SINCE THE law does not provide for keeping cohos, these fish are automatically protected," he said.

Another 225,000 young cohos are slated to be released soon in the Big Huron River in Baraga County.

The fish are similar in appearance to rainbow trout. One difference is that the coho has spots only on the top half of its tail, whereas the rainbow's entire tail is spotted.

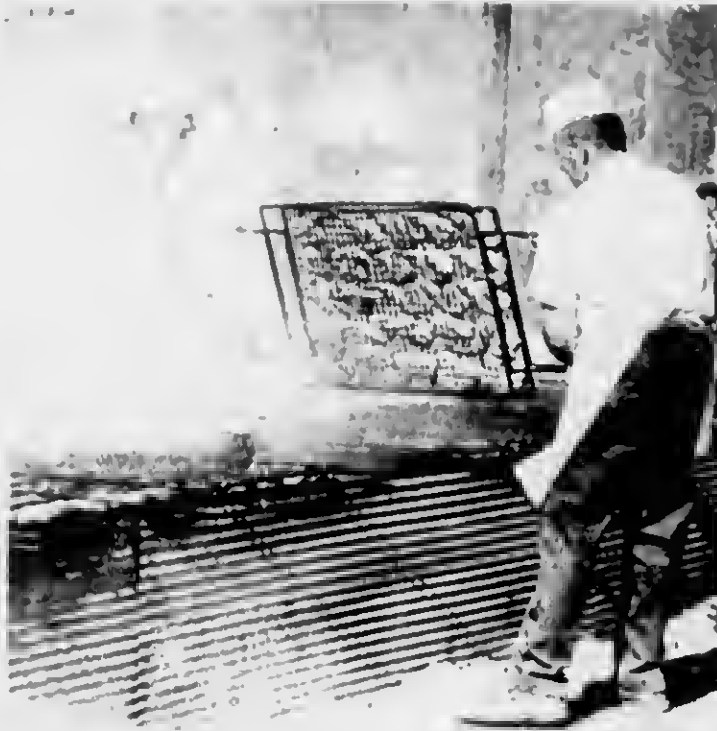

Another difference is in the anal fin. In the coho the fin is greater in length than it is in height. The opposite is true of trout, including the steelhead.

Star-Gazing

June Stages Show in Glittering Skies

For Charlevoixans who like to study the stars, or just admire the summer nights sparkling heavens, June offers some beautiful celestial sights says University of Michigan Astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

And the calendar markers can note that summer will officially arrive at 3:33 p.m. June 21.

Furthermore, the heavens have an added interest for all Americans since the release last week of the Surveyor photos of the moon's surface.

THE BRIGHTEST star is bluish-white Deneb in the tail. Deneb is Arabic for "the tail." This is one of the most distant of the first magnitude stars, notes Professor Losh, being more than 500 light-years away.

"Its candle power must be enormous to make it seem as bright as it is; it is believed to be 10,000 times as luminous as our sun. This star also marks the top of the Cross. Although the Northern is not as brilliant a figure as the celebrated Southern Cross, its stars form a more perfect cross than its counterpart in the other half of the globe."

AT THE FOOT of the Cross lies Beta Cygni or Albireo, one of the most beautiful double stars in the whole sky. "The twin stars, that comprise this double, a blue and a gold in color, present a beautiful sight through a small telescope," Professor Losh says. "Cygnus lies in the jeweled region of the Milky Way. A sweep over this area with binoculars reveals myriads of stars apparently so close set that they give the impression of a continuous band of light."

Another constellation that depicts a bird in this part of the sky is Aquila, "The Eagle," rising slightly north of the east point. Altair, the bright star of this figure, is found at the apex of a large triangle with Deneb and Vega.

"This 'Summer Triangle' observes Professor Losh, 'is well known in navigation. The great Eagle, soaring with widespread wings, is flying toward the Swan. They seem about to meet head-on, both in the Milky Way."

Track Record Set by Smith

Dave Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith, took first place in the 380-yard run at an all-campus track meet at Central Michigan University recently.

Dave ran the distance in 2:07, breaking a former record of 2:12. He received a cup for making first place.

BE SURE TO VOTE MONDAY

Monday is the annual school election and your individual vote is most important in electing two members to serve on the Board of Education.

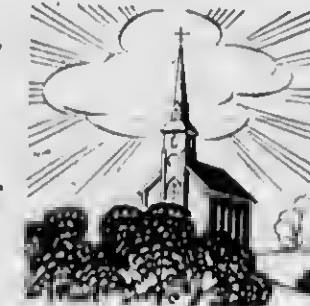

So that you may better understand my feelings in seeking re-election, I am listing a brief summary below.

1. I have had 4 years experience as treasurer of the Board of Education.
2. The school is still operating in the black.
3. I am a progressive type of individual, but always use as a guideline the basic principles of good sound business when making a decision.
4. I am not running as a candidate representing any particular group or individual, for as each issue is weighed, I decide at that time, to the best of my ability, without prejudice.
5. I have always welcomed anyone with problems, and have tried to correct them, and will continue to represent you in this way.
6. I have seven children now attending our school, and am interested in obtaining the best education for the dollar that can be had.
7. There are some very important issues coming up in the next few years, and I feel my experience on the board qualifies me to represent you, so please vote Monday. Your support will be appreciated.

THERE IS NO GUESSWORK

In some respects the work of the engineer or surveyor and the Church are strikingly similar. The engineer establishes lines for direction, road beds and grades to be followed by the builder. Nothing is left to guess work. The builder does not have to wander. His lines and directions are already laid out.

In the building of a successful and fruitful life the Church acts as an engineer. It blazes the trail, establishes lines and locates the proper roadway. The roadway it establishes avoids the pitfalls and quicksands. It points the way and he who follows that way wanders not through life without goal and without accomplishment.

There is a church that will serve as your engineer. Find the one that best fits your needs, serve it and it will serve you.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

From the time I overfed my first goldfish in kindergarten right through my middle teens, I had half an idea it might be fun to go into the undertaking business.

I distinctly remember some of the happiest moments of my childhood were spent preparing decent burials for the dozens of little creatures who came to the end of life's road within reach of my kindly ministrations.

MOST SMALL animals—birds, guinea pigs, mice, newborn kittens and puppies—fit nicely into kitchen matchboxes. There usually was room for a layer of cottonbatten and a few folds of tissue paper to make the trip to the happy hunting Ground more comfortable.

If the dearly departed was a quail, so was the burial. Goldfish and turtles invariably met their Maker in peanut butter jars filled with water. Goldfish, unfortunately, had an unpleasant tendency to float belly-up unless you pushed beebies into certain strategically located body openings.

MOST OF THE interments took place under our back porch, out of sight of the neighbors. Detroit has some kind of law that forbids citizens from burying each other in their backyards, and this goes for animals as well. In time the space under our back porch was so crowded with little graves that I'd often uncover one peanut butter jar trying to find room for another.

MY CAREER as an animal undertaker reached a high point one cold January day when our cat Smokey failed to return from her nightly wanderings. When my father moved the ear in the morning, there she lay by the curb, cold and stiff as a ramrod. She apparently had been hit crossing the street and she had crawled under the ear to die.

My grief at losing the cat was soon mitigated by the happy preparations for her funeral. I found an empty shoe box in the attic and received permission to use a frayed bath towel as a shroud. It wasn't until I got all my funeral gear assembled that I discovered one of Nature's irrevocable laws: Under no conditions is it possible to stuff a frozen cat into a shoe box. No matter how you turn her, something is bound to protrude.

I was almost in tears when I remembered a clothes post hole I had dug in the backyard before winter had set in. I was in desperate straits and decided a funeral without a coffin is certainly better than no funeral at all. I shoveled away the snow and discovered the hole was still there. Only it wasn't quite deep enough. Smokey's little head stuck above the surface like a prairie dog's. I had just about decided to take a croquet mallet and drive her in the rest of the way like a tent stake when my mother—who had a soft spot for both little animals and little boys—intervened. She found a grocery box and together we put Smokey under the back steps until thawing March winds would provide a warmer climate for a more dignified burial.

THE CLIMAX of my undertaking career came with the death of a rabbit who had been a boon companion for many years. I acquired the rabbit while staying with an aunt in Canada and brought her to Detroit with me on the train. For 250 miles, fellow passengers warned me that under no circumstances would the customs and immigration people allow me to bring a rabbit into the States.

Fearful of what might happen at the border, I left the train at every stop along the way and tried without success to sell her to boys toiling about the platform. But they already had rabbits.

At Windsor, Ont., the customs and immigration officers boarded the train while it was being shunted aboard a boat for the trip across the Detroit River. When they came to me they asked where I was born, glanced at my luggage, chuckled at the rabbit under the coat and continued on their way.

Needless to say, any two creatures who survive such an ordeal together have a common bond which outsiders might find hard to understand. During the next several years that rabbit lived like a king, moving from one push cage to another as soon as I could get a new one built. Summers she went with us on vacation trips, riding with the dog in the baggage car.

FINALLY one day the rabbit failed to return from an expedition through the neighborhood. That night we found her on the next street, her neck broken by a dog. Plans were put in motion immediately for the most lavish interment I had ever engineered. This time no mere shoe box would do.

While easting about for a suitable coffin, my eye lit upon a portable Victrola in the basement, as solid a piece of oak carpentry as ever I had seen. Without too much difficulty I removed the innards and in short order had it outfitted as the most elaborate coffin any rabbit ever used to embark upon Eternal Waters.

The next night, under cover of darkness, I dug her grave in the garden out of sight of the neighbors. There was no room left under the back porch. Then, in the yellow glow of an oil lantern, I committed her frail body to the soil—Victrola and all.

That's what became of the other record player.

It doesn't seem possible that school is out for another year and that another class has passed through the ivy-covered walls out into the adult world.

I can remember my feelings when I graduated. I was happy to be out of school and I had no definite plans except for a year or two of college. THE GRADUATING seniors are a class to be proud of. They've left an impressive record behind them. They've excelled in sports, witness Steve Bell in track and Jim Chak in tennis. Tom Drenth and Bonnie Omland have excelled in music. A well-rounded education includes those things as well as academic subjects.

Of course, they've also left a very impressive academic record with many of them receiving scholarships and a dozen or more receiving National Honor Society citations.

What's Wrong With Consistency?

Charlevoix City Attorney John Michael made no bones at Tuesday's Council meeting that he is perturbed over an editorial which appeared in the Courier May 25 asking that the City Council adopt a consistent policy in selling city-owned land to private citizens.

Sometimes the Council will sell land out-right as it did when Gordon Freedman wanted a piece of airport property to expand his Aircraft Engineering Corp. Other times it will ask for bids as it did last fall when Sheridan Root wanted to buy five acres for outdoor storage. As it turned out, Mr. Root was out-bid and lost the property he had his eye on.

MR. MICHAEL asked if the Council were interested in preparing some kind of answer to the editorial, warning that it would "lend dignity" to the editorial by doing so. Council members also seem to think the editorial ill-advised, but declined to make any official comment. With the exception of Jack Mol, all of them voted in favor of the Freedman sale. Mayor Bill Fochtman was not eligible to vote.

We are not particularly interested in acquiring any of Mr. Michael's dignity, but we insist that the situation as it stands is unfair to the people of Charlevoix. If there is some sort of logical explanation as to why the City Council should treat one citizen one way and someone else another way, then the Courier would certainly like to know about it. And we think the people of Charlevoix would, too.

JUDGING from the conversation around the Council table Tuesday night, Mr. Freedman's request was handled on the spot because the Aircraft Engineering Corp. is one of Charlevoix's pioneering industries and offers jobs to many Charlevoixians. Even more jobs are promised if the plant is allowed to consolidate and expand its operation.

Making sure Mr. Freedman gets what he wants is good business for Charlevoix and we heartily agree. The town could use a dozen Mr. Freedmans and a dozen Aircraft Engineering Corporations.

Jobs Corps; Expensive Stepchild

Parents of college-age youngsters who are finding it pretty tough going financially can commiserate with poor Uncle Sam who has thousands of nephews in the Job Corps.

According to Paul C. Ketchersid, director of the Camp Kilmer, N.J., Job Corps Center, the cost to the United States government for training a Job Corpsman for one year presently is $10,500. Beginning in July, the cost is expected to drop to $7,800, finally leveling off at around $7,300 when the program swings into high gear.

THIS MEANS that it costs the government more to keep a boy in the Job Corps one year than it does to send him more academically inclined brother to Harvard University.

But Ketchersid is quick to defend the Job Corps, whose sole interest is helping high school dropouts acquire some kind of marketable skill. Job Corps graduates, he says, are going to pay more income tax, Social Security tax and other taxes if their now training enables them to earn

A Warm Tribute to Graduates

If applause were appropriate at religious observances, there would have been plenty of it Sunday night at the Baccalaureate Service honoring Charlevoix High School's 1966 graduates.

The program, in all, was an excellent commentary on the people of Charlevoix, our school system and our church community.

THE COMMUNITY Choir, directed by C.A. Odmark, did a remarkable job on

YET WE FAIL to see why Mr. Freedman's request for city land was treated with any more alacrity and dispatch than was Mr. Root's. After all, Mr. Root wanted property to expand his business, which, although not as large as Mr. Freedman's, is still a business.

Of course, it is more convenient to handle each case that comes before the Council individually. The only trouble with such a system is that it leaves the door wide open for favoritism.

We believe the Council—and Mr. Michael in particular—must come to understand that democratic processes are seldom easy and never convenient. What is right for Mr. Freedman is equally right for Mr. Root, or Mr. Smith, or Mr. Jones or whoever would like to buy a chunk of city property.

WE BELIEVE it is extremely important that this issue be straightened out post-haste. The city is Charlevoix's largest landowner and as the community grows, more and more business people are going to be interested in acquiring property now owned by the city.

THE Courier believes asking for bids is the best means of making sure the people of Charlevoix get a fair price for their land.

IF THE CITY COUNCIL disagrees, than some other consistent means of selling city property should be agreed upon and followed.

If bids are not asked, we strongly recommend that a board of city realtors be convened whenever a piece of city property is sold in order to decide upon a fair price, taking into consideration the cost of abstracts and legal fees.

It is sheer folly for the Council to continue to peddle city property in any manner it sees fit. Too often in a town the size of Charlevoix personalities and friendships enter into such agreements, a situation which is scarcely in the best interest of the community as a whole.

As we said, we are not particularly interested in Mr. Michael's dignity. We are interested in any arguments he has to advance in defense of such a totally untenable situation.

more money. They are going to provide badly needed craftsmen for the nation.

"If you make a productive citizen out of a kid who would otherwise be unproductive, probably on relief, possibly even in prison, that is the real measure."

So says Mr. Ketchersid.

SO FAR AS we can see, the real problem is not the Job Corps itself, but the conditions which have foisted such an expensive stepchild onto the economy.

Somewhere along the line, our schools—which are supposed to give our kids a healthy boost along the road toward self sufficiency—are not doing their job. Something is wrong when we allow a boy to leave school without having taught him something to earn his bed and board.

MAYBE THE time has come for that long awaited emphasis on vocational training at the high school level.

Through school taxes, we are paying to have the job done once. It doesn't make anyone happy to have to pay for the same thing a second time with federal money.

its part of the program. It is hard to realize the choir was organized expressly for the Baccalaureate and had an opportunity to rehearse only twice.

The sermon, "A Tree to Climb", by Rev. Leona Winegarden was particularly appropriate for a Charlevoix graduating class.

All in all, it is difficult to imagine a more moving Baccalaureate in any community, regardless of size.

odds ends

WHAT WITH the holiday and what have you there were all sorts of people around... as you no doubt noticed if you were out to see the parade and attend the program on Memorial Day... It was just like old home week with scads of visitors here... Among them were many who came for the 25th reunion of the class of 1941... and what a ball they had...

They had the cleverest means of identification... Louie McKenzie, who was a member of the class, took the class picture and made individual pictures of each of the graduates who were given said picture as an identification card as they entered the hall... The change in hair styles among the gals sure created a furor... From what I hear the reunion was a huge success... And this is just the first among several planned for the weeks ahead...

AND SPEAKING of identification, Mrs. Lydia Lison has been having troubles with hers... Quite by chance she looked at the front license plate on her car only to find it wasn't the one she thought was hers... To make sure she checked on the rear plate, which was what she thought it should be... Things like this just don't happen, she thought, so she asked several others to check it and, sure enough, the last digit on the plates was different... She called the State Police to see what should be done... They checked the plates out and found that she had a plate that belonged to an area resident who was on a trip to California... She was advised to contact the man as soon as he returned... Meanwhile, she's going around confusing people...

BIRDS, THOUGH comparatively small, are scrappy creatures, as Mrs. Gerald Gibbons discovered the other day... For some reason a bird in her neighborhood had taken a dislike to her dog and literally attacked the poor animal... which tried to crawl into the ground to escape the ire of its feathered attacker...

KIDS WILL never cease to amaze me... They grow up and you sometimes wonder if they have a thought in their heads except for themselves and then along comes something that impresses them and they come forth with ideas of their own...

Such was the letter written recently by my neighbor, Cork Curtis, whom I've watched grow up... In a recent letter to his folks he wrote "This morning we had a parade... It wasn't the kind of parade we have on homecoming day in Charlevoix. There were about 2,000 of us all in formation and we marched in front of all the top brass. I'll tell you, when the band played the Star Spangled Banner and we were all at attention and all saluting, I've never had quite the thrill or been quite as proud to be part of something so big."

You just seem to throw your shoulders back a little farther and stand a little bit taller than you ever have before. It's really beautiful. We have another parade tomorrow morning and I'm really looking forward to it."

I might add that Cork is receiving basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas... With young men like Cork thinking thoughts like that, you should worry about this so-called "younger generation"... I don't because I think we'll be in good hands...

AND SPEAKING of the younger generation... Many of you will be attending commencement tonight, honoring some 72 of these teen-agers who are going to be our citizens of day-after tomorrow... At graduation I play a little game... I look over these graduates and make a mental note of what I expect of them... I don't doubt but what many people, especially their teachers, do the same thing... It's amazing how close you can come to guessing right... Perhaps it's not all guess work for when you've watched these kids grow up you pretty much know what they are capable of doing... Try this little game and see how you rate as a forecaster...

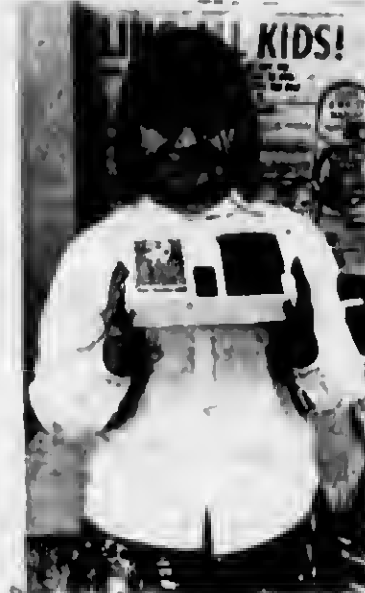

AND TO the graduates themselves, I'd like to say "Well Done"... but don't forget that this is not the time to call it quits... This may be the end of your early schooling... but it is the beginning of a life-time of new experiences, of learning, of new friendships... and though today you may consider it the end of the world, tomorrow you will look upon it all as the beginning of a wonderful new adventure in a great beautiful world... More of which you'll likely see than anyone of us who witness your graduation tonight... It's a changing time and you're lucky to be a part of it...

Judge Connolly said the costs were high because two sheriff's deputies had to be sent to Fowlerville to bring Kenry back for trial.

Stanley Tousey, 19, of Charlevoix was fined $25 and $5 costs for littering a public highway. He further was ordered to clean up a mess he left on Wickersham Road.

Nothing in Christianity Is Simple

Nothing about Christianity is simple, the Rev. William H. Harmon told worshippers at the Ironton Congregational Church Sunday in a sermon entitled "Enjoying Simplicity."

"One of the great misconceptions of Christianity is over-simplicity," he said. "Some people like everything in life to be short and simple. 'Take up your cross and follow me,' Jesus said. That sounds simple enough. It's the following that becomes difficult," Rev. Harmon said.

AS ANOTHER example of the complexity of Christianity, Rev. Harmon cited the "simple" benediction many ministers use to close worship

Old Picture Solves 57-Year-old Riddle

Gentlemen:

It was very interesting to see the picture "CHARLEVOIX OF YESTERYEAR" in the May 25th, issue of the Courier.

I remember this stone with the cross very well as it was only a short distance from where we used to spend our summers.

It was close to the shore on what is now known as Hemingway's Point near and across from Ironton. We lived in a summer cottage which is now owned by Mrs. Frank Webb and we use to hike around the point several times during the summer and look at this huge stone.

One summer we came up and it was gone and no one seemed to know where. Now I know.

schools may become a training ground for beginning teachers and that there may be a rapid turnover in teaching personnel.

Present members of the Charlevoix faculty bring a high level of professional preparation to their classrooms. The present faculty averages 4.8 years of college training and beyond and 15.8 years of teaching experience, with an average of 9.4 years in Charlevoix schools. In order to keep abreast of new methods and to enrich their subject-matter background, many Charlevoix teachers, at their own expense, take at least one post-graduate course in the extension program at one of the area colleges every year.

Our local Board of Education wisely requires each teacher to take at least one two-hour course, or its equivalent in travel, every three years in order to remain on the salary schedule. Many of our teachers voluntarily exceed this requirement. Most also attend and participate in the state or area meetings and workshops in their subject-matter fields. Charlevoix teachers believe that continued, and improved, professional competence depends in part on the willingness of the community to make teaching here financially attractive.

Astronaut Wears Pants Made of Hoskins Wire

Hoskins Manufacturing Co. employees have a right to be more than usually proud of the flight of the Gemini 9 space capsule last week.

They made the metallic fiber that went into the pants worn by astronaut Eugene Cernan during his walk in space.

John C. Lachman, manager of the Hoskins plant on M-66 southeast of Charlevoix, says his company has been working with the federal government for the past five years in the development of extremely fine metallic fibers suitable for wire cloth.

HOSKINS was particularly well suited to conduct the research since one of its products is super fine wire used by the electronics industry. By coincidence, a Hoskins chromum-nickel alloy called Chromal-R had the same properties the government was looking for in developing a suit for spacemen which would withstand the heat of rocket thrusters used by astronauts to maneuver outside a spacecraft.

"Furthermore, we had the facilities to manufacture the very fine thread required," Lachman said.

Ironically, astronaut Cernan didn't really need the metallic pants in last week's experiment, because he didn't have an opportunity to use his thrusters.

Chromal-R arrives at Hoskins' Charlevoix plant as spools of wire measuring .035 in diameter. After being drawn through a series of gradually smaller diamond dies, it is reduced to a thickness of .00045---or about four or five times as fine as human hair.

Freedman to Deed Some Land to City

A group of aviation enthusiasts headed by Charlevoix attorney Robert Hoffman have managed to salvage for airport use some of the land sold by the City Council last month to Freedman Aircraft Engineering Co.

A compromise was reached during Monday's Council meeting by attorneys Norm Ance, representing Gordon Freedman, City Attorney John Michael and Hoffman.

Freedman has agreed to return to the city all that land not absolutely required for expansion of his plant. The hangar property, which was included in the original agreement, will remain part of the airport.

FURTHERMORE, other areas included in the original agreement will be used jointly by Freedman and the airport.

Details of the compromise are being worked out before the next Council meeting by the attorneys involved. A re-zoning hearing scheduled for Monday night also was postponed two weeks.

Hoffman spearheaded a group of flyers who have been circulating petitions the past week objecting to the sale of 1.7 acres of airport property to Freedman, claiming it is needed for airplane parking and tie-down areas.

Under the original sales agreement, Freedman was to pay $1,000 for the property and pay for the cost of moving the hangars to a new location.

THE COMPROMISE came about as the result of a meeting Monday afternoon between the attorneys and Freedman.

In stating the case for Freedman, Ance commended the Council for the thorough study it has given the problem. He said his client is willing to compromise not because he is afraid of any court action threatened by the protest group, but rather because he is interested in maintaining harmony in the city.

He lauded the way the city handles the sale of surplus land, pointing out that its flexibility in meeting the demands of manufacturers has been largely responsible for Char-

MANY miraculous events have occurred through the prayers and dedication of Poland to "Our Lady of Czestochowa."

The meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Mary Evans, who read thank-you notes from Mr. and Mrs. Bourgois and Mr. and Mrs. Freedman.

E. Jordan Council Reappoints Board

EAST JORDAN -- The city council held a special meeting June 2 to reappoint Verne Whiteford, Charles Landers, Orval Davis and Robert Pearsall, to the Board of Canvasers.

It also was decided to have the Michigan Municipal League come to East Jordan and classify the city workers and give equalized wage recommendations.

At the regular council meeting June 7, it was announced that three people had applied for the position of Superintendent of Public Utilities.

MELVIN Niswander's resignation was read and accepted. Niswander was a city policeman before leaving to become a Charlevoix County deputy. There has been no application for the position.

The general fund has been increased by $8,182 received from the state road money. Robert Klevorn, city attorney, reported on the possible bonding issue for the water works.

A special meeting was called for June 9 for further discussion of the issue.

Dr. Pray attended the meeting with questions on the Civil Service Commissioners' duties concerning the police department. The duties are investigating dismissals and checking and grading examinations. The Commissioners are Dr. D. C. Pray, Tom Galmore and Don Bowers.

Jerald Olson was asked to find a janitor to the city building.

Now fixtures will be installed in the city building's restrooms and the drinking fountain will be fixed.

Mrs. S. E. Coleman, daughter, Martha, and son, Stewart, were in East Lansing over the weekend to attend the graduation of her son, Charles, from Michigan State University. He received a B. A. degree with a major in history and has tentatively accepted a teaching position at Stockbridge for the 1966-67 school years.

THERE'S A JOB TO BE DONE

The World needs men who will roll up their sleeves and go to work on its problems. The problems are many, but their underlying causes could, in all probability, be boiled down to ignorance, disease and the rank selfishness of a comparatively few leaders. There are enough of the right kind of men to do the job if they will but roll up their sleeves and go to work on it.

The Church too needs men and women with fighting faith who will roll up their sleeves to continue its work, the same problems it has been working on for centuries, that of lifting up and improving the lot of the individual. It follows that the potential workers on world problems need the church. They need it to help them purge themselves of petty selfishness, resentments and fears thereby making of them wise but humble men, willing men and consequently truly great men.

Gospel Family to Sing

Rev. Ray Collier and family will sing and speak at the Assembly of God Church, 203 East Upright, Thursday and Friday evening, June 16 and 17. For the past three summers Rev. Collier has traveled extensively with his wife and musical family in Gospel rallies.

Rev. Collier is pastor of the Assemblies of God Tabernacle in Thief River Falls, Minn. There are three boys and three girls in the family ranging in age from 7 to 16 years.

They specialize in vocal arrangements, composed of quartet, trio, solo and family numbers. They also play a variety of instruments.

Pastor Don Schorsch reports that the time for the services is 7:30 p.m. and that the public is invited.

Golden Passport Helps Finance Park Projects

This year's new "Golden Passport" to 7,000 federal recreation areas throughout the country, is on sale at a number of Conservation Department offices in Michigan.

The $7 vehicle entrance permit, a golden wallet-size card which gives its holder and anyone in his car an "in" to about 45 national forest campgrounds and other areas in Michigan, is available at the Department's regional headquarters in Marquette and Roscommon and all of its district headquarters except the Rose Lake office near East Lansing.

RECEIPTS from the sale of the "Golden Passports," together with other fees and revenues, go into the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund Program.

Under this program, Michigan has already been allotted $2.8 million for the 1965 and 1966 fiscal years to help finance expansion of public recreation facilities.

Talk of the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shapton and sons have arrived from Royal Oak to occupy their home on Belvedere ave. Mr. Shapton will commute on weekends.

Don and Carlton Smith have arrived from their studies at Michigan State University to join their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Smith, for the summer. They were accompanied home by Bob Dyksterhouse who has joined his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dyksterhouse.

Harold Svoboda arrived home last week from Howe Military Academy to spend the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Svoboda.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ladd have arrived from southern Michigan for the summer months. He taught in Sandusky.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bartlett left Tuesday via plane for Norfolk, Va., to attend the commissioning of the ballistic missile submarine, the George Washington Carver. Their son, Bruce Bartlett, MM2c, is a member of the submarine's crew and has been aboard since August 1965 to learn the construction of the vessel.

FIRST Garden Club plaque to be awarded this summer went to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rader of East Dixon Avenue. Presenting the plaque to Mrs. Rader are (from left) Mrs. C. W. Burlin and Mrs. Harley Ochs, both past presidents of the club. The revolving plaque is awarded every two weeks to the family with the most outstanding garden.

By the Way... By Ruth Ann Miller

East Jordan has a very interesting history and City Clerk Ben Bustard knows a lot of it. He came to East Jordan a year after it became a city.

He knows of the old settlements around East Jordan that once were booming lumber towns but are now ghost towns because of the decline in lumbering. Towns like Anttrim City near Atwood, Phelps, Chestonia, Hitchcock, Deward (where the biggest sawmill in Michigan was once located) and Springvale near Vanderbilt were once the heart of the lumbering industry. All are now dead. East Jordan started as a lumbering town but has managed to survive, thanks to industry, farming and tourism.

Army Promotes Eugene Bridge

Eugene M. Bridge, whose wife, Virginia, lives in Hampton, Va., was promoted to sergeant first class in Vietnam, May 25, where he is assigned to the 10th Transportation Battalion.

Sergeant Bridge is a member of the battalion's 97th Transportation Company. He entered the Army in December 1945 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty in May 1965.

The 39-year-old soldier, son of Mrs. Marion M. Bridge of Charlevoix, attended Charlevoix High School and Ferris State College, Big Rapids, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor visited their daughter and son-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard May, at Hillsdale. While there they attended the graduation of their grandson, Grey. This was the Taylor's first trip down below since their auto accident Dec. 23.

How to succeed in business by really trying

Ford sales are at an all-time high. During May Ford outsold all other car makes!

The word is spreading—fast—that Ford Division is building the best cars it has ever built. And it's true. Never have Ford cars been so good—never have Ford sales been so high.

People discovered our 1966 Ford was the strongest Ford ever built. A strong car, well-engineered, is a quiet car—and the '66 Ford has a ride that is quieter even than some of Europe's most expensive hand-built luxury cars.

Over a million people have already bought Mustangs. This rare blend of sports-car excitement and solid value is the most popular new car in history . . . and right now it's the world's best-selling hardtop and convertible.

Wagon buyers are excited about our Magic Doorgate—the greatest step forward in wagon convenience in years. It opens out like a door for people and swings down like a tailgate for cargo. It's standard equipment on all Ford and Fairlane wagons.

Car shoppers discovered a whole new range of comforts and conveniences. The '66 Ford offers power front disc brakes, a Stereo-Sonic Tape System, America's largest V-8 to perform on regular fuel, Silent-Flo Ventilation that keeps air fresh with all windows closed, and a new Safety/Convenience Control Panel that lets you lock all doors with one switch, has lights to warn if fuel's low or a door's ajar, reminds you to fasten seat belts.

A whole new group of sports-minded car buyers has come over to Fairlane. We've redesigned it completely with 30 new models, including GT's, sports-luxury XL's, convertibles, Squire wagons, and an exciting new Sport Shift Cruise-O-Matic Drive (on GT/A models) that gives you the ease of an automatic—or lets you shift manually for the fun of it.

People everywhere are finding out just how much extra value we've built into today's Ford cars—extra value that's the reason why Ford sales have soared to an all-time high.

And that's why Ford Dealers . . . leading from strength . . . are now offering you the best deals ever. There are specially equipped, specially priced Fords, Fairlanes and Mustangs, and special values on all our cars—across the whole line. See them soon.

To-Hell-With-The-Landscape.

Once again that old summer sport, To-Hell-With-The-Landscape, is being played wherever Americans gather together in the great outdoors.

Judging from the frequent nests of garbage and beer cans one sees from Bells Bay to Kennedy Park, the sport is particularly popular in Charlevoix County.

The ground rules are very simple, if you'd like to play.

FIRST, forget completely that our parks and beaches are being used by anyone but you and your friends. After all, public lands belong to you, don't they? And if the next guy along doesn't like the way you leave things, that's just his tough luck. If you happen to party on private land, so what? The owner probably will have his gardener pick things up in the morning.

SECOND, anyone caught throwing a beer bottle or stack of greasy paper plates into one of the handy containers provided by the state is a fink. If he picks up any trash anyone else has abandoned and puts it in a container, he is a double fink and may not be asked to the next picnic.

THIRD, always dispose of beer bottles and pop bottles by heaving them out the car window. But make sure they land on the pavement and break. (If not, they may be used as evidence against you in court.) You get an extra turn if the car immediately following blows a tire on the shattered glass. If a barefoot child cuts his foot, you are automatically declared winner and a new game starts.

A Long Time Together

The Courier extends best wishes to the Charlevoix High School Graduating Class of 1916 which is marking its 50th reunion today with a get-together in Lansing.

Fifteen of the original 23 members are

REMEMBER, you don't have to be on a picnic or a vacation trip to play. Many Charlevoixians have found it fun to join in the fun right in their own backyards. For example, never burn papers on a calm day. Wait until a real nor'wester is ripping through town before you touch a match to your accumulated debris. You'll be surprised how much of it is picked up by the wind and lodged against your neighbor's shubbery. You get one point for every irate telephone call; two points if your neighbor comes over in person and punches you in the nose.

MANY PEOPLE have found To-Hell-With-The-Landscape just as much fun to play downtown. For example, you automatically forfeit a turn if you open a stick of gum and neglect to throw the wrapper in the gutter. The same holds true for candy wrappers and Kleenex. If you put same in one of the trash receptacles provided by the city, you are disqualified from playing again for two weeks.

IF YOU ARE a boating enthusiast, the possibilities are limited only by the bounds of your imagination. One particularly successful boater last summer threw so much garbage over the fantail in a single afternoon that 12 seagulls died of dyspepsia. He got a state award for pulling that one off, plus an invitation to the national finals.

As we noted earlier, the game appears to be gaining popularity every day. From the looks of things, we have some real Olympic material right here in Charlevoix.

Clockwise

Another graduation season has slipped down the ways into a sea of fruit punch, and still no one has asked me to make a commencement address. It's ploy, too because I'm just busting with things to say to new graduates.

I'll never forget a short story I read once about a successful businessman, who got his hard way, who was invited home to address the graduating class at his old alma mater.

Unfortunately, on his way to the commencement hall, he lost his carefully prepared speech. He was forced to stand up and tell the graduates the facts of life in the business world exactly as he saw them.

It was a no-holes-barred talk, about dog-eat-dog competition and how it's often necessary not only to step on a few toes but also to break a few necks on your way to the top.

The speech was one which gave pause to a few maiden aunts, but caused the graduates to sit up and take notice. The next day the press hailed him as commencement speaker-of-the-year and he became much sought-after for the remainder of his days by the people who arrange graduation ceremonies.

NOW THERE'S not much wrong with a run-of-the-mill commencement address. You can't go far astray telling young people that they're "standing on the shore of a new tomorrow," and they should "set their sights on the stars" and "sail off into a dazzling future with a firm hand on the tiller."

"After all, the future belongs to you," (Applause) (Exeunt omnes)

BUT I DO think if I were giving a commencement address I would mention something about getting up in the morning. Most working people get up in the morning. Early. Sometimes 5 or 6 o'clock. Sometimes even earlier if they fish or play golf. Of course, everyone going to school has to get up sometime during the day. But for students, periods of early rising are broken so frequently by long weekends, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, summer vacations and Teachers' Institute that getting up in the morning hardly seems much of a chore at all. There is always an end in sight.

Now take the poor working man. Once he lands a full time job all he had to look forward to is a lifetime of grey mornings stretching ahead of him like a baleful eternity. He may get a week or two vacation in the summer, but for the rest of the year it's "rise and shine" whether or not he feels like doing either.

ANOTHER RUDE awakening for the graduate is that he may not find people begging him to work along lines he feels he is best qualified. The day I graduated from high school I quit my job as a stockboy for the S.S. Kresge Co. I had worked for Kresge since grade school days, but now, as a high school graduate, the work suddenly was beneath me. Let someone else sweep the floors, mop the fountain, empty the waste baskets and be responsible for receiving, unpacking, pricing and distributing thousands of dollars worth of freight every week. As a high school graduate I was cut out for something better.

As it turned out, jobs were more scarce in 1946 than I had expected. After applying at a dozen places, I wound up at Traverse City picking cherries for 25 cents a lug—a penny a pound. Later at college I was grateful when Kresge condescended to take me back during Christmas and Easter holidays.

MUCH THE SAME thing happened in 1950 when I waved goodbye to Michigan State and the winding Red Cedar. I was armed with a diploma attesting to the fact I knew all there was to know about quins, chases, type lice, John Peter Zenger, Johann Gutenberg and Westbrook Pegler.

But nobody wanted to make use of my newly acquired knowledge and talents. Dozens of letters of application to newspaper were never answered. One response did come from the Windsor Star. The editor scribbled a single word -- "Sorry" -- on a scrap of brown wrapping paper and stuck it in an envelope.

When my graduation money ran out, I managed to get a job wrestling beer cases at Goebels brewery. I felt sort of lucky, because a roommate who had graduated a semester earlier with a B.A. in journalism was still operating an elevator at the Leo Plaza Hotel. Eventually I got a newspaper job -- with a $25 a week pay cut -- but at least I had my foot in the door.

ON SECOND thought, maybe it's just as well graduates don't hear such things. It might spoil their whole day.

odds in endo

A little black and white creature came from out of the wilds the other day and created quite a furor on Bridge and Antrim sts. until he disappeared in the alley between the gas company building and the building next door. . . It was about noon when he came over the hill from the waterfront on Antrim st., stopped traffic cold as he ambled across Bridge st., looked in the liquor store before turning onto Antrim where everyone was sure he was going in the side-door to buy a bottle of his favorite brand. . . However, he continued along the street, made a brief detour into the open garage door before going about his business. . . No one bothered to ask the smelly little creature exactly what his business was. . . they just got out of his way. . . Skunks that wander about in the middle of the day always bother me. . . I'm always afraid they might be rabid for everyone knows that they're normally a nocturnal animal. . . I'm wondering if he might not have taken up residence at the ramshackle structure at 115 Antrim. . .

AND SPEAKING of rabid animals, have your pets been inoculated for rabies? . . . Most people have their dogs taken care of but how many think of getting shots for their cats. . . There are so many little animals that could become rabid. . . gophers, chipmunks, squirrels and such that I think it's important that you have it done. . . Certainly you owe your cat the same protection you might give your dog. . .

AND WHILE I'm on the subject of animals, we have a pet fox in our neighborhood that's creating a lot of interest. . . It's the most amazing thing. . . the cats bother it and it seems to have a fear of them. . . Brad Wood, son of the Ray Woods has it as a pet. . . Her name is Rusty and she's tied out in the yard. . . the cats come by and give her a bad time and the Woods' dog, Sassie, protects her from the wandering felines. . . The family's getting quite an education as they rear this little guest from the wild. . .

NOW THAT Spring's finally arrived in our fair village, aren't you enjoying all the flowering bushes. . . I'm especially fond of the flowering quince. . . the flowers are such a rich color, and then of course there's all the others. . . each of which has its own charm. . . And the apple blossoms this year have been especially beautiful, I think. . . Then there's the English hawthorn that should be bursting into bloom most any day now. . . They are so lovely and last so long. . . But the lilacs. . . I think everyone waits for them. . . And every place you look there's patch of color. . . mostly tulips. . . and are they ray. . . I think the warm weather and sunny skies that we're enjoying at the moment have given everyone a much-needed lift. . .

BY WAY of Pompano Beach, Fla., I've heard about a real fine article on Charlevoix and what it offers as a community and a summer resort. . . Seems Mrs. Arthur (Ann Ratigan) Pelton has had occasion recently, due to illness in the family, to spend quite a lot of time in her doctor's office. . . One day she picked up a magazine, "Your Health" and was surprised beyond words to find the article on Charlevoix. . . So surprised, in fact, that it made her homesick so she called her parents, the Bill Ratigans. . .

WAS SURPRISED the other day when I opened up a copy of the New Mexico magazine (which I'd received as a Christmas gift from some transplanted Charlevoixians, Dr. and Mrs. Isaac Terry) only to find a fine article on Philmont. . . the Boy Scout camp that covers thousands of acres in the mountains of the northern part of the state. . . We've had numerous boys through the years who have enjoyed two weeks camping in the mountains there. . . Seems it was given to the National Scout organization by a man named Phillips. . . later more acreage was added to it by an anonymous contributor until now it takes in a huge tract of land and has become one of the area's major industries. . . I had never heard its history before and found it most interesting. . .

And as we swing into the early days of summer, don't forget coins for the meters and one-way streets and to allow a few extra minutes because of the increase in traffic and the lines at the check-out counters and to allow for the opening of the bridge as more and more pleasure craft enter our harbor. . . just a few things that make Charlevoix what it is in the summer time. . .

Every Christian Shares God's Love, Flock Told

The Rev. Louis Wren told his parishioners at Holy Cross Roman Catholic Church in St. James Sunday to take an example from the Pharisees and not to reject Christ because of their pride and their preoccupations.

"Yet we should not feel we are second-rate Christians because we are not Jews, he said.

"GOD CHOSE us because he loves us; and only he knows why," he told the congregation.

He said Christ's followers should only show deep humility and gratitude that they were chosen.

Fr. Wren commented that Christians can scarcely point with pride to what they have done for Christ down through the long corridors of history.

HE TOLD his followers that they should show their humility and appreciation to God by taking part in the mystery of the Eucharist (the Roman Catholic sacrament of communion) and by showing tolerance, sympathy and concern for their fellow men and a respect for individual dignity and freedom.

The service marked the second Sunday after Pentecost, which is the seventh Sunday after Easter commemorating the descent of the Holy Spirit on the apostles.

Fr. Wren announced that he would be off the island all week and weekday masses cancelled. Confessions heard Saturday evening with masses resuming Sunday.

To the Editor:

Take three billion people. Divide them into one hundred, large and small, firm and tenuous, sovereignties. Provide some sovereignties with political leaders who are not answerable to an electorate, and permit those who are elected to ignore the promises they were responsible for their election, when compelled to make promises. Provide each sovereignty with a military force to defend its national interest. Give the military leaders of each sovereignty a voice in determining the national interest. Reward national defense establishments with increased appropriations, glory, and power when international disorder exists. Provide military leaders with the philosophy that they must punish the enemy until he surrenders, and surrender is due to political weakness. Provide military leaders with the military power to overthrow civilian authority. Make the dominant loyalties of the leaders range from national to regional, religious, racial, ideological, economic, military establishment, or self interest. Place national interest, as conceived by national political and military leaders, above human rights. Provide all government leaders with the best protection from military destruction that money can buy, while giving them the authority to force citizens to fight, and die, as directed. Make each military arsenal deadly enough to annihilate mankind. Do you have a recipe for "peace through strength", for chaos, or for war?

one and one-half million feet, Lachman says.

When the wire reaches the desired thickness it is annealed at nearly 2,000 degrees F. To restore its ductility and is wound into 10-strand bundles.

In manufacturing Cernan's space pants, the bundles were then shipped to the East Coast where the wire was spun into yarn and the yarn woven into material at the David Clark Co. in Worcester, Mass.

BEFORE THE fiber leaves the Roskins plant it is carefully tested to determine how far it will stretch without breaking. Spools also are examined under a microscope to determine if there are the correct number of twists per inch.

The material woven from the Charlevoix fibers makes up the outer layer for the space coveralls, which also include 11 layers of aluminumized film and glass fiber spacers.

Hydrogen peroxide thrusters fired against the material in experiments at General Electric's Valley Forge test facilities showed "no significant degradation" of material.

AT PRESENT, it appears that a suit similar to the one worn by Cernan will be the basic uniform for manned U. S. space operations in the immediate future, according to the magazine "Missiles and Rockets."

Lachman suspects there may be practical applications for the extremely fine thread turned out by his company. The plant already is making 14-strand bundles of the same material for another classified federal government project, he says.

levov's remarkable industrial growth since the end of World War II. He contended that people who find fault with the Council's land management policies are doing a disservice to the Council.

HE CITED a long list of companies who have been helped get started in Charlevoix because the city was free to handle land transactions as it saw fit.

Airport Manager Joe McPhillips told the Council that there already is a shortage of land at the airport for airplane tie-down and parking. He said that some airplane insurance is not effective if a plane is not tied down.

He pointed out that ten tie-down areas had been eaten up by the new airport building and that law prohibits tying down planes across the paved runway.

HE ALSO said the far side of the airport was not suitable for tie-down, because pilots often need help from airport personnel and he couldn't have employees running all over the field.

McPhillips said it isn't unusual to have 20 airplanes at the airport any weekend in July and August, adding that a growing number of twin-engine planes are stopping at Charlevoix. The bigger planes require considerably more tie-down area.

As for automobile parking, he said that up to 60 cars have been left at the airport during deer hunting season.

The Council also:

--Approved fireworks for the Venetian Festival.

--Authorized Alderman Jack Mel to work with the Rod and Gun Club to set aside the section to Stover Creek within city limits as the exclusive fishing stream for youngsters.

--Heard an endorsement from the Planning Commission to a plan to upgrade residential zoning in the Grant-Garfield area from R-2 to R-1 to allow Ron Peterson to proceed with a housing development.

--Heard a report that Medusa Vice President Worth Loomis is looking for housing in the area for permanent employees who will be manning the cement plant next year.

--Agreed to notify the owners of Ocean Lake Development Corp. that the demolition team working on its Michigan Avenue property are running behind schedule.

--Took note of a complaint by Del Terrill that The Belvedere Club has banned truck traffic on Belvedere and heavy trucks are using Eaton Street instead.

--Agreed to offer park and beach concessions stands to whoever will operate them in an orderly manner rather than to put them up for bids.

High and Low

High temperature for the week was 79 degrees on Sunday, bringing out boys in bathing suits. Low was 32 degrees on Saturday. Precipitation for the week amounted to .13 of an inch, enough to keep tomatoes growing.

Special Ed. Classrooms Needed, Board Is Told

EAST JORDAN -- Superintendent of Schools Max Damoth told the Board of Education there is a great need in the school district for special education classrooms, especially since two such rooms at Central Lake have been condemned.

Damoth requested that the Board act on his recommendation to advance on 1966-67 state aid in the amount of $52,540 before July 1 so that it will be received before the July 15 payroll. The board O. K. ed the request. There is no interest on this money.

A TENTATIVE date of Aug. 9 is set for the open meeting on the 1966-67 budget. The board decided to use a loaner plan for drivers' training car instead of buying and then reselling them.

Damoth and Principal Keith Annear met with the superintendents and principals of Ellsworth and Central Lake to discuss the reorganization of the school districts.

The principals will meet and draw up plans before the Board meets. Damoth suggested a possibility of getting an architect to design a building to meet the needs and give the costs of such a building without committing themselves to the architect.

A new mower will be purchased to replace the present one which in nine years old. It will be a John Deere 10 h.p. 46 inch cut.

Coasties Are Cited for Saving Cruiser

Charlevoix area Coast Guardsmen have received a "well done" from Rear Adm. Charles A. Tighe for saving the 50-foot cabin cruiser, Rowinco, and her crew of three after the boat went aground on Simmons Reef June 15. Adm. Tighe is commandant of the Ninth Coast Guard District. Acting Group Commander CWO James Seidl received word about 1 p.m. that the boat was in trouble five miles northwest of White Shoal light. He radioed the Sundew which was in the area taking supplies to Lansing Shoal.

HE ALSO NOTIFIED the Beaver Island Lifeboat Station, which dispatched a crew to the scene immediately.

The 40-footer from the island reaching the foundering vessel first and stood by until the Sundew approached and launched her cargo boats manned by a skilled salvage crew.

THE BOAT, owned by the Ames Equipment and Service the 1954 International 60 passenger bus. The Sherman Cherry Farm, bid of $625 was accepted.

Co. of Chicago and operated by Charles Bandy, apparently had struck the reef due to a navigational error. A hole had been knocked in the stern and she was taking on water.

Sundew repairman quickly plugged the hole with wedges and rags and pumped out the water. Then the 40-footer, which had secured a line to the Rowinco upon arrival, was able to tow the damaged craft into deeper water.

In addition to Bandy, a man and woman passenger remained aboard the vessel.

IN OPEN WATER, the line was transferred to the Sundew which towed the Rowinco 45 miles to Charlevoix Harbor where she was taken to Hamilton's Marina for repairs. The Coast Guard Marine Inspection office at St. Ignace is expected to make an inquiry into the incident, since damage amounted to more than $1,500.

The vessel reportedly was bound from Florida to Chicago when she ran aground.

New Top for B.A. Is $8,000 a year

Charlevoix teachers have won a salary increase totaling $44,919 for the next school term after almost six months of negotiation.

Agreement was reached Monday afternoon at a closed-door meeting of the School Board.

The new minimum for a teacher with a bachelor's degree is $5,300 with a top of $8,000 in 14 steps.

TEACHERS with masters degrees will receive a starting salary of $5,600, with a maximum of $8,500.

In addition, the Board has agreed to pay the teachers $10 a month for health insurance coverage.

The agreement was reached after the teachers asked the State Mediation Board to study the district's ability to pay increased wages. State Mediator Robert G. Mason spent last Wednesday in Charlevoix meeting with teachers and school officials.

USING MASON'S recommendations, the teachers came up with a proposal which was submitted to the Board at Monday's meeting.

Of the $44,919 increase, $27,052 will be used to increase salaries of the present teaching staff and make salary adjustments for teachers being replaced. Some $17,867 will be used to hire additional teachers.

Individual increases over last year's salaries range from $485 to $1,233 for teachers with bachelor's degrees and from $640 to $1,317 for teachers with masters degrees.

The new schedule is considerably closer to what was asked by the teachers than to what was originally proposed by the Board.

THE TEACHERS had asked for maximums of $8,230 and $8,696 for B. A. and M. A. teachers respectively, compared to an offer of $7,494 and $7,919 by the Board.

The present maximums are $6,767 for a teacher with a bachelor's degree and $7,183 for a teacher with a masters degree.

The insurance allowance, which will amount to $120 per year per teacher, is not taxable.

Following is the new salary schedule for Charlevoix teachers beginning next September:

Firm Answers Questions on Two Land Projects

Residents of Hayes - Bay Shore had an opportunity Monday night to ask all the questions they wanted about two proposed housing developments at Bay Shore and Susan Lake.

Supervisor Lee Sneathen presided over the meeting held in the Hayes Township Hall. About 15 interested townspeople attended to fire questions at Howard J. (Joe) Bohnet, one of the four owners of the Charlevoix Land Co. which is handling the development.

HIS QUESTIONERS found out that:

--The projects will cover approximately 150 acres at Bay Shore and 90 acres at Susan Lake.

--Part of the Bay Shore development is the old plat of Bay Side Village which was drawn up in 1892.

--Approximately 100 lots already have been platted at Bay Shore, 300 at Susan Lake.

--Although roads are being built, the plats (except the oldest one) still must be approved by the Township Board.

--The lots will measure from 60 to 75 feet wide and from 130 to 200 or more feet long. (The length of shore front lots varies.)

--In time the company plans to set up a sales office at the former Ed Frank home on Susan Lake.

BOHNET, who has been commuting between his home in Lansing and Charlevoix County for the past few months, said "nothing could be further from the truth" when asked if his company (an affiliate of the American Central Corp.) was moving into Hayes Township because the township lacks zoning laws and a building code. The question was posed by Mrs. Dorothy Zipp.

Bohnet said his firm was imposing its own building restrictions. He says all buildings must be enclosed within six months from start of construction, that they must be built of new material, and cover an area of at least 450 square feet.

He added that all houses will

Deano Plans Summer Fun

The City Recreation Department's free golf, tennis, and swimming schools are accepting applicants for the summer instructional sessions.

The golf and tennis schools are tentatively set to start June 27 with the Red Cross swimming program to get underway July 1.

BOTH THE GOLF and swimming programs have established new record enrollments every summer since they were started and therefore applicants are urged to become officially enrolled as soon as possible. There is going to be an adult beginning swimming class offered so adults are encouraged to also enroll.

The beginning golf will again be offered to both youngsters and adults with classes meeting three times a week for one hour each session.

A NEW program will be launched in July that will meet on Saturday mornings for youngsters. Called "Adventure Clubs" the program will offer a variety of activities from softball to group games and hikes with some craft work. More will be announced later on this phase of the program. Information can be secured from the recreation department.

Anyone wishing to enroll in the program is urged to return the enrollment blank on Page 14 of this week's Courier to the Recreation Department at the City Hall.

East Jordan Maps Nuisance Law

EAST JORDAN--Members of East Jordan's nuisance ordinance committee are putting their heads together to decide just how much territory should be covered by the proposed ordinance.

Mayor Elizabeth Robertson suggested that the new law regulate the keeping of junk cars for more than 30 days. If they must be kept, then they should be covered, she said.

MRS. BRET Riley suggested that junk from stores, like old refrigerators and furnaces, be cleaned up.

City Attorney Bob Kleborn suggested a clause preventing the dismantling and storage of auto parts in residential yards. He also said the new law should govern outdoor storage of building materials.

Mrs. Robertson proposed that the ordinance cover derelict buildings and loose garbage.

KLEBORN cautioned that derelict buildings must be proven health hazards and pointed out that under present laws garbage may be kept up to seven days, providing it is well within the lot line.

Derelict buildings brought to the committee's attention are the Camp House on the west side of South Arm, where small children play and set fires, and a building on Main Street owned by Ben Schenck which has been condemned on four different occasions.

Kleborn will draw up the ordinance and will present it to the City Council at the first meeting in July.

Working on the new ordinance are Harry Watson, Mrs. Ted Kotowich, Mrs. Bill Huckle, Mrs. Bret Riley, Jerry Olson, Mayor Robertson, Bill Morrison and Kleborn.

By The Way

By Ruth Ann Miller

Inadequate information is a bad business in a society like ours today.

Many times the public is asked to decide issues without sufficient information.

No one likes to vote "yes" on a money issue that he doesn't understand.

Badly needed improvement of times are defeated because of lack of information.

SUCH A CASE arose in East Jordan last week at the school election. The proposed and badly needed nine - mill request was defeated.

Little publicizing was done and the people were confused as to what the money was to be used for and why it was needed.

The School District needs the money for operating expenses, better salaries, new teachers and expansion of its foreign language program. Most colleges and universities require a language for admission.

THE MILLAGE issue will come up for a vote again at the Aug. 1 election. If it doesn't pass, East Jordan stands to lose one-eighth of its state aid, because the state's minimum millage requirements.

Education is an expensive business, granted, but although material things may be taken away, what a student learns in school is never lost or wasted.

To me, better schools mean a better America.

Education makes a nation strong, great and stable. Without education we take chances of losing what has taken years to build.

Can America, a world leader, and East Jordan, a part of America, take chances like this? Are nine mills per $1,000 valuation worth the risk?

The maid of honor was Miss Carolyn Holcomb, sister of the bride. Her gown was a full length rose linen with an Empire waist and accented with lace. She carried a bouquet of French Marguerite daisies.

The pretty juvenile miss is playing a stellar role as the prospective bride "left at the church," except that in her eyes is the suspicion of a smile instead of tears.

Children like to be left at the church, but they would prefer having their parents accompany them inside. Parents who leave the children and return for them at the close of the service are missing the chance of sharing with their children something that is very vital. Then, too, "going to church" with the entire family is thoroughly enjoyable because the children will have gained a "working knowledge" of their religion and faith, inspired by the true interest of their parents.

We cordially invite you to inspect one of Northern Michigan's most exotic and unique cocktail lounges.

You've never before seen anything quite like "Tween Decks."

Steeped in the old charm of the schooner era, "Tween Decks" will make you feel that you're relaxing below deck, while you're pampered with your hearts desire, of delicious refreshing beverages from a most unusual bar.

Mr. Jim Sawtell has designed and constructed Tween Decks from surf worn lumber off of the shipwrecked Sawyer.

A landmark of Charlevoix since 1880, the wreck of the Sawyer, which went aground on the rocks south of Charlevoix, near fishermen's Island, has been moved to Irv's Lounge.

The shipwrecked lumber has been artistically designed and reconstructed by Mr. Sawtell to simulate a lower deck of a sailing schooner.

You're sure to enjoy the nautical charm of yester-year from the moment you enter the hatch and start down the ladder for your favorite cocktail.

Nothing has been excluded to make you feel that you're on board.

Big Season Shaping Up on Diamond

Circlin' the Bases

with DEAND

With a record number of 33 teams poised and waiting for the command to play ball, we look forward to the busiest season of softball we've had in not the most exciting. With slide rule in hand, it took over 20 months to figure out this year's master schedule. To compile a schedule that called for every team to play 16 games in play of four games each, and all on one field, has been a monumental task. The record of six previous seasons, erasers, after everything was finalized this winter, will be a witness to the softball games, plus the softball games at the end of the summer. Rough figures show that over 430 players will be competing in the program, and the following is a brief rundown of the various leagues.

FASBALL LEAGUE

Mayhew of East Jordan joining the five local teams, the Fastball league now boasts six teams. Veterans enable American Mold to be a strong contender, and with strong-armed Nate Boss doing the pitching, manager Jim Alger can field an impressive hitting team. However, youth and speed enable defending champion Lake Construction to be a definite threat to repeat, especially if a steady pitcher can be found by manager John Boss among candidate Larry McBride, Bill Marme, and Ron Gruich, County State Bank manager Norm Helms knows that he has several good strong hitters ready to go, but rookie pitcher Gary Crain, just up from the Junior League, has to adjust to the league's better hitting and pitch well for his team to do anything. Olesons had a 1965 season that went as expected with the young team making many mistakes but they learned. With nearly everyone back, manager Bob Ferguson can send an improving Ed Holm to the mound and expect a good job. Hitting will again be a problem for the boys in green. Pitcher Sonny Wright will again be steady for the servicemen, but he is going to have to have better fielding and some improved hitting in order to make their presence felt in the league. The new East Jordan team is an unknown quality, but no doubt will be a team of good hitters.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Defending champion Jerry's Gulf has nearly everyone back and if they get steady pitching will be tough to beat. Freedmans lost several key players, but have a nucleus returning which they can build on. New entry, Electra, has several of the former Barnard team members set to go and has added several others, but lacks the big sluggers and experienced pitching of several of the other teams. A & W has by far the best hitting team but lacks a consistent and strong pitcher. If they come up with someone, watch out for the boys in orange and black. The new team, Novaks Insurance, is made up entirely of boys just up from the Peanut League. They appear to have a strong fielding team but will have to prove themselves as hitters and sorely lack a pitcher.

PEANUT LEAGUE

Defending champion Cardinals just nearly their whole infield but careful managerial planning has enabled them to fill the holes with experienced players. And they have the strong pitching to repeat as champions. The Lions and Tigers both lost key players this year and newcomers will have to play major roles if they are to make any serious run at the title. The Astros lost every game last year, but they have their entire team back and picked up several outstanding boys in the draft. They still aren't championship material, but they may surprise. The Dodgers and Cubs both are rebuilding but have some established players and will no doubt upset a couple of the teams as the season progresses. The Pirates still field the youngest and most inexperienced team, but as in the past they'll pull together to knock off a couple of contenders before the season ends.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

This league should enjoy one of its finest seasons. Last year it was Edwards and Paul-Reed fighting it out. Add Al's Texaco and possible the Dairy Queens (if they get some pitching) and it will be a toss up as to who will win. The Millary Wives have improved but, so has everyone else.

Because of the nature of this league there are no favorites. They all play for the fun of it rather than to pursue the championship. They do play to win, however, but enjoyment and social values are first, as they should be. Because of the scope of the program the scheduling is somewhat different from what it has been in the past. The Fastball League, Junior League and the Women's League will not have a first and second round with winners meeting for the championship. Instead each team will play every other team three times during the season with the champion being crowned as the team with the best record. The Peanut and Pioneer Leagues will continue to have rounds with winners meeting for the title. Plans are to have a separate city tournament at the conclusion of the regular season in the Fastball, Junior and Women's Leagues.

Kathy Soldi has returned here to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Seidl after completing her studies at the University of Colorado in Boulder. Mr. Seidl's mother, Mrs. James C. Seidl Sr. of Chicago and his sister, Miss Grace Seidl who returned recently from a state department assignment in Santiago, Chile, are also visiting here.

Talk of the Town

Mr. and Mrs. David Ikens of Rogers City visited recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Ver Wy's and other relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Weldman had as their guests last week their daughter, Mrs. Edwin Stuart and son, Dar, of Ulica and their son-in-law, Edward Vogler of Cleveland, who were here for the graduation of Ted Weldman from the Charlevoix high school.

GI's Find Strange Enemy In Thick Vietnam Jungle

Many Charlevoix County GI's fighting in Vietnam are discovering a formidable enemy—the "jungle."

For men more familiar with northern Michigan's pine forests the tangled barrier of jungle vegetation often seems more deadly than any human enemy. It not only deters troop movements, but even hampers communications. Back—pack radios designed to transmit up to 10 miles often cannot be heard for more than a mile and a half in a jungle.

ORIGINALLY, the term jungle seems to have been used mainly for deserts rather than luxuriant forests. British hunters applied the word—originally Sanskrit—to almost any place they sought game.

Bowhunters Nail 2,107 Whitetails

An estimated 2,107 deer were taken in Michigan last fall by over 50,000 bowhunters, the largest number of archers ever to stalk the state's fields and forests.

The kill figure, based upon the Conservation Department's annual postcard survey of archers, is down from 1964 when the bow-and-arrow harvest hit a record 2,810 whitetails. However, it ranks fifth best in the state's history and second highest since 1958.

In the Upper Peninsula, where 12.1 percent of the bowhunters were successful, last year's take totaled 436, as against 670 the year before.

Compared with 1964, archery deer kill slipped from 1,700 to 1,430 in the northern Lower Peninsula and from 440 to 310 in the southern third of the state. Shooting success totaled 4.3 percent in the first region and 2.2 percent in the southern farmbelt.

State wide, 4.3 percent of the state's archers got their deer. The 1964 figure was 6.3 percent.

An estimated 52,200 sportsmen bought archery deer licenses last fall, topping the previous record of 45,500 set in 1964.

In India jungle came to refer to rain forests.

For the most part, modern geographers use the term jungle sparingly and only to designate the very thick vegetation that develops on the edge of a tropical rain forest. The jungle, in this sense, is only a minor part of the rain forest. But it is the part that men become most familiar with, since it develops around clearings and on the shores of rivers and lakes. Here the combination of sunlight and moisture produces dense plant life.

THE JUNGLE made early explorers think that the rain forest itself was almost impenetrable. Actually, a traveler finds it easy to walk in a rain forest, once he has hacked through the jungle edge. Scottish-born naturalist Ivan Sanderson discovered this when he was lost for three days in the Guiana rain forest. He walked about "as easily as a man strolling along the platform of a railway station, meeting fewer obstacles than you would expect to encounter in an ordinary American or European wood."

Small plants of temperate climates become towering giants in the rain forest. Members of the rose family soar as high as an 18-story building. Violets become as big as apple trees.

THE INTERIOR of the forest is dark, the air still and dank. Roots spread out wide but do not go deep, for moisture is abundant. Occasionally a lofty but shallow-roofed tree crashes, creating an opening for sunlight.

The surrounding plants strain silently to fill the gap. The tree that climbs highest will have first chance at the life-giving rays of the sun. A bamboo plant may grow a foot a day.

In the treetops, birds, monkeys, insects, and reptiles move about, invisible to someone passing below. The floor of the forest—like the floor of the sea—is little more than a cemetery for animals and plants falling down from the green canopy above. The interrelationship of life in the green canopy of the rain forest is still little known, because that environment is so inaccessible to human observers.

under this year's program to liberate some 1.7 million of the fish in Lake Michigan.

This week's releases, drawing entirely upon young fish raised at the federal Jordan River Valley Hatchery, Antrim County, were carried out in the northern part of the lake in Michigan waters.

FEDERAL workers planted 100,000 lakereach in Grand Traverse Bay and an area offshore from Leland. The remaining 75,000 fish went into waters near Charlevoix (Courier, May 18).

In late April, approximately 88,000 lake trout were planted near Ludington and there is a possibility that another release of that size will be made in the same area this spring.

ANOTHER 490,000 fish are scheduled for this state's Lake Michigan waters this spring according to plans of the Great Lakes Fishery Commission which is spearheading efforts to rebuild lake trout populations.

The additional offshore releases will be centered in these areas: Cross Village and Pentwater, 100,000 each; Petoskey, Nubienway and Epoufette, 75,000 each; and Onekama, 65,000.

The 1966 schedule also calls for stocking about 765,000 young fish in Wisconsin waters of Lake Michigan.

Talk of the Town

Dr. and Mrs. Irvin Ringdahl and four children have returned to Alcatraz, Iowa, following a visit with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bingham have returned from a visit in Detroit with their son and daughter - in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Bingham and in Warren with their daughter, Mable, who with Bonnie Fitzhugh left for a trip to Miami, Fla. Enroute home they attended the graduation of Mrs. Bingham's niece, Lynette Mayne, from Ferris State College.

Mrs. Ethel (Staple) Beck and her guest, Mrs. Dorothy Vinson of Detroit visited briefly with friends here while staying with relatives in Harbor Springs.

DARREL SOMERVILLE'S paintings, most of which deal with outdoor themes, provide excellent conversation openers at his barber shop on Antrim Street. Here Don Kelly of American Mold gets his hair trimmed amid drawings.

Members of the Owl patrol of Boy Scout Troop 270 accompanied their Scoutmaster Louis Edwards on a two day trip to Detroit where they visited the zoo, Ford Motor Co. and other points of interest. Making the trip were Bruce Meggison, patrol leader, Ken Wilks, Ron Hoffman, David Mieras and Bob Donaldson. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mieras had as their weekend guests her mother, Mrs. S. Sjarda, her grandmother, Mrs. Edward Brower and her uncle, William Plummer all of Grand Rapids.

Linda Supernaw left recently for East Lansing to participate in Operation; Bently at Michigan State University.

Mrs. William Zillmer and daughter, Mrs. Jack Gettelman and three daughters returned to their respective homes in Milwaukee Friday after spending several days with Mrs. Zillmer's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred deCastro and other relatives.

Mrs. Archie Washegesic is expected home Wednesday from a week's visit in Detroit.

BETWEEN customers, Somerville works on easel in back room. He puts in an additional two hours on his paintings every evening at home.

Barber Shop Doubles As an Artist's Studio

The sign on the window says it's a barber shop, but from the inside it might well be an artist's atelier somewhere on Paris' Left Bank.

Darrel Somerville, 21, opened his own barber shop on Antrim Street last October and decided to use some of his own oil paintings and drawings as decoration.

In time he even painted an easel and paint box in the back room in order to work on his paintings whenever there is a long lapse between customers.

SOMERVILLE has been interested in painting ever since he attended Charlevoix High School, but he never had an art class "outside of architectural drawing," he says. However, he admits he has done an awful lot of reading on artists and their techniques. Although he had never put a painting up for sale, he plans to have a stand at this year's Waterfront Fair.

IN ADDITION to his on-the-job painting, Somerville makes it a practice to spend at least two hours at the easel every night at home. A native of Charlevoix, Somerville is the son of Robert Somerville, a Charlevoix police officer, and Mrs. Somerville. He graduated from CHS in 1962 and barbering college in Hamtramck in 1963. He and his wife, the former Sandy Baker, live in Bay Shore.

Talk of the Town

Mrs. Ronald Shawhan and six children are to arrive from Cleveland this week to spend two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Jean Gallagher, who went to the Ohio city for them.

J.M. Foster and son, Maurice J. Foster, have returned from a weekend visit in Kalamazoo with the former's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster. While there they attended the wedding of Michael A. Foster and Susan Crookston at St. Mary's Church Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Baldwin have returned to Des Moines, Iowa, after visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Christopherson.

Downtown Charlevoix Dolls Up

Since the last tourist shook the sand out of his shoes and went home last September, a good many changes have taken place in Charlevoix's business district.

It's no secret that Charlevoix has been enjoying the fruits of the nation's ripening economy to the hilt.

Furthermore, the dollars brought to Charlevoix by construction of the Medusa Cement plant are being wisely spent in capital improvements by her merchants and businessmen.

AT THE SHOPPING plaza on Antrim Street, visitors returning for the summer will be pleased to find a new department store—Olsen's—and a new men's wear shop—Ye Olde Squirrel—in business.

Across the street, Darrel Somerville has opened a new barbership, Virginia Whitley has her restaurant—the Country Kitchen—in operation and even the old building at 115 Antrim St. has sharpened up now that the stairway has been removed.

Moving up Bridge Street, extensive renovation has taken place at the Dahlquist Store. The interior of the building has been repainted and new counters have been installed. It doesn't look like the same place.

The pop-corn and ice cream shop operated by Mrs. Jerold Mordick has been completely refurbished to make room for a pizza parlor. It's called Buddy's, the second link in a chain operated by Bob Whitford out of Grand Rapids. The work involved relocating the front door, with additional remodeling on the inside. Mrs. Mordick plans to continue selling pop-corn and caramel corn on the premises.

NEXT DOOR at Irv's, the basement has been completely rebuilt as a cocktail lounge called "Twoco Decks." Remodeling has been done by Jim Sawtell, using timbers from the schooner Sawyer which sank in Belle Bay in 1880. The massive oak bar was once part of the Sawyer's keel.

The Geiken building next door has been sold and some improvements are contemplated, including a new furnace for the Pastry Shop, Ken Cellner's barbershop and the two apartments upstairs.

Around the corner on Clinton Street, the two-family apartment house owned by Dr. Gilbert Saltonstall has been torn down to make way for the new library, now under construction. Dr. Saltonstall donated the land to the School District.

CLINTON STREET also is being widened, at the sacrifice of some gracious old sugar maples. Summer visitors will get used to the "new look" in time.

Although renovated of the Charlevoix County State Bank was completed last summer, the bank held its official open-house last winter to show off its improvements.

Across the street, George LaBlanc bought the former Red Wing shoe store and is converting it into an office for his insurance business.

Further up Bridge Street the Town House bar closed for a week last winter to redecorate the restrooms.

Jim Sawtell and his wife, Nancy, have opened the Treasurer Cove, a shop featuring shipwreck furniture and jewelry, all hand-made by the Sawtells from well-aged timbers salvaged from sunken vessels.

An old-fashioned candy store will soon be opened next door to the Cove.

JUST LAST week, Henry Hogan's workmen completed an Alpine overhang on the I.O.O.F. building, providing an attractive frame for the Polly-Kay store.

Visitors may be surprised to find the Birnkrand building at the corner of Park and Bridge is gone. When Henry Hogan started remodeling, he discovered a fire in 1928 had weakened the walls badly. He had the whole thing taken down.

Across Park Avenue, Ralph Hess has acquired the old Hip Shop and has joined it to his present building as a showroom for colonial furniture.

Around the corner, the Charlevoix Courier has moved into a completely renovated building where Wadas Cleaners was located last summer.

Across the street, a new women's wear store—The Carriage Wheel—has opened in the former Pancake Galley and Jim Alspaugh has installed a new aluminum and glass front on the Sugar Bowl.

Out on Belvedere, Grey Gables has built a new kitchen and up on the hill at the foot of Dixon The Deck Lounge has opened for business.

It's the same old Charlevoix. But you might not recognize it at first glance.

District Votes for Experience

Congratulations to Dale Boss and Jack Rader on their election to the Charlevoix Board of Education.

Both men have had prior experience on school boards—Mr. Boss in Charlevoix, Mr. Rader in his old home town of Oak Harbor, Ohio. The entire school district stands to benefit from the long hours they already have spent in the never-ending quest for better educational programs.

The continuation of Mr. Boss on the board, and the addition of Mr. Rader, augur well for the continued excellence of our school system.

As for the losing candidates, Mrs. Edith Gilbert and Mr. Ralph Hamilton, the school district already has benefitted from the interest they have generated in school problems throughout the community.

Clockwise

We returned to St. James last weekend to double-check on our first impression that Beaver Island is some kind of Irish Shangri-la in the misty reaches of northern Lake Michigan. We were not mistaken. If anything, the winter snows have left the Beavers lovelier than they were last October, decked out in gaudy autumn colors.

This time Judy and I arranged to spend two days on the island. You just can't do it justice overnight. We took our bikes again and found them extremely well suited to the narrow, hard-packed island roads. We wonder if any attempt has ever been made to acquaint bicycle clubs and youth hostel groups with the bicycle tour possibilities of the island? It might be something for the resort people to look into.

THANKS to Marshall Sheets and his VW, our cycling was supplemented on Saturday with a complete tour of the island, accompanied by Mrs. Sybil Larsen. Although she was born in Northport, Mrs. Larsen has lived on the island since she was 18 months old. She not only knows every stone on the island, but has a story to go with it.

We stopped at Dr. Protar's house. The old Russian nobleman who took care of the islanders' aches and pains during the first quarter of this century wouldn't recognize the place. The grass is knee high and the ancient cedar shakes on the roof have dried, cracked and curled. They wouldn't keep out a heavy dew. The property is owned by the Beaver Island Historical Society which apparently is trying to keep things just the way the doctor left them.

Nearby the doctor's tomb is in better repair. A fieldstone enclosure marks the doctor's burial place, and a bronze plaque attests to the esteem in which he was held by the islanders.

Mrs. Larsen pointed out a huge boulder directly behind the tomb upon which Dr. Protar used to sit in a chair and read. It was one of his favorite haunts. A railroad formerly passed close by, and the doctor enjoyed watching the trains lumbering past.

DOWN THE ROAD a piece is a wooden cross in a small fenced in enclosure. Mrs. Larsen said a train jumped the track one day and a crewman by the name of David Chase was crushed beneath the engine. Dr. Protar was deeply moved by the death and shortly after erected a cross on the exact spot Chase died.

The first year the cross was painted red as a symbol of the tragedy that had taken place. The second year Dr. Protar painted the cross black, to signify mourning. The third year the cross was painted white, meaning that Chase's memory was still alive. The islanders have kept the memorial just the way the

A reminder: six months from Saturday is Christmas. Just in case you're a person who wants to get started early with the holiday shopping, however, the main reason for mentioning this is the fact that the little village of Christmas in Michigan's Upper Peninsula is going to have a postoffice so if you'd like to mail your cards from Christmas, just pack them up and send them along to the little community near Munising and they'll post them for you.

And for stamp collectors, the new five-cent Christmas stamp will be issued Nov. 1 at Christmas, Michigan. The stamp, to be done in five colors, will feature a reproduction of part of the 15th Century Flemish painting "Madonna and Child with Angels" by Hans Memling that hangs in the National Gallery of Art. It sounds very lovely. . . . For those of you who want first-day covers, don't forget to mail your letters and a check for postage to the postmaster at Christmas, Michigan, that is, before Nov. 1. . . . If you want your first-day covers, I think this will be the first new stamp to be issued in Michigan since the Mackinac Bridge stamp back in '58.

I KNOW that some of you have followed the career of one of our former summer residents with interest. She's Linda Newman, daughter of Mrs. Robert Newman of Canterbury Road in Detroit and the late Mr. Newman who once lived on East Dixon Ave. here. . . . A talented coloratura, she is now a regular with the Metropolitan National Company. . . . Last week, Thursday, to be exact, she was married in New York to Michael Manuel, the National Company's manager. They will travel to England to visit his family. . . . A long way from the day when she skittered around our fair village as a teenager, enjoying the sun and the water and her friends as only someone that age can.

NOT LONG ago I mentioned bats and wondered where they went in the winter time. Mrs. H. E. Paddock stopped by to bring me a lovely bouquet of tulips and lilacs and to tell me that bats migrate. . . . They had visited a cave in Colorado during the winter while on a trip west and were told that they head for warmer climes, come winter. . . . An owl came with a warning about bats. . . . They're such horrible little creatures that I can't imagine anyone touching a bat but I guess some people will. . . . Anyway, a warning has been issued to beware of a bat that might be on the ground and fluttering. . . . he might be rabid. . . . I guess bats are classified as animals rather than birds so they could become rabid. . . . However, it is not known how they become infected. . . . Their teeth are so sharp they can bite without causing pain. . . . so for heaven's sake, stay away from any on the ground. . . . Ordinarily, they don't come near humans so if you can catch one, he's definitely sick. . . . In the event you should find one, you're advised to pick it up with tongs, place it in a jar, seal it and take it to your health officer. . . . And when you see them darting about in the evening, they're not attacking you, as you might think. . . . They're just bug-hunting. . . . Their combination of sharp vision and sound ranging system enables them to perform extraordinary acrobatic feats in pursuing and catching the insects which come out with sundown.

RAMSHACKLE, according to the dictionary, is defined as "tumbledown, rickety." . . . I used the word recently to describe a building at 115 Antrim St. . . . However, its owner informs me that the building stands firm because it was well constructed in the beginning, that the wood is not rotting and that basically there is nothing wrong with the structure. . . . Therefore I stand corrected and, in the future, will be more careful how I use that word.

HEARD THIS cute cat story the other day from my sister-in-law, Mrs. Phil Martin. . . . It was getting on toward bedtime one night recently and their cat hadn't come home. She went to the door to call him and when he didn't come she started looking around. . . . And where did she find him? Under a nearby street light on the corner, having himself a blast chasing moths and bugs of all descriptions. . . . It was great entertainment and he wasn't about to leave such sport and return to his snug bed. . . . This is the first time I've ever heard of a cat participating in this sort of game.

AND IF YOU'RE a lover of wild strawberries, they're out. . . . because Mrs. Florence Zabel, who lives along US-31 North, has some to prove it. . . . and her description of their sweetness makes me drool.

From the Pulpit:

Direction You're Heading Makes All the Difference

"Knowing where you stand is the first step in going where you should be," the Rev. Walter Pickup told his congregation at the Community Reformed Church Sunday morning.

The Rev. Pickup, who is standing in for the Rev. Charles A. Stoppels during his illness, called his sermon "Standard of Self-Examination."

THE PASTOR told his parishioners that they should check up on themselves periodically to see if there has been any improvement or decay in their spiritual lives.

Ideally, he said, man should move continually toward a "proper relationship" with God.

He cited Paul and Saul as men who both had an abundance of good qualities, yet one is held up as an example of Christian living while the other is looked upon as a man who sacrificed his great potential to do good in his quest for power.

BOTH MEN, Rev. Pickup said, were Jews. Both belonged to the tribe of Benjamin. Both were brave, Saul in battle, Paul at sea.

Both men were humble. As King, Saul continued to live and work in rustic simplicity. Paul, as Christ's advocate, was beaten and robbed.

Both showed generous amounts of self-control. Saul prevented his followers from putting two conscientious objectors to death following the battle with the Ammonites; Paul turning away the crown when it was offered him by pagans.

Both men were great leaders. Saul led his people in battle; Paul, through his letters, led in the development of the Church.

"AS MEN, they are not so different," Rev. P.

"The difference lies in the fact that Saul moved from a proper relationship with God to a faulty one. Paul moved from a faulty relationship with God to a proper one."

Saul, who was a man early in life, from God in his crown. In battle was grim and ruthless. His sons were the Philistines, he was wounded, his bearer refused to kill him. He was forced to commit suicide.

Paul, who began life hating the Christians, came to the end of his days seeking salvation that the promise of death was joyous.

Rev. Pickup suggested that congregation check themselves from time to time to make sure they are in the right direction, especially in the areas of gossiping, covetousness, forgiveness and a prayerful life.

The Editor
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Editor:

Recently while spending several days in Charlevoix on business, I read the May 4 issue of your paper in which the headlines carried the story of an apartment plan killed. This particular article had interested me because the firm I represent has invested millions of dollars in Western Michigan in communities just like Charlevoix and in Charlevoix itself for projects very similar to this. I know none of the facts relative to this particular apartment building or site and consequently can reach no intelligent decision as to whether this apartment had possibilities or not. However, the interest in the article stemmed from the fact that in general we find the smaller communities are much more reluctant to change and are usually less progressive in modifying zoning regulations, for instance, or approving projects which heretofore have been unheard of in the community, than are our larger cities. This is one of the reasons we find that the major investors which include Life Insurance companies and other National lenders who have money available for development of both industry and residential and commercial projects are reluctant to participate in the smaller areas while they have shown great interest in the larger communities simply because of this fact.

Charlevoix is a beautiful area and no one, whether he be a local citizen or so-called outsider attempting to do business and offer services for the local community, wishes to see deteriorated in any way. However, it is a recognized fact that both the area and the county and state are growing by leaps and bounds and the progressive community is one which recognizes the needs not only of today but of three years and five years and ten years from now and which takes the necessary steps to take the atmosphere of the community conducive to the interests of outside investors and developers. Apartment units as such are in high demand in the Charlevoix area and unless someone meets this need it is going to be difficult to encourage new industries such as the new Medusa Cement plant to bring people to the community to live. In addition, many of your well known citizens will be reaching retirement age and will want to remain in the Charlevoix area and yet will no longer have a need for a private home or will be physically capable or maintaining one; consequently, a well designed, pleasantly planned apartment could very well fill the need of a high percentage of your future citizens.

Your community is well aware, I am sure, of the prime factors that interest new industry and new investments in an area. Water is certainly high on its list and you have an abundance of it. An ample supply of skilled labor is a second item which is very important in order to encourage industry into a community and most people will concede that the third most important item is that you have a community atmosphere conducive to progress with ample good housing facilities including apartment buildings and single family residences available for employees of the new industries. A good balance of all of these factors would certainly make Charlevoix a most attractive area for outside investors and developers, and whether or not all of the local citizenry approves of outsiders the record proves that in most cases our major developments have to come from sources outside the community.

Very truly yours,
William E. Rogers

Land

have to meet state plumbing, heating and wiring standards.

ONE OF THE main concerns seems to be whether it is possible for a subdivision of lots measuring 60 to 130 feet to support several septic tank fields as well as wells for drinking water.

Bohnet said the answer depends on the composition of the land. He said he believed the land of Bay Shore and Susan Lake could well support a good many water and sewage systems, particularly since many of the homes will be used only during the summer.

Jim Baker expressed concern on the part of many attending the meeting that new roads cut through the Bay Shore wilderness by the firm had disrupted existing roadways.

Jim McPeak, a representative of the Civil Rights Commission and a teacher at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey, attended the meeting under the impression that the Charlevoix Land Co. was forcing Bay Shore Indians off the land.

"What is this? Custer's last stand all over again?" he demanded heatedly at the beginning of the meeting. "I've seen it happen time and again. This guy will talk you out of everything," he said, referring to Bohnet.

He was assured by Bohnet and the Township Board that no one was being forced to move off his land. At one time it was believed John Willis' septic tank field was in the way of one of the old platted roads in Bay Side, but construction of that road was discontinued.

At the close of the meeting, Bohnet told the Board he hopes to have "canvassacks" (plans) ready for their approval in the near future. Bohnet said he did not know how much the lots would sell for, or the price range of the houses expected to be built.

He did say that some of the lots in the old plat will be well suited for house trailers.

Most of the residents left the meeting generally in favor of the development, but convinced that Hayes Township is badly in need of a zoning law and a building code.

Other owners of the development are Don Foote, Harry Swan, and Robert Anders, all of Lansing.

Music Classes Slated

The Annual Summer Instrumental Music Program will get underway next week, June 27th, and will continue for six weeks, according to C.A. Odmarr, who will direct the program.

He will be assisted by Miss Evelyn Peters, a 1965 graduate of Northern Michigan University, who has been teaching in Clerkston, Mich., the past year.

ODMARR emphasizes that the program, while primarily intended for the Junior High instrumental students, is open to all instrumental people in the school program.

The lesson schedule has been drawn up, and those who have enrolled are being notified by mail as to when to report to the band room for their weekly lesson. The sixth grade beginning class will begin instrumental training during the second week of the program, and will continue its schedule one week later than the rest of the program. This is done to allow the 6th grade students who have qualified for the program to obtain instruments and be ready to begin.

ANY STUDENT who finished the 8th grade this past year and has not enrolled in Beginning Band should contact the director immediately if he wishes to enroll. It is most important that this training begin in the summer session, rather than waiting until school begins in the fall.

Odmarr said many St. Marys School children in this category may be interested in taking advantage of the program.

The Charlevoix Board of Education is accepting applications for the position of principal at Charlevoix High School, according to Superintendent Rex Milligan.

Meyer Takes Tourney

A rank newcomer to the ranks of golf greats is 24-year-old Robert Meyer of East Lansing, a graduate student in business management at Michigan State University.

Meyer, a stranger to golf titles of any kind, left Charlevoix's Belvedere Golf Course Sunday, the proud possessor of the Michigan Amateur Golf Cup which bears the names of golfing champions from 1906 to the present.

MEYER defeated Cliff Taylor of Spring Lake 5 and 4 when he sank a birdie putt on the 14th hole. He lost the first two holes of the match, but bridled the 7th through 10th, setting him up for the win.

In three days of play, Meyer defeated Claude Fournel of Plymouth, Fred Delhyma Jr. of Lansing, Skip Richard of East Lansing, Jerry Thomas of Flint and Don Stevens of Okemos, clearing a path to the crown.

Taylor out-shot Dick Norton of Grand Rapids and Bob Wallace of Charlevoix in the opening rounds. Friday afternoon he was to play W. R. Stroeber of Farmington but Stroeber never showed up. He got his wires crossed and went water skiing instead.

Taylor also defeated Bud Stevens of Detroit before facing Meyer.

MEYER, who received his B.A. in general business, admitted he had played golf during the tournament like he had never played before.

His wife, Mary Jo, was reluctant to leave with her husband for a tournament.

After all, he did it, she said.

Meyer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fred Meyer of Niles.

Airport Rezoning Hits a New Snag

M-66 Woes Remain

One of the knottiest problems ever faced by a Charlevoix City Council -- relocation of M-66 -- came up for discussion again Monday night.

It appears the State Highway Department is ready to go ahead with condemnation proceedings against Vern Matthews, not because it wants to use the land for road purposes but because it needs something to trade the city for cemetery property the city is reluctant to lose.

THE HIGHWAY Department submitted a proposed resolution to the Council under which the city would have accepted $9,750 for two and one-half acres of cemetery property which lies in the proposed path of M-66.

In exchange, the Highway Department would start condemnation proceedings against Vern Matthews whose property lies on the other side of the cemetery for an equal amount of land. Out of the $9,750 the city would pay "acquisition costs" of an indefinite amount.

The city has tried to buy property outright from Matthews to replace land needed for the highway, but Matthews has refused to sell a small parcel. Someday he hopes to subdivide his land and thinks he may have trouble selling lots next to a cemetery.

He is willing to sell the city his whole tract of 18 acres or more, but the city's unwilling to make such a large addition to the cemetery.

After a brief discussion, the Council decided to table the proposed resolution.

"We've been working on this three years now," Mayor Fochtman said. "Two more weeks isn't going to make any difference."

East Jordan Must Improve It's Dump

EAST JORDAN -- State Health Department Representative Don Mikulski told the East Jordan City Council last week that it will have to do something about the city dump.

Under a new state law, burning is prohibited. The mused part of the dump will have to be filled in and the number of garbage dumping stations reduced to one. That part of the dump used will have to be covered once a week.

U. Dave Smith, executive officer aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew, will take command of Group Charlevoix July 1.

The group headquarters has charge of 14 lights and shore stations in northern Michigan. Smith will be succeeded at the Sundew post by Lt. Jon Uithol of Grand Rapids, whose last duty assignment was Vietnam.

AT GROUP Headquarters, Smith will replace CWO James Seldt who will continue as Assistant Group Commander. Seldt has been acting CO since Lt. Charles Mitrak was transferred to the Coast Guard Cutter Anacela last winter.

A graduate of the Coast Guard Academy and veteran of 10 years in the Coast Guard, Lt. Smith has been assigned to the Sundew since Aug. 15, 1964.

PREVIOUS assignments took him to Cape May, N. J., and a LOAN (Long Range Aid to Navigation) station in the Philippines.

East Jordan Ready For Tasty Holiday

EAST JORDAN -- Final preparations are completed for the East Jordan Rotary Club's 2nd Annual Chicken Barbecue July 2, at the Tourist Park.

Rotary president and barbecue chairman Charles Landers and president-elect and head cook Max Damoth say everything is in readiness. The barbecue pit is erected, signs are up in the area, food has been carefully made and every little detail taken into consideration.

ARRANGEMENTS are such that the dinner will go on rain or shine. The barbecue pit is covered and serving will be done in the big recreation building at the park. The time for serving is from 12 noon to 6 p.m., and the price is $2 for adults and $1 for children.

The barbecue will afford an excellent opportunity to "kill two birds with one stone". Those who attend will also be on hand for the Jordan Valley Festival Parade. Festival Chairman, Joseph Wilkins, has promised a dandy.

Planners Mull Subdivisions

A model ordinance covering the planning of subdivisions was the main topic at a meeting of the Charlevoix Planning Commission June 22.

Commission members found the presentation by Everett Thompson particularly interesting because it covered problems presently being faced in Hayes Township with the development of two large resort subdivisions.

Thompson asked representative Jerry Whitley to check with the City Council into the possibility of holding a joint meeting July 26, Monday, the Council confirmed the date.

The new law calls for a performance bond amounting to $500 an acre, with a minimum of $2,500. Then if the city doesn't make the needed changes, the state will.

The council was surprised by a report that it costs $60 a week just to water the city's hanging flower baskets.

Andrew Shively appeared before the council to discuss a bill he had submitted for work done on the restrooms at the Sportsman Park. The building was to be a memorial to Elmer Groen's father and $1000 was put in an account for the building. $783.41 is needed to finish paying for it. It was authorized by city officials to be finished.

The council told Shively he would be paid in some way or other.

Ken Slough also appeared before the council concerning a renewal on a beachhouse building permit. It was approved by the Army Corps of Engineers pending approval by the city council. Council approved.

The council decided that the Tourist Park needed a set of rules governing the appearance of trailers.

The council passed a special building permit for building 21 feet from lot line. The Zoning Board recommended that it be passed.

Councilmen decided to sell the eye-testing machine in the Drivers' License Bureau to the state for $125.

The council told Mayor Hettie Robertson to draw up a schedule for cleaning city hall, to be used when hiring a janitor.

Aldermen Review Details of Trade

Rezoning of former city airport property for industrial use hit another snag Monday night when city aldermen decided they still didn't know enough about the terms of a land exchange with Gordon Freedman to make an intelligent decision.

Freedman's attorney, Norman D. Ance, was chagrined by the delay, which will keep the hotly contested sale of airport property before the Council for another two weeks at least.

ORIGINALLY, the Council agreed to sell Freedman 1.7 acres. However, when flying enthusiasts objected to the sale of airport land, Freedman agreed to deed certain portions back to the city, including the tract on which hangars are located.

City Attorney John Michael recommended postponement of the zoning change, because there were still "loose ends" in the agreement with Freedman.

ANCE TOLD the Council that he understood the rezoning from Agricultural to Industrial -2 would be a routine matter if a proper legal description of the property were presented to the Council. He said he had faithfully done all the work expected of him.

Mayor Bill Fochtman said this was his understanding and so asked for a motion that the property be rezoned. Second Ward Alderman Bob Gilt made the motion, but Third Ward Alderman Jerry Whitley objected.

Fochtman said Gilt's motion was still on the table and asked for support. None was forthcoming. Whitley then was allowed to make a motion that the airport committee be given two weeks to study all terms of the agreement. It passed unanimously.

IN OTHER business, the Council heard a report by auditor Darrell Dhwidde on the city's operations last year.

"The city's excellent financial condition," Dhwidde said in conclusion. "There's no doubt about that."

Dhwidde said that $210,000 is still being carried on the books as the value of dissolved engines and parts at the former city-owned generating plant.

He also recommended that $500 shift owed to the city by M. McDonald be written off as a donation.

A consolidation of the auditor's report will appear in next week's Courier.

ALDERMEN also:

--Voted to accept an offer by Westinghouse Corp. to renew the status on the generator at the city hydro-electric generating plant at Bel-Aire.

--Voted to renew the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew's lease at the city dock for another year.

--Agreed that Mayor Fochtman should write a letter to the commanding officer of the Sundew asking that a sewage holding tank be installed as quickly as possible to prevent further pollution of Round Lake with raw sewage. "With that many men aboard (40), it's not a good situation," commented Second Ward Alderman Nathan Boss.

--APPROVED the Board. Continued on Page 14

Swim Season Starts

With the water warmer than it has been in several years, the City Recreation Department's swim school is expecting another record enrollment.

Official enrollment can still be made by signing up at the City Hall.

Thursday noon is the deadline, with the first classes for some to start on Friday, July 1, and the rest to start on Tuesday, July 5.

There are only a few open lanes in golf. Classes have started already.

BEACH HOURS for the summer have been set as follows: Guard Sharon Oils will be on duty at the Michigan beach daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Guard Joel Arvilla will be at the Depot beach Monday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., and from noon until 6 p.m. on Sunday. Guard Al Arvilla will be at the Ferry Avenue beach daily from noon to 6 p.m.

The beachers have some areas roped off and diving platforms in the water. Beach and crowd greeted the crowd over the past weekend as the weatherman picked perfect weather to open the swim season.

I NEVER WALK ALONE

I am a deep-sea diver. In my work the hazards are many, often danger lurks near. But my vocation has taught me that no one need ever walk alone. I can't see my Companion, but neither can one see the wind. To me praying once seemed as useless as talking to myself, but not any more. Now it is a pillar of strength to me and in my business I need that strength.

The source of this power, this companionship and strength can be the possession of anyone who earnestly seeks it. The church of your choice can be of tremendous assistance in helping you to discover and cultivate this companionship and communication that challenges all fear. For that is the purpose of the church. That is why it was founded.

1 Card of Thanks

We would like to express our sincere appreciation and gratitude to all those who were so kind to our wife, mother, daughter and sister, Mary Margaret Wojan, during her last illness and to us in our bereavement. We especially would like to thank Dr. Grate and the entire staff at the Charlevoix Hospital for the fine care and concern shown her during the months she was hospitalized. We also would like to acknowledge the many expressions of sympathy shown us during our bereavement. Ted Wojan and sons, Richard and Robert; Mrs. Irene Melville, Brothers and Sisters. 6/29x1

I WISH to thank Drs. Lignell and Grate, the Nurses and Nurse Aids and staff of the Charlevoix hospital for the care given me while a patient at the hospital. Also to my many friends for the cards and flowers sent to me, and to Rev. Stoppes and Mr. Pick-up for their comforting words. Mrs. Ida Fisher. 6/29x1

WORDS CANNOT adequately express our deep appreciation for the many kind and sympathetic acts that came to us at the time of our recent bereavement. Special thanks to our many friends, the Pall bearers, Robert Winchester and Father Denay, Mrs. Fred O'Neill and family. 6/29x1

I WISH to thank my friends, neighbors and relatives for their acts of kindness and many messages of encouragement sent me during my stay at the U. of M. Hospital Ann Arbor. Edward Klooster. 6/29x1

Crandall Ends Boot Training

Ronald D. Crandall

Seaman Recruit Ronald D. Crandall, 17, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl William Crandall of Charlevoix has completed seven weeks of Navy boot training at the Naval Training Center in Great Lakes, Ill.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

IN MAKING the transition from civilian to sailor, he was taught and supervised by experienced Navy petty officers. He learned the basic skills of seamanship, as well as survival techniques, military drill and other basic subjects. Upon completion of his recruit training, he was assigned to a school, shore station or ship, according to the results of his Navy classification tests, his own desires, and the needs of the Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Browe and family of Roanoke Rapids, N.C., are spending a ten-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Browe Sr.

Camp Charlevoix

Corrall Chatter

"Once Again We Come Together" was the song that could be heard far and wide on Saturday as the campers came together to start off the 41st season of Camp Charlevoix.

Friendships started last summer were renewed, and boys were very excited as they arrived to once again enjoy a summer of fun.

The staff, which had been in session for a week, was ready to greet the boys. Activities were ready to go, and an air of excitement was felt by everyone.

Parents were most complimentary as to how great the camp looks, and were most pleased with a fine staff that has gathered here to take care of our campers who came from Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Washington D.C., Connecticut, and from Venezuela, Switzerland and Puerto Rico. We are truly an international camp again this summer.

THE TRADITIONAL pillow-fights were held on Saturday night in the clubhouse. Boys always look forward to this event, as it is a great introduction to camping, and gives boys a chance to meet their fellow campers and to learn from where they come. The matches were exciting and the results were: David Fox, Shelby, Mich., won over Rich Gillett, Grand Rapids, Jack Deppe, Bloomington, Ind., won over Luis Hernandez, Puerto Rico, Mark Chappuis, Fort Wayne, Ind., beat Phil Hayes, Dayton, Ohio, Paul Dancer, Stockbridge, Mich., won over Steve Storm, Dayton, John Thal, Kansas City, Mo., beat "Cap" Lesesan, Groose Pointe, Mich; Doug Ladney, Groose Pointe, won over Bill Freyfogel, Decatur, Ill. Novak's Boys Capture a Thriller

Warm Weather Brings Out Fans

The first week of softball play has been completed and with the weatherman cooperating as both players and fans enjoyed the balmy evenings. The game of the week was the Junior League contest between Electra Manufacturing Company and Novak's Insurance. The insurance boys, as a team, just came up from the P. nut league and were expected to take their lumps this year. However, they surprised many and battled the Electra nine into extra innings and won a thriller 10-9. A rundown on the week's activities follows:

FASTBALL LEAGUE
Lake Construction won in the opener behind Larry McBride's one hit, defeating American Mold 2-1. Ron Grunch and Ike Boss combined base hits around an error for the two runs. Don Kowbell's third inning single was the only hit for the losers.

The Construction gang won their second game later in the week defeating the Servicemen 5-1 with Ike Boss again the hitting hero. Sonny Wright allowed the winners only five hits, but three of them were strung together in the third inning to produce all the Lake Construction runs. Larry McBride singled home two runs, and Boss sent home three with a bases - loaded triple.

American Mold got back on the winning side with a well played 5-3 win over hustling County State Bank. Veteran Nale Boss pitched a strong three hitter and his teammates staked him to an early three run lead in the first when Harvey Cole, Ken Wozan, and Ken Balch strung together base knocks. Norm Helms and Larry Edwards each hit one - baggers and scored on two sacrifice flies to close it to 3-2. But Mold's Ken Balch led the game with

The Servicemen and County State Bank hooked up in a dandy with the Servicemen scoring twice in the bottom of the sixth for a 7-6 win. Bob Gantzel's double was the big blow in the inning. Sonny Wright had three hits to pace the winners while Norm Helms had two for the losers.

Jerry's Gulf picked up right where they left off last year by winning their first two games of the season. The defending champions whipped A & W in the opener 9-5 behind the one hit pitching of Terry Blissett and the two doubles and a single by Ralph Dean. Against Electra it was the same story only a slightly different 9-3 margin. Steve Smith's two hits and Mike Thorp's home run paced the winners. Novak's won that thriller over Electra behind the brilliant relief pitching of young Bob Cain. Electra had scored seven times in the first then Crain came in to allow only two runs the rest of the way. Losing pitcher Bill Gengle allowed only three hits but walks proved his downfall.

Against the Dodgers Vince Leck and Mike Bergmann each banged out two safeties while pitcher Larry Potter was limiting the losers to just three hits.

The Lions scored at will against the Dodgers romping to a 15-9 win. Bob Etienne had a home run and two doubles for the Lions while Oleson and Peterson's bats paced the Dodgers.

The Astros did in one game what they didn't do in the entire 1965 season-win a game. They edged the Cubs in a well played contest 4-2.

and Empey paced the winners while Bill Armstrong led the losers. Novak's had no real trouble with the Medicine Chest winning 14-7. Everyone in the Novak lineup picked up at least one hit. American Mold seniors edged Boyne City 4-3 in a well played contest.

At's Texaco Service looked impressive whipping the Dairy Queens 21-3. Cindy Cunningham had a home run and two singles while Mary Plumm had three singles to pace the D. Q.'s.

Where the Buoys Are

Safe Boating Week Set by President

Buoys are the road signs of the waterways. For the small boat skipper, knowing what they mean can often spell the difference between a fun-filled day of cruising and running aground on a sand bar.

During National Safe Boating Week, set July 3-9 by President Johnson, small boat owners are urged to memorize the types of buoys and what they mean.

Here's a brief rundown:

--Entering a channel or river from open water, buoys on the right (starboard) are painted red and even numbered from the mouth. Buoys on the left (port) side of the channel are painted black with odd numbers, stay between red and black buoys and keep to the right of the channel.

--Buoys marking mid-channel have black and white vertical stripes.

--Buoys marking obstruction or junctions are striped horizontally red and black. If the top stripe is red, the best channel lies to the left. If it's black, the best channel is to the right.

On your cruise, keep a lookout for buoys--see how much difference they make.

DON'T LET your boating fun be dampened--make sure your boat is properly equipped before you set off.

Federal law requires boats on navigable waters to carry a Coast Guard approved life saving device for every person aboard. Motorboats must carry an approved fire extinguisher and proper navigation lights. Most state laws require this equipment, too.

To add to your comfort and convenience, you should also carry aboard an extra fuel can, a tool kit, paddle, first aid kit, anchor and line.

During National Safe Boating Week, all boatmen are urged to check their craft carefully to make sure they are properly equipped and that the equipment is in good condition.

THERE'S NO NEED to fear the water, but you should show it a healthy respect.

Before you set out in your boat, check the weather. Know and heed the storm warning. If the sky looks threatening, stay in.

In unfamiliar water, check for any unusual tides or currents. A good set of charts will help to avoid sand bars, rocks, submerged logs and other underwater obstructions. They also list water depths, distances and navigational aids. Charts for inland waterways are available from the nearest U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Office. Those for coastal waters are available from the Coast and Geodetic Survey in Washington, D.C.

During National Safe Boating Week, make it a point to learn more about the water.

Miss Margaret Milner has arrived from her teaching duties in Detroit to join her sisters, the Misses Floranz and Frances Milner for the summer.

Miss Helen Rose Cline of New York City visited last week with friends here and with Mrs. Clinton G. Cooper of Boyne City. She is a former resident.

Mr. and Mrs. James Haggard and daughter have returned to their home in Los Angeles after spending three weeks with his mother, Mrs. Gregory A. Shadko, and Mr. Shadko and with her family in East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Korn and family have arrived from Detroit to spend the summer at their Boulder Park home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Browe Sr. have had as their guests their sons and daughters-in-law, T/Sgt. and Mrs. Theodore Browe and children of Roanoke Rapids, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Browe of Los Angeles, and Sp4 Thomas Browe of Fort Benning, Ga., and their son - in - law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Jackson and three children of Joliet, Ill., and Mrs. Dale Murphy and children of Muskegon. Others present for a family picnic at the beach Sunday were James Browe, and Mary, Ruth Ann and Rebecca who are at home. The Ted Browes will visit here until early next week. The others returned home early this week.

Mrs. Angus L. Fochtman, her sister, Mrs. C. S. Webster, and Mr. and Mrs. William Fochtman and daughters were in Haslet recently for the wedding of Mrs. Fochtman's granddaughter, Sharon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fochtman, and Gerald Peterson.

DISPLAYING unusual stability characteristics, trimaran Donalea stopped at Charlevoix recently. Built in Toronto, the three-hulled vessel is equipped with a 15 horsepower Volvo engine. Operators were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ward of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fochtman and family have returned from a Canadian vacation camping trip.

Bids Wanted

Fishermen Identified

Ex - Beaver Islanders have helped identify the fishermen who appeared in last week's "Beaver Island of Yesteryear".

What causes accidents?

Ask an expert

He sees them every day, in the traffic congestion of large cities, on the quiet streets of small towns and on the open road. He spends most of every day behind the wheels and he knows what the dangers are on our streets and highways. His driving record shows that he is well trained because Mr. "Average Truck Driver" drives hundreds of thousands of miles without a chargeable accident.

Discuss accidents with him. He won't talk about nuts and bolts. He knows that most accidents are the result of poor driving practices.

The excellent safety record of professional truck drivers is no accident; it is the result of proper driver training and a continuing campaign to emphasize safe driving techniques. As a result, truck drivers obey the law, are courteous, alert and always drive aware of the dangers which are present.

If you ask an expert what causes accidents, he'll tell you it's the driver behind the wheel that makes the difference.

THINK SAFETY—DRIVE SAFELY

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book.

(Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until July 1, 1966!)

So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

Charlevoix of Yesteryear

ABOVE are the former golf links and Inn as they appeared in 1905. Now gone, the Inn stood near present Chicago Club property on bluff overlooking Lake Charlevoix. The structure to the left is the old Dixon home which was used as a dormitory for girls waiting table at the Inn. Built in 1873, the house is the oldest still standing in Charlevoix. Fire last week damaged the roof and attic. Mrs. Mont Willets is present owner.

HERE IS what the Belvedere resort looked like before the railroad came through. These buildings were located across the inner channel from the Inn. Note absence of trees in area after timber barons had moved out.

Thanks to the modern motel, the old highway travel has changed radically in the past 20 years. Vacationers undoubtedly are more comfortable today, but some of the adventure of taking a long journey by car has been sacrificed to steam heat and terrazzo show-ers.

For one thing, few people travel today without reservations. Some motel chains even will wire ahead across the country for you, making sure you'll have lodging all the way from Charlevoix to San Francisco.

BACK WHEN I started driving it was pretty much a gamble whether you'd find something for the night or not. If you did, it was either a hotel, a tourist home or one of the new "faded" tourist cabins. The motel hadn't been invented yet.

If you stayed in a tourist cabin, conditions were primitive at best. Most tourist cabins were built by enterprising farmers who threw up a half dozen or more eight-by-eight shacks and, presto, they were in the tourist business.

You usually got sulfur-tasting water from the farmer's well and washed in a tin basin. Plumbing was non-existent, one outdoor john serving the entire transient community. Heat was supplied by a wood stove and there usually was an abandoned icebox on the porch. If you were lucky, the farmer would give you a piece of ice to keep your beer cold. Otherwise you'd put it in the lake. If there was one.

And if you were the first customers of the season you got to chase all of the field mice out of the dresser drawers.

I'LL NEVER forget a rainy day I was driving with a friend, Fred Shaw, across the Ontario wilderness from Ottawa to Georgian Bay. The temperature had been dropping steadily, the car heater wasn't working, and by the time we reached Gravenhurst we were both ready to call it a day.

Suddenly a big sign reading "Heated Cabins" appeared dimly ahead through the rain-streaked windshield. We pulled off the road and stopped near a lighted building which looked as though it might be the office. We called the owner from his supper and he allowed as he had a cabin which might suit us. He piled into his pickup truck and we followed over a deeply rutted road to a water-logged shanty on the banks of a river. We all ducked inside and the owner pulled a string illuminating a single dim bulb hanging on a cord in the center of the kitchen.

"It's all I've got left, but she's good and snug," he said glancing about him expansively at the second-hand furniture and worn linoleum floor.

"The sign said 'Heated Cabin,'" I said dismally, shivering in the clammy chill.

Here's your heat," he said jovially, thumping a rusty sheet metal stove with the palm of his hand. "Plenty of firewood on the porch, it's a little damp, but I've got some dry kindling at the house. Warm you up in no time."

The day was already well spent, so we decided to take the cabin. I returned to the house with the proprietor to pay the rent and pick up the kindling while Fred unpacked the car.

THE OWNER was right about the stove. It was a regular little blast furnace once we got it going, using kindling and shredded newspaper which mice had left in one of the dresser drawers. A few sticks of damp stove wood from the porch added to the blaze and soon the little stove began to glow and you could see the flames licking up the flue through pin-point holes in the stovepipe.

We sat down to soak up the warmth, but shortly found ourselves edging away from the stove.

"I think we need a window open in here," Fred said by and by. "It's getting a little warm."

"Might as well open the door too," I said. "The oil cloth on the table has started to blister."

Apparently the damper on this particular stove had melted in an earlier conflagration, because I couldn't find one. We just had to let the fire burn itself out, as the temperature kept rising. I checked once with a little wall thermometer and found it registered 120 degrees. When I stepped outside in the rain to cool off I saw the whole cabin was steaming like a sauna bath.

In 20 minutes the fire died out and by 3 o'clock in the morning the temperature inside the cabin sank to 40 degrees. A family of field mice left of its own accord (we could hear them sneezing) and Fred and I followed very shortly.

OLD HOTELS which cater to the traveling public sometimes are quite interesting. Once in Ann Arbor I stepped into one of the restrooms of an ancient hotel and sank through the floor up to my knees. I examined the floor later and discovered it was made of Sun-Kist orange crates.

There's another hotel in Canada that always gives me the willies. The first thing that catches your eye when you enter one of the upstairs rooms is a huge coil of rope wrapped like a serpent around one of the bedposts. In the event of fire you throw one end of the rope out the window and scramble down to safety.

THE MANAGEMENT also has a quaint ritual they go through as soon as you get in bed. Downstairs someone fills an old chest of drawers with water. Then several of them take turns pushing it across the lobby, slamming into one wall after another and bouncing off the potted palms. All night long you can hear the rusty casters creaking and groaning and the water sloshing back and forth in the drawers.

Each morning I've checked the lobby without success for some sign of their nightly revels. They must keep the dresser hidden in a closet somewhere and get the whole gang out early with mops to clean up the mess. It's possible they're drowning field mice, but that seems like an awful lot of trouble to me.

Subdivisions Need Controls

Plans by the Charlevoix Land Co., an affiliate of the American Central Corp., to develop big tracts at Bay Shore and Susan Lake as resort areas took most Charlevoix County residents by surprise. A meeting last Monday night attended by Joe Bohnet, one of the owners, helped somewhat to allay the fears of Hayes Township owners as to just what was happening.

THE MEN WHO run Charlevoix Land Co. have several things going for them. First, the area definitely needs new land development, not only for resorts but for year-round dwellings. Somchow, in the next year, homes must be found for from 60 to 75 new families moving permanently to Charlevoix to run the new Medusa plant.

Needless to say, the impact of an influx of this size will mean a great deal to Charlevoix. A good share of their shopping dollars are expected to be spent locally.

Secondly, the area could well serve more summer visitors without putting a strain on our shopping facilities.

Thirdly, such developments will acquaint more and more people with the beauties of Charlevoix County, not only those who buy land at Bay Shore and Susan Lake, but also the hordes of visitors who are sure to descend upon them. Such projects could provide a real shot-in-the-arm for Charlevoix's tourist industry.

EXAMINATION of American Central's development at Lake Arrowhead near Gaylord offers evidence that these particular developers are interested in maintaining much of the natural beauty of the landscape. If Lake Arrowhead is a good example of what they do, then the two proposed projects may definitely be entered in the plus column of Charlevoix's resort ledger.

Our only reservation about the proposed project is whether or not the size lots contemplated will successfully accommodate both a septic tank field and a well for drinking water.

County Health Officer John Reynolds says one small plot of ground may handle each quite successfully, while in another location a lot several times larger may be required. It has to do with soil composition. Gravelly soil is fine for a septic tank field; clay is not. The reverse is true for wells.

Fortunately, both plots will be studied by Reynolds before Hayes Township will give its final stamp of approval, protecting both buyers and those presently living in the area.

IN THE ABSENCE of a building code, the Company is making certain requirements of buyers. For example, buildings must be enclosed within six months of starting, only new materials may be used, and each dwelling must cover at least 450 square feet (not large, admittedly, but as large as many cottagers want to take care of.)

The arrival of Charlevoix Land Co. in the area has pointed up the need for both housing and zoning codes in Hayes Township. Any reputable company would certainly welcome local guidelines and controls to prevent their developments from what are being called "cottage slums" in other parts of the state.

We expect action in both areas to be on the Township supervisors' agenda in the near future.

Suburbs Are Keeping in Step

Some "suburban" business people wonder how come they were left out of the long list of downtown Charlevoix business places which the returning tourist will find changed this summer.

In an attempt to keep the list from getting over-long, we limited our observations only to the obvious improvements in the valley and at those hillside establishments within easy walking distance.

BUT OUR "suburbanites" have a legitimate complaint. Much of Charlevoix has changed in the past 12 months, not just downtown.

For example, starting at the south end of town, visitors will be surprised to find that the old airport is gone. In its place is a new building designed by Begrow and Brown that combines chalet lines with a modern, aerodynamic design. The old airport has been moved to the Girl Scout Camp on Marion Center Road.

At Capri Motel, a new four-room addition is nearing completion. Owner Bob Nowakowski hopes to have it ready for the July 4 Weekend.

CLARK Gasoline has opened a new 24-hour station at the junction of U.S. 31 and State Street.

The Dairy Queen has added new equipment, enabling the Dodges to offer two flavors.

Jesse Penn has moved his Great Lakes Fabrication Co. from Lincoln to greatly expanded quarters on W. Carpenter.

Paragon Construction Co. has moved into the former Dyksterhouse plant on Bridge Street.

Freedman Aircraft Engineering has started construction of a new wing on the main plant.

Jim Gallagher, who retired from the Coast Guard this winter, has opened a new Leonard station on U.S. 31 south.

And around the corner on Belvedere, Phil Lawrence and Skip Patrie have put in new jetties at their Fairport Marina.

Out Marion Center Road, Alden Ulrich has opened his Charlevoix Import Co. and on South Point Medusa Portland Cement Co. is changing the landscape with its new automated cement plant, featuring the second-largest cement kiln in the country.

ALSO WEST of town, the old Coast Guard station on the Channel has been torn down.

Going north, the Weathervane Terrace opened last July, offering modern, well-appointed tourist accommodations.

The Cities Service gas station has become Citgo, and Fochman's Chevrolet used car lot has expanded up the hill.

Visitors will never recognize the old Moonlight Gardens. Dick Wood has completely refurbished it, inside and out, and meals as well as drinks are offered.

THE OLD dwelling alongside Mrs. John A. Uhrick's tourist court has been torn down, and the Walmar resort has expanded its offices.

Oscar Stroud also has done considerable redecorating at the Wayside Inn.

The Will-Flow Corp. putting on an addition.

Further out, the trailer park has been enlarged and an attractive manufacturing plant has been added to the Charlevoix landscape by Bob Dyksterhouse.

Add to these the downtown improvements and the thousands of dollars in individual homeowners have spent to improve their property in the past year and you practically have a new Charlevoix.

Our "suburbanites" are right. They're marching right along with the valley.

THAT SO-CALLED summer weather that we've waited for so long...like 1964...has arrived. On the first 24 hours of summer, which began at 3:33 p.m. Tuesday, the temperature remained in the 70's or higher and the barometer was up. If this is any criterion of the days ahead, we're all set. So pick up a swim suit, get out the grill and the lawn furniture, stock up on briquettes (or whatever you burn in a grill), don't forget the lemonade and you'll be all set.

Of course, before the summer's over you may have consumed more than your fair share of charcoal, scorched hamburgers or steak and had an entire and costly set up housekeeping in your yard. But think of it this way...you'll be a better outdoor cook and you'll learn that this kind of living, as they say in Porgy and Bess, is easy.

AND THE KIDS? They're a joy to behold. They're fast shedding that lily white look and becoming as brown as little berries. I've never been able to find out what kind of berries are brown. But that's beside the point. They're busy absorbing old vitamin D to help them ward off colds next winter. OK...so you can't store up vitamin D...but it sure makes for better health.

A CLIPPING from a recent issue of the Charlevoix Courier...the picture of Sheriff Novak, Chief of Police Charles Jeffries and Deputy Charles Howard from (L.C.) Carey down Riviera Beach, Fla., with the identification of the trio. Mr. Novak was on the right and Mr. Howard on the left. As no doubt others have observed, (Ed's note: In making up both negatives on the page were reversed.)

LAST WEEK I mentioned the cat that wouldn't come home because he was having such a blast chasing the moths and bugs under the street light. After reading that the bossman, Bob Clock, was reminded of a cat his family once had. It had a yen for June bugs. You know, those big brown bugs with the hard shells that come crashing against your windows this time of year. In fact, the cat ate so many it went into a coma. He recovered from this but ever after the poor thing couldn't meow.

AND THEN there was the guy, reading of my remarks about bats and the difficulties people were having with them, wanted to know why the Batman wasn't called in to take care of the situation. It took me a minute but I said he couldn't be reached because he had an unlisted number.

AS YOU KNOW, the Waterfront Fair is coming up fast. August 11 to be exact. Every year hundreds of the Fair's attractive posters, carrying an artist's concept of the Fair done by Kat Linderman of Germany are sent out. The original is owned by Mrs. Julius Gilbert who permits its use on posters, stationery, etc., associated with the Fair. So, imagine the surprise of the committee when it receives a letter regarding the "East Grand Rapids Clothesline Art Show." And there, as big as life, our picture, on their stationery. You can believe that officials of the EGR Fair were soon made aware of the situation. Which brought an apology via the next mail and the promise that the picture would be removed from the letterhead. After getting over the initial shock, the local committee feels that imitation is the greatest kind of flattery. And are counting their blessing that they have something so fine some one wants to copy it. PS After seeing a recent picture of the EGR show, I can understand why they were so excited about our letterhead. It might have been painted at their Fair along Reeds Lake.

THERE'S BEEN a little discussion going on recently...about the postman's carts that some of the fellows have been trying out. Some like 'em, others say they're for the golfers. Me? I think I'd rather push one of them around than carry a heavy leather pouch weighed down with pounds and pounds of mail. What are your sentiments about them...or do you have one since you don't tote the big mail bag?

ISN'T IT GOOD to see all the "pretties" around town again. Our hanging flower baskets, the attractive window boxes and redwood planters...and all the other things that make the town so attractive.

AND A BIG welcome to all our summer visitors. They're coming in from all points around this country of ours...and it's good to see them and pass the time of day. Whether they realize it or not, they're missed.

From the Pulpit:

Surprises and Christianity Go Together, Pastor Says

Down through the ages, Christianity has become a surprise after another. Dr. Harold E. Kohn of Charlevoix told a near-capacity audience at the Bay View College of Liberal Arts Sunday at services opening the school's 91st season.

Dr. Kohn, who was forced to resign as pastor of the Charlevoix Congregational Church 18 months ago because of poor health, entitled his sermon "The Great Surprise." It marked the first time he has spoken publicly since leaving the pulpit.

THE PASTOR told the congregation about the Dutch immigrant who moved to America, worked hard for a living and eventually bought a farm in Iowa. A man of humble beginnings, he never ceased to be amazed at the wonderful good fortune that came to him in America.

He expressed his astonishment in a neat sign in Dutch which hung over his front gate. "Who would have thought it?" It read in translation. "The same thing might be said about the nation of Israel, the early Church and the Bible," Dr. Kohn said. "The whole history of religion has been a collection of holy surprises."

HE CITED the sale of Joseph into bondage in Egypt by his brothers as example of the surprises one finds in Scripture. Joseph not only became a prime minister of Egypt but through his foresight saved the nation from famine.

"The brothers sold Joseph for bad motives, but God's motives were good," Dr. Kohn said.

He also pointed to Moses as an example of Biblical surprises. "What could be more surprising that a man with a serious speech impediment becoming a leader of his people?" he asked.

"OURS IS a surprising faith," Dr. Kohn asserted. "There is probably no public act more ugly than an execution, whether by firing squad, gas chamber or crucifixion. Yet according to the early Church, the crucifixion of Christ was the crowning event of history."

"Then Jesus arose, to the surprise of both his friends and his enemies. It seems that when man has done his worst, God does his best."

SEEKING a least common denominator for all the surprises in the Bible, Dr. Kohn said he believes the "greatest, grandest surprise of all" is the fact of God's love.

"We love because God first loved us," Dr. Kohn said. "We are only human, only right, only whole when we respond in a loving way," he added.

Man, he said, is part of God's great design. Sounds were on earth before ears, and sights before eyes. In the same manner, man is loved by God even before he begins his life on earth.

IN A SENSE, Dr. Kohn said, even a loud, argumentative atheist is a response to God. He said many people go through a period in life when they doubt their faith, but the very fact that an atheist may want to argue the God question means he is responding to "some hunger, some tug."

THE pastor called the Church is the "society of the surprised."

"Churches don't die of atheism," he said. "They die of boredom, of tedium, of lack of sensitivity, when they stop walking on tip-toe and start walking flat-footed."

As evidence that surprises in the Church are still possible, Dr. Kohn asked:

"Who would have thought 35 years ago that the Catholic Church would open its doors and let the fresh air of change blow through, or that a Roman Catholic Pope (John XXIII) would have hailed the Jews as brothers?"

Rezoning Delayed

 dere Club's hiring of James Luther and Lewis Gravelin as special police officers this summer.

--Approved a contract with the Michigan State Highway Department providing for upkeep of state roads within city limits.

--Told Superintendent Jim Taylor to rearrange buoys at Ferry Beach so that water skiers would be kept out of the swimming area.

--Agreed to meet July 26 with Everett Thompson of the planning firm Williams and Works and city members of the Planning Commission.

--Turned down changes in the collection of utility bills suggested by Deputy Clerk Ida Halse via City Attorney John Michael. The proposed changes would have held property owners liable for uncollected utility bills of their leases and have authorized the holding of utility deposits indefinitely.

Taylor said in his years as superintendent only a very small percentage of bills had not been collected. Mayor Fochtman said he thinks it is up to the city to collect payments from renters. "After all, we're the ones selling them the utilities," he said. "I wish I'd let Ida make the proposals herself," Michael said dismally.

ALOERMEN approved bills amounting to $20,550.03, including a bill for $94.75 for an abstract to the city property purchased by Freedman Aircraft Engineering Corp. The figure was considerably under an original estimate of $300.

Sells Storms

With One Ad

Sell storm doors in the summer?

Howard Griffin of 109 E. Lincoln found June's just as good a time as any. He sold his wooden storms with only one ad in the Courier.

If you have something to buy or sell, why not try a Courier people-reacher ad? You'll be pleased with the results.

Sets Opening

George LaBlance has announced that the Hitching Post restaurant on U. S. 31 north will open for the season Thursday, June 30.

Died a violent death,
 One of the most beautiful bays in the world.
 Its stately trees uprooted,
 Its shoreline gouged and converted by bull-dozer
 Into gravel pits and quarry roads.
 Its wild life destroyed,
 Its quiet beauty lost forever.
